5 JUVENILES ARRESTED IN 23 THEFTS; $2,500 LOOT

State police Wednesday evening reported arrest of five juveniles, four aged 17 and one 16, on 23 counts of burglary and larceny in the Abbotstown, New Oxford, Hanover, Littlestown and other areas of the county.

The officers said the youths took articles ranging from radios to gasoline, estimated to value $2,500, over a period of several months.

Their investigation, police said, disclosed two of the 17-year-olds, one residing in the New Oxford area and the other in the Hanover area, were the ringleaders involved in all of the thefts. The three others, all from the New Oxford area, were involved in a few of the larcenies.

MORE ARRESTS LIKELY

Police added that the investigation is continuing and they anticipate there may be additional arrests in the near future.

Many of the stolen articles were recovered by the officers during the course of their investigation.

State Policeman Charles Todd, in reporting the arrests, said all members of the local state police barracks took part in various phases of the investigation. Most of the articles were stolen from automobiles and trucks parked overnight.

LONG LIST OF LOOT

Among thefts occurring over the last two months attributed to the youths were a tachometer and three chrome air cleaners from Donald Paul Wileman, McKnightstown; a water pump from the car of Mrs. Martha Peters, 346 Lincolnway East, New Oxford; three tires, wheels, hub caps from cars of Shultz Chevrolet, Hanover; a box of electrical tools from the truck of John H. Allison, 114 Hanover St., New Oxford; spark plugs, flashlight, batteries, from an Aero Oil truck parked at the Aero Oil station in New Oxford.

Three tool boxes from a Sears Roebuck service truck parked on Moulton Rd.; a two-way radio worth $230, an emergency light and the ignition wires stolen August 20 from the car of Constable Laverne Allen Neff, Fleet St., Abbotstown; tool boxes and tools from an Aero Oil truck parked at the home of F. J. Lingg, New Oxford R. 1, on Aug. 11; three tool boxes valued at $150 from a Phillips 66 truck parked overnight on High St. in New Oxford near the home of its operator, Larry D. Fair, 336 W. High St., New Oxford; an arm rest from the car of Richard Miller, Abbotstown St., East Berlin, taken on Aug. 14; a case of motor oil and a case of STP from an Aero Oil truck parked near a home on the East Berlin-Hampden Rd. about 10 days ago; a radio out of an automobile parked on the Dillsburg-East Berlin Rd.

STOLE GASOLINE

The youths, according to police, took a generator, brakes, emergency pedals and other articles from cars on the Staub Chevrolet lot at New Oxford; took hubcaps from two cars in Hanover and took a radio, fishing pole, emergency light and other articles from cars in Littlestown.

Police said the group had also stolen gasoline at a number of places through the area. Most of the thefts were from pumps placed on business properties for use of trucks of the concerns.

YOUTH WILL APPEAR BEFORE JUVENILE COURT ON 23 CHARGES.

CHANGE IN SERVICES

A change has been announced in services for the Mt. Carmel EUB Church for Sunday by the pastor, the Rev. Alfred Gotwalt. The Sunday School session will be held at 10 o'clock with worship at 11 for this Sunday only. At Mt. Hope EUB Church, Ray Shindecker, Fairfield R. 1, will be in charge of the 11 a.m. service.

Dr. Hoechst, Adams Native, Dies At 77

Word has been received of the recent death in Pittsburgh of Dr. Coit Hoechst, 77, former president of two state-wide educational groups and a native of East Berlin.

Dr. Hoechst, who was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Hoechst, was born and reared in East Berlin. He was a brother of Dr. Harleigh Hoechst, who practiced medicine for a number of years in East Berlin and died in 1910.

Dr. Coit Hoechst was president of the Pennsylvania State Adult Education Association from 1941 to 1949 and was a former president of the Pennsylvania State Modern Language Association. He had served as supervisor of the foreign language department of the Pittsburgh public schools for many years.

107 AREA FIRMS HIRED 7,346 PERSONS IN '63

Industrial statistics released today by the Pennsylvania Department of Internal Affairs showed Adams County to have had 107 manufacturing establishments which employed an average of 7,346 persons in the calendar year 1963.

Secretary of Internal Affairs Genevieve Blatt said the report on Adams County was one of a series of county industry reports compiled by the department's Bureau of Statistics. These reports provide industrial statistics, by product classification, on number of establishments, number of employees, wages and salaries, capital expenditures, value of production and related activities, and value added by manufacture for each of Pennsylvania's 67 counties. In addition, data are reported for each political subdivision within the county, except that dollar data are not reported for fewer than three establishments to avoid disclosure of individual establishment financial data.

The complete statistical summary for Adams County follows: Major Industries: Based on employment, the leading industries in 1963 for Adams County were the following: Canned fruit, vegetables, preserves, jams and jellies, footwear, except house slippers and rubber footwear.

Number of Employees: The average number of employees in all manufacturing establishments in the county was 7,346 in 1963. Twenty-nine per cent of average employments was engaged in the footwear, except house slippers and rubber footwear industry. Another 17 per cent was employed in the canned fruits, vegetables, preserves, jams and jellies industry.

CONVICTION IN FINAL TRIAL

Daniel Z. Pennewill, Hanover, was found guilty by a jury Wednesday afternoon at 4:05 o'clock on a charge of failure to support a child. The jury had retired at 2:52 to consider its verdict.

June Plank, Idaville, was foreman of the jury, the last to serve in the current term of court. Other members of the jury were Christine Nowicki, Gettysburg; Martha Klinger, New Oxford R. 2; George Schaeffer, Littlestown; Paul Miller, York Springs; Nancy Sipe, New Oxford; Andrew J. Riley, Seven Stars; Henry F. Semke, York Springs R. 2; John N. Luckenbaugh, Biglerville R. 1; Richard G. E. Cline, Gettysburg; Harvey T. Walter, Gettysburg R. 3; and Joseph Hemler, Gettysburg.

With the completion of the case, County Treasurer Daniel J. Wolf was on hand to pay the jurors for their services. The trial was for their services.

One of the defendants scheduled for trial this week, Dale Miller, Gettysburg, charged with driving while under the influence of intoxicants and driving a motor vehicle during suspension, entered a plea of guilty shortly before his case was to be brought to trial.

DRIVER CONVICTED

Leonard W. Steager, York Springs R. 1, was convicted for a second offense of drunken driving Wednesday in York County court. Sentence was deferred until September 8.

SETTLEMENT APPROVED IN DAMAGE SUIT

The Adams County court this morning approved, following a hearing, settlement for $4,000 of an action in trespass brought by Dorsey A. Stevens and his son, Larry D. Stevens, of Gettysburg R. 6, against Ronald Gale Peters, Arlington, Va.

The suit arose following an auto accident December 14, 1963, near McClean, Va., in which Peters was the driver and Larry Stevens passenger in a car which ran into a tree. The settlement provides for payment of $1,339.95 doctors and hospital bills and $2,660.05 goes to Larry Stevens. The Stevens youth suffered a broken jaw and facial lacerations in the accident.

Bonds of Hanover borough in connection with the taking of rights of way over land of William H. and Grace A. Menges and Walter W. and Vergie K. Little, in Conewago Twp., were approved by the court. According to the petition, the borough of Hanover was acting for Hanover Municipal Water Works in exercising its right of eminent domain in taking rights of way for water purposes. Mr. and Mrs. Menges and Mr. and Mrs. Little would not agree with the borough on the amount of damages to be paid. The bonds permit the work to continue by covering any possible amount of damages.

CHARGE DISMISSED

A surety of the peace charge against Bernard C. Eckenrode, New Oxford R. 2, brought by his wife, Dorothy, was dismissed after Mrs. Eckenrode presented her testimony in a trial without a jury. She said the arrest was made after Mr. Eckenrode had been drinking, broke a plate and upset something.

Her description showed that while Eckenrode had made threats at various times while drinking that "someday I'll kill you," she was not in fear of her life, as required for surety of the peace. The court agreed with Mrs. Eckenrode that Mr. Eckenrode has a drink problem but said a surety of the peace charge was not the proper remedy.

The court suggested disorderly conduct charges if the incidents again occur and urged Eckenrode to join Alcoholics Anonymous.

ON LAST CASE

A third trial without a jury began this morning on the charges of resisting arrest and assault with intent to rape against Norman L. Stauffer, Hanover R. 4. The trial is the last for the current term of Adams County court.

CHORUS PLANS FAIR CONCERT

The Gettysburg Civic Chorus will present a special concert of secular and religious music Tuesday evening, Sept. 8, at the opening night of South Mountain Fair. The program will begin at 8 o'clock in the auditorium.

Under the direction of George P. Heffran, the selections have been especially prepared for the fair audience and will include a Barber Shop Quartet, a women's trio and a duet by Mrs. Connie Brown and Richard Thompson. Singing groups of the chorus will present special numbers.

Hildegard Hamme, Hanover dance instructor, will present a special dance program during intermission.

Choral numbers selected for the program will include "Shenandoah," "Melodic Caravan Medley," "Seventy-Six Trombones," "Dixie," "Psalm 150," "Steal Away," a spiritual, "Joshua Fit the Battle of Jericho," and "Come, Come Ye Saints."

BLOOD DONORS

FIREMEN CALLED

Gettysburg firemen were summoned this morning at 1 o'clock when a resident of the area detected the odor of smoke in the area of Tom George's shoe shop on Chambersburg St. Firemen were unable to locate any cause.

UF Meeting To Be Brief Tonight

United Fund Campaign Chairman Richard Guise promised today that this evening's meeting of UF captains and workers at 8 o'clock at the college dining hall on W. Lincoln Ave. "will not last long."

Instructions and supplies will be distributed and workers will have the opportunity to ask questions about the member organizations and about the campaign which opens next Monday when the special gifts division begins work.

There will be coffee and pasty served at this evening's meeting, donated by the A. L. Mathias Company, the college caterers.

HARRY LEAR FOUND GUILTY OF ASSAULT

Harry A. Lear, 213 Chambersburg St., was found guilty by the Adams County court this morning on a charge of assault and battery. The trial was held without a jury.

Lear, who served as his own attorney, gave no testimony. He told the court he had been drinking and thus remembered nothing of the incidents on July 11 which resulted in a relative, Joseph E. Helsey, bringing the assault and battery charge against him.

Helsey said he was on Chambersburg St. near Lear's home when suddenly Lear appeared and hit him in the eye. Helsey said that when he got up off the sidewalk Lear struck him again, again knocking him to the sidewalk.

OFFICER TESTIFIES

Mrs. Walter Riley, a resident of Chambersburg St., testified she heard "Harry's loud voice" and went to the front of her house. She testified to seeing Helsey being struck and falling. Lear asked Mrs. Riley: "Aren't there a lot of loud voices down there?" Mrs. Riley said: "You're the loudest."

Mrs. Marian Gastley, Gettysburg R. 6, who was visiting her sister, Mrs. Riley, at the time, gave similar testimony to hearing a loud voice and seeing "Joe go down twice and Harry's arms (Continued on Page 2)

Two Couples Seek Marriage Licenses

Two couples have applied for marriage license in the clerk of courts office. They are:

Jack Horace Palmer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Horace W. Palmer, York Springs R. 2, and Helen Margaret Biesecker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry L. Biesecker, New Oxford R. 2.

PLAN FAMILY PICNIC

The Ruritan Club of Hunters-town has announced a family picnic for Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock at Ruritan Park there. Each family is to bring a covered dish and its own place settings, according to notices issued by Secretary Melvin E. Tressler.

LOSES FOREARM IN ACCIDENT ON FARM

Samuel L. Brewer, 32, Gettysburg R. 2, suffered the loss of his left forearm Wednesday when it was caught in the pulley of a forage chopper.

Dr. Roy W. Gifford said Brewer was operating the chopper when the pulley belt began to slip. Brewer sought to push the pulley back with a stick, and the belt caught the stick, pulling Brewer's hand into the device. The hand was so nearly severed by the machine the amputation was completed when he was brought to the Warner Hospital here. Brewer's condition was reported as satisfactory.

Thunderous Acclamation At Atlantic City Sweeps Pair To Lead Ticket In Campaign

By JACK BELL
Associated Press Political Writer
ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — The team of Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas and Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota squared off today for the 1964 presidential battle with thundering Democratic convention acclaim behind them as the party nominees.

All that remains to kick off the hostilities with the Republican Goldwater-Miller ticket was President Johnson's formal acceptance tonight of the presidential nomination he won by acclamation Wednesday night. Humphrey also will formally accept the vice presidential nomination.

Johnson Is 56 Today; Doctors Say He Is "Fit"

By LEE GARRETT
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson, 56 years old today, has his party's overwhelming endorsement for another term in office and his doctors' assurance he is physically fit for "an active vigorous life."

For a birthday party, he was assured a rousing reception from the Democratic National Convention in Atlantic City, where he goes tonight to accept formally the full-term nomination handed him without contest Wednesday night.

The verdict of four doctors on his physical condition was disclosed by the President Wednesday as he led newsmen on a 4 1/2-mile hike, talking as he circled 15 laps around the back driveway of the White House.

AFTERNOON MARATHON
Loping easily along in the high-humidity heat Johnson convinced less-athletic newsmen of the doctors' finding that his "exercise tolerance continues to be superb" despite a serious heart attack in 1955.

He took a few more fast laps later with his choice for a running mate, Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, took time out for an informal birthday party at which his staff presented him with a desk; and capped an active day with a flight to the convention city which lasted into the early morning hours.

AFTERNOON MARATHON
In the course of the 90-minute afternoon marathon, Johnson: — Foresaw a Democratic victory in November, saying various polls show "we run, generally speaking, 60-70 per cent" compared with 25 to 30 per cent for Sen. Barry Goldwater, the Republican presidential nominee.

— Said he plans campaign trips for one, two or three days a week where possible but for the most part will "stay right here in this house and do my job."

— Announced he plans to send to Congress next January another budget below $100 billion, and said he issued orders that advance estimates be made on that basis.

HAD CHECKUP MONDAY

The physical examination which Johnson announced was the first he had reported since taking office last November. He underwent it on Monday, after a 9-lap tour of the White House driveway which had set his record up to that time.

Two of the participating doctors had treated Johnson after his 1955 heart attack. They are Dr. J. Willis Hurst of Atlanta, Ga., and Dr. J. C. Cain of the Mayo Clinic, Rochester, Minn.

The others are Dr. George G. Burkley, a Navy rear admiral who is official White House physician, and Dr. James M. Young, an Army doctor on the White House staff.

They said Johnson has "no symptoms," that his blood pressure is normal, and that all other aspects of the examination were normal.

BIRTH ANNOUNCEMENTS

Johnson Was Expected To Tell Delegates, Assembled For A Session At Which The Late President John F. Kennedy Was To Be Memorialized, That His Will Be A Campaign Aimed At Achieving Prosperity And Peace.

DRAMATIC TURN

He might also give the party faithful something to yell about by jibing at GOP presidential nominee Barry Goldwater and his running mate, Rep. William E. Miller.

In a dramatic turn to a convention that had followed form so closely it was on the dull side, Johnson broke a string of precedents.

SETS PRECEDENT
Taking the senator by the arm, Johnson walked over to newsmen standing behind a barrier and said: "Meet the next vice president."

The world thus learned of the selection, about three hours before many delegates to this convention knew that it had been made. No modern president had ever kept counsel about a running mate so long.

Johnson, Humphrey and Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., who also had been summoned to the white house from Atlantic City, then boarded a plane. Johnson watched on television while Gov. John F. Connally of Texas placed his name in nomination.

SPECULATE ON DODD

The reason for Dodd's quick trip remained a mystery. The Connecticut senator said he had told the president to "include me out" of consideration for the vice presidential nomination.

Speculation among high party officials was that the Connecticut senator had been offered appointment as Attorney General when Robert F. Kennedy steps out of that office to make the race for the Senate in New York. This might bring National Chairman John M. Bailey into the picture as a possible successor if Dodd accepted the Cabinet post.

Johnson hadn't been scheduled to visit the convention until today. But as soon as his nomination was acclaimed with a tumultuous, banner waving, flag-flying demonstration, he strode to the platform.

SEES GREAT VICTORY
Flanked by his wife and two daughters, he said he was happy about the honor done him. He said he would be back to tell the delegates, who bulged the hall to overflowing, about his plans for "an overwhelming victory for our party and our nation" in the November balloting.

To Honor 3 At Memorial

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — The Democratic party honors the memory tonight of three leaders who died since its last national convention: Sam Rayburn, Eleanor Roosevelt, and John F. Kennedy.

Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, brother of the late president, will introduce a film that depicts the achievements of Kennedy from his inaugural until his assassination last Nov. 22.

U.N. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson will pay tribute to Mrs. Roosevelt, the widow of President Franklin D. Roosevelt. She died on November 7, 1962.

James A. Farley, former postmaster general and political chieftain during the Roosevelt era, will lead the memorial to Rayburn, the House speaker who died on Nov. 16, 1961.

Mrs. Walter Riley, a resident of Chambersburg St., testified she heard "Harry's loud voice" and went to the front of her house. She testified to seeing Helsey being struck and falling. Lear asked Mrs. Riley: "Aren't there a lot of loud voices down there?" Mrs. Riley said: "You're the loudest." Mrs. Marian Gastley, Gettysburg R. 6, who was visiting her sister, Mrs. Riley, at the time, gave similar testimony to hearing a loud voice and seeing "Joe go down twice and Harry's arms (Continued on Page 2)

Loses Forearm In Accident On Farm

Samuel L. Brewer, 32, Gettysburg R. 2, suffered the loss of his left forearm Wednesday when it was caught in the pulley of a forage chopper.

Dr. Roy W. Gifford said Brewer was operating the chopper when the pulley belt began to slip. Brewer sought to push the pulley back with a stick, and the belt caught the stick, pulling Brewer's hand into the device. The hand was so nearly severed by the machine the amputation was completed when he was brought to the Warner Hospital here. Brewer's condition was reported as satisfactory.

Brewer, the father of five, is employed by Harry Scott.

Hospital Report

Admissions: Mrs. Joseph Kerak, R. 2; Mrs. Ruth Barbour, Aspers R. 1; Mrs. Maude Myers, 214 Chambersburg St.; Elizabeth Zinkand, Chambersburg; Samuel Brewer, R. 2; Roney Kump, 21 Breckenridge St.; Lewis Stoner Sr., Emmitsburg; Peggy Rose Wills, Fairfield R. 2; Mrs. Clay Tuckey, Biglerville R. 2; Mrs. Luther Singleton, Arendtsville. Cleo Smashes Miami With Sledgehammer Blows, Roars Northward Along Coast Today

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Hurricane Cleo smashed Miami with sledgehammer blows today, left the streets of the city looking like a battleground, then roared on northward up the heavily-populated southeast Florida coast.

Broadcasting towers toppled. Store windows exploded by hundreds, littering streets with merchandise and broken glass. Fallen trees blocked hundreds of streets.

No deaths were reported, but a looter shot by police was in critical condition in a hospital.

SERIOUS DAMAGE

County Manager Irving G. McNay said he would ask to have the city declared a disaster area. There was no estimate of damage to public buildings, but McNay called it "quite serious."

A veteran policeman who was in Miami when the 1926 hurricane broke the big Florida land boom, said the storm was the worst since then.

Thunderous Acclamation At Atlantic City Sweeps Pair To Lead Ticket In Campaign

By JACK BELL
Associated Press Political Writer

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — The team of Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas and Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota squared off today for the 1964 presidential battle with thundering Democratic convention acclaim behind them as the party nominees.

All that remains to kick off the hostilities with the Republican Goldwater-Miller ticket was President Johnson's formal acceptance tonight of the presidential nomination he won by acclamation Wednesday night. Humphrey also will formally accept the vice presidential nomination.

Johnson was expected to tell delegates, assembled for a session at which the late President John F. Kennedy was to be memorialized, that his will be a campaign aimed at achieving prosperity and peace.

DRAMATIC TURN

He might also give the party faithful something to yell about by jibing at GOP presidential nominee Barry Goldwater and his running mate, Rep. William E. Miller.

In a dramatic turn to a convention that had followed form so closely it was on the dull side, Johnson broke a string of precedents.

SETS PRECEDENT

Taking the senator by the arm, Johnson walked over to newsmen standing behind a barrier and said: "Meet the next vice president."

The world thus learned of the selection, about three hours before many delegates to this convention knew that it had been made. No modern president had ever kept counsel about a running mate so long.

Johnson, Humphrey and Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., who also had been summoned to the white house from Atlantic City, then boarded a plane. Johnson watched on television while Gov. John F. Connally of Texas placed his name in nomination.

SPECULATE ON DODD

The reason for Dodd's quick trip remained a mystery. The Connecticut senator said he had told the president to "include me out" of consideration for the vice presidential nomination.

Speculation among high party officials was that the Connecticut senator had been offered appointment as Attorney General when Robert F. Kennedy steps out of that office to make the race for the Senate in New York. This might bring National Chairman John M. Bailey into the picture as a possible successor if Dodd accepted the Cabinet post.

Johnson hadn't been scheduled to visit the convention until today. But as soon as his nomination was acclaimed with a tumultuous, banner waving, flag-flying demonstration, he strode to the platform.

SEES GREAT VICTORY

Flanked by his wife and two daughters, he said he was happy about the honor done him. He said he would be back to tell the delegates, who bulged the hall to overflowing, about his plans for "an overwhelming victory for our party and our nation" in the November balloting.

HAD CHECKUP MONDAY

The physical examination which Johnson announced was the first he had reported since taking office last November. He underwent it on Monday, after a 9-lap tour of the White House driveway which had set his record up to that time.

Two of the participating doctors had treated Johnson after his 195 heart attack. They are Dr. J. Willis Hurst of Atlanta, Ga., and Dr. J. C. Cain of the Mayo Clinic, Rochester, Minn.

The others are Dr. George G. Burkley, a Navy rear admiral who is official White House physician, and Dr. James M. Young, an Army doctor on the White House staff.

They said Johnson has "no symptoms," that his blood pressure is normal, and that all other aspects of the examination were normal.

BIRTH ANNOUNCEMENTS

At Warner Hospital
Mr. and Mrs. Clay Tuckey, Biglerville R. 2, son, Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Luther Singleton, Arendtsville, son, Wednesday.

At Hanover Hospital
Mr. and Mrs. Ralph T. Storm, McSherrystown, son, Tuesday.

LICENSED TO WED

Larry Wayne Pittinger and Shirley Ann Hahn, both of Emmitsburg, have secured a marriage license in Frederick.

To Honor 3 At Memorial

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (AP)—The Democratic party honors the memory tonight of three leaders who died since its last national convention: Sam Rayburn, Eleanor Roosevelt, and John F. Kennedy.

Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, brother of the late president, will introduce a film that depicts the achievements of Kennedy from his inaugural until his assassination last Nov. 22.

U.N. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson will pay tribute to Mrs. Roosevelt, the widow of President Franklin D. Roosevelt. She died on November 7, 1962.

James A. Farley, former postmaster general and political chieftain during the Roosevelt era, will lead the memorial to Rayburn, the House speaker who died on Nov. 16, 1961.

GITT ANIMALS QUALIFY FOR STATE SHOW

A number of animals from the herd of Robert Gitt, Littlestown, R. D., won their way into the Pennsylvania Black and White Show at the Southeastern Black and White Show held Wednesday at Hershey.

Competing against entries from throughout the southeastern part of the state Gitt's animals won blue or red ribbons to qualify for the state show to be held September 15 at the State Farm Show Building in Harrisburg in connection with the Pennsylvania All-American Show.

A four-year-old owned by Gitt took fourth place in the dry cow, three- or four-year-old class, winning a blue ribbon.

A senior heifer calf from the Gitt herd, owned by Michael Gitt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gitt, won fifth place and a blue ribbon in that class. Michael Gitt's calf will also appear in the district 4-H Calf Show to be held Friday at Hershey. There were 27 entries in the Senior Heifer Class.

A bull bred by Robert Gitt and now owned by Earl Moore, Greencastle, won first place in the senior bull class. Gitt's own entry in that class took sixth place and received a red ribbon.

Gitt had two animals among the 31 entered in the two-year-old heifer in milk class, winning an eighth place and a blue ribbon and a 13th place and red ribbon.

ANNIVERSARY FOR 2 MINERS

HAZLETON, Pa. (AP)—Henry Throne and Dave Fellin are celebrating tonight. It's the first anniversary of their rescue after spending two weeks entombed in a mine some 300 feet below the surface.

The big celebration is in a small cafe here owned by Throne's wife. Mrs. Throne says it will be open house.

Throne, 29, and Felli, 59, were rescued in a dramatic operation at the mine owned by Fellin at Shepton, nine miles south of here.

Says Throne: "And in case everybody can't get in tonight, we'll repeat the celebration Friday."

There won't be any celebrating, however, in nearby Pattersonville, home of Mrs. Louis Bova. Her husband, trapped, but separated from Throne and Fellin in the cave-in, died in the mine. His body never was recovered.

BARRY PUTS VIET NAM WAR IN CAMPAIGN

NEWPORT BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater sought privacy at sea today after thrusting the guerrilla war in South Viet Nam squarely into his campaign against President Johnson.

While the Democratic National Convention nominated Johnson and chose Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota to run with the President, the Republican nominee for the White House cruised the waters off Southern California.

Lolling against the stern rail of a borrowed 83-foot yacht Wednesday, Goldwater:

NEGOTIATE SETTLEMENT

—Declared he thinks the Johnson administration is trying to negotiate a settlement of the Southeast Asian fighting before Election Day; said that timing would be wrong and added he fears such an agreement would be a giveaway to the Communists.

—Said some form of negotiations with Red China "might be profitable" — when pro-Western forces can deal from a position of strength in Southeast Asia.

—Labeled the U.S.-backed war against Communists in South Viet Nam an issue of major concern to the voters in the presidential race.

TALKS TO REPORTERS

Goldwater, striking a theme he raised in Cleveland, Ohio, two days ago, said he expects to hear "most any day" of a negotiated settlement in Viet Nam.

The senator told reporters at the floating news conference in Catalina Island's Avalon harbor his "political bones" tell him word of negotiations can be expected before Election Day.

"I hope it's not a giveaway to the Communists," he said. "I suspect that's what it will be if we have one."

HARRY LEAR

Policeman Bernard V. Miller Sr. testified he was walking to Lear's home on Chambersburg St. to assist another officer in another matter involving Lear. Officer Miller, not knowing the first officer had left the scene shortly before, was walking on Chambersburg St. at the intersection of Washington and Chambersburg Sts. when he saw "some one fall or be knocked down," and a crowd gathering in the 200 block of the street.

Officer Miller said that as he ran toward the scene he saw the man on the sidewalk get up and saw Lear knock him down.

Miller said that Lear told him, "No - - is going to arrest me" and started into his house. Miller caught Lear on the steps and put handcuffs on him. By this time two other policemen came on the scene and Lear was taken to a justice of the peace.

The court, in finding Lear guilty, directed that he return Saturday morning for sentence.

Vance Criticizes Barry's Language

CLEVELAND (AP) — Deputy Secretary of Defense Cyrus R. Vance said today that to label tactical nuclear weapons as "conventional" — a description used by Sen. Barry Goldwater — is "dangerously misleading and totally inappropriate."

Vance asserted that typical battlefield nuclear weapons now have destructive power several times greater than the strategic bombs which wiped out two Japanese cities in World War II.

His address was prepared for the Veterans of Foreign Wars convention, at which the Republican presidential nominee spoke Tuesday.

The particular target was Goldwater's proposal that a way should be developed to provide the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) "with its own stock of small, tactical nuclear battlefield weapons."

Bold Banker Balks Bandit's Bidding

BOSTON (AP)—Teller Robert Mathias of the Suffolk-Franklin Bank in Park Square was handed a note Tuesday.

"You will act quite natural and follow the instructions explicitly. Your failure to do so or to give an alarm will force me to shoot you or anyone who interferes, regardless of my personal safety. Now quickly put all the bills in the envelope. If you are not still I will open fire on anyone."

Mathias dropped to the floor and shouted, "Robbery! Robbery!"

The bandit fled.

PLEASED WITH TEST SERIES

BEND, Ore. (AP) — Scientists moved to the last of their three make-believe moon fields today, pleased by the way astronaut Walter Cunningham and two engineers have performed this week.

"The results have been quite gratifying," test director Earl LaFavers said at a news conference Wednesday night. "There have been fewer problems than we expected."

The series of walking, climbing, equipment-testing and sample-gathering activities in central Oregon are designed to determine what man can be expected to do once he reaches the moon.

FLEE YACHT IN LIFEBOATS

OLBIA, Sardinia (AP)—Britain's Princess Margaret, her husband and the Aga Khan abandoned a yacht which hit a rock in heavy seas off Sardinia, and reached shore safely in rubber lifeboats, Italian authorities said today.

Mario Castellucci, chief administrative officer for this vacation area, said the accident happened Wednesday while the three, and the Aga Khan's French lawyer, Andre Ardue, of Paris, were on an outing aboard the Aga Khan's pleasure boat, the Amaloun.

Castellucci said the small yacht, which has a five-man crew, hit a rock about 75 yards off shore from Capriccioli, a northern Sardinian beach area under development by the Aga Khan.

"Because the boat began taking water and listing, those aboard decided to go ashore in rubber lifeboats. No one jumped or fell in the water, and there was no excitement," Castellucci said.

HAMILTON, Ont. (AP) — The robber introduced himself by handing the woman bank teller a check signed Jesse James.

When the teller looked up, she found herself staring at a pistol. The robber demanded all of her $5 and $50 bills.

She gave him about $5,000 and he made his getaway.

The check was made out for only $2,000.

Chrysler Drops But Other Issues Rise

NEW YORK (AP)—Chrysler, picked by the auto union as the No. 1 strike target if bargaining fails, sank sharply today, but the stock market as a whole recovered irregularly.

Delaying the possible auto walkout from Aug. 31 to Sept. 9, however, bolstered other stocks and the list in general, giving Wall Street a reprieve from its biggest worry.

Chrysler sank 3/4 to 55 1/2 on an opening block of 20,000 shares and at one time widened its loss past a point.

SAYS ENGLISH MASS IS NOT DISTURBING

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — Will the Roman Catholic still feel at home at a Mass substantially different from any he has known?

And the priest, who all his adult life has intoned the ancient Latin rites of the Church — will he feel comfortable saying most of them in English?

"It may be a little complicated getting used to something new," says the Rev. Frederick R. McManus of Washington, D.C., who was the first to celebrate the English Mass that will come to all U.S. Roman Catholics Nov. 29.

"Each time there is something different, there are those who say 'it will disturb many people,' but it doesn't," he said.

CELEBRATED MASS
Father McManus, associate professor in the School of Canon Law at the Catholic University of America, celebrated the Mass Monday as the 25th annual liturgical conference opened.

More than half the Mass was in English, a change brought by permission of the Second Vatican Council concluded last December in Rome. The purpose of this, and future changes, is to give the churchgoer a better understanding of the service and a greater sense of participation.

The 10,000 or more priests and nuns attending the liturgical meeting were introduced to another innovation, the use of many more hymns than the Catholic has been used to.

People In The News

WASHINGTON (AP) — Supreme Court Justice Arthur J. Goldberg lunched with President Johnson on Wednesday on the eve of a lecture tour of India and Malaysia where he will discuss liberty and equality under the U.S. Constitution.

KUCHING, Malaysia (AP) — The Duke of Devonshire, Britain's minister for Commonwealth relations, arrived Wednesday in the Malaysian state of Sarawak for a look at the security threat posed by Indonesian guerrilla raids.

NEW YORK (AP) — Actress Maureen O'Sullivan will leave the early morning "Today" network television show in mid-September, a National Broadcasting Co. spokesman said Wednesday.

The spokesman said she "has been reading scripts and said she wanted to return to the stage."

Miss O'Sullivan has been a hostess on the two-hour news and feature show for more than six months.

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — Boxing is close to elimination as a major sports activity, Commissioner Abe J. Greene told the World Boxing Association convention today and urged that "we put it back on the sports pages in decency and take it out of the front page headlines of despair."

Greene said boxing had been a major factor in the development of television but now the last nationally shown boxing series is about to suspend while television time for other sports is on the increase.

BARRY PUTS VIET NAM WAR IN CAMPAIGN

NEWPORT BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater sought privacy at sea today after thrusting the guerrilla war in South Viet Nam squarely into his campaign against President Johnson.

While the Democratic National Convention nominated Johnson and chose Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota to run with the President, the Republican nominee for the White House cruised the waters off Southern California.

Lolling against the stern rail of a borrowed 83-foot yacht Wednesday, Goldwater:

NEGOTIATE SETTLEMENT

—Declared he thinks the Johnson administration is trying to negotiate a settlement of the Southeast Asian fighting before Election Day; said that timing would be wrong and added he fears such an agreement would be a giveaway to the Communists.

—Said some form of negotiations with Red China "might be profitable" — when pro-Western forces can deal from a position of strength in Southeast Asia.

—Labeled the U.S.-backed war against Communists in South Viet Nam an issue of major concern to the voters in the presidential race.

TALKS TO REPORTERS

Goldwater, striking a theme he raised in Cleveland, Ohio, two days ago, said he expects to hear "most any day" of a negotiated settlement in Viet Nam.

The senator told reporters at the floating news conference in Catalina Island's Avalon harbor his "political bones" tell him word of negotiations can be expected before Election Day.

"I hope it's not a giveaway to the Communists," he said. "I suspect that's what it will be if we have one."

flying around."

Policeman Bernard V. Miller Sr. testified he was walking to Lear's home on Chambersburg St. to assist another officer in another matter involving Lear.

Officer Miller, not knowing the first officer had left the scene shortly before, was walking on Chambersburg St. at the intersection of Washington and Chambersburg Sts. when he saw "some one fall or be knocked down," and a crowd gathering in the 200 block of the street.

Officer Miller said that as he ran toward the scene he saw the man on the sidewalk get up and saw Lear knock him down.

Miller said that Lear told him, "No - - is going to arrest me," and started into his house. Miller caught Lear on the steps and put handcuffs on him. By this time two other policemen came on the scene and Lear was taken to a justice of the peace.

The court, in finding Lear guilty, directed that he return Saturday morning for sentence.

Vance Criticizes Barry's Language

CLEVELAND (AP) — Deputy Secretary of Defense Cyrus R. Vance said today that to label tactical nuclear weapons as "conventional" — a description used by Sen. Barry Goldwater — is "dangerously misleading and totally inappropriate."

Vance asserted that typical battlefield nuclear weapons now have destructive power several times greater than the strategic bombs which wiped out two Japanese cities in World War II.

His address was prepared for the Veterans of Foreign Wars convention, at which the Republican presidential nominee spoke Tuesday.

The particular target was Goldwater's proposal that a way should be developed to provide the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) "with its own stock of small, tactical nuclear battlefield weapons."

Bold Banker Balks Bandit's Bidding

BOSTON (AP)—Teller Robert Mathias of the Suffolk-Franklin Bank in Park Square was handed a note Tuesday.

"You will act quite natural and follow the instructions explicitly. Your failure to do so or to give an alarm will force me to shoot you or anyone who interferes regardless of my personal safety. Now quickly put all the bills in the envelope. If you are not still I will open fire on anyone."

Mathias dropped to the floor and shouted, "Robbery! Robbery!"

The bandit fled.

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Capt. James J. Stilwell of Cleveland is the new commander of the Philadelphia Naval Shipyard.

He took command Wednesday from Rear Adm. J. E. Rice and became the 10th commander of the shipyard since it converted from a Navy base.

PLEASED WITH TEST SERIES

BEND, Ore. (AP) — Scientists moved to the last of their three make-believe moon fields today, pleased by the way astronaut Walter Cunningham and two engineers have performed this week.

"The results have been quite gratifying," test director Earl LaFavers said at a news conference Wednesday night. "There have been fewer problems than we expected."

The series of walking, climbing, equipment-testing and sample-gathering activities in central Oregon are designed to determine what man can be expected to do once he reaches the moon.

The crew from the Manned Spacecraft Center, Houston, Tex., has conducted its so-called time and motion tests since Monday on a rocky lava bed and sand-like pumice field. Today's work was on a volcanic glass surface.

FLEE YACHT IN LIFEBOATS

OLBIA, Sardinia (AP)—Britain's Princess Margaret, her husband and the Aga Khan abandoned a yacht which hit a rock in heavy seas off Sardinia, and reached shore safely in rubber lifeboats, Italian authorities said today.

Mario Castellucci, chief administrative officer for this vacation area, said the accident happened Wednesday while the three, and the Aga Khan's French lawyer, Andre Ardue, of Paris, were on an outing aboard the Aga Khan's pleasure boat, the Amaloun.

Castellucci said the small yacht, which has a five-man crew, hit a rock about 75 yards off shore from Capriccioli, a northern Sardinian beach area under development by the Aga Khan.

"Because the boat began taking water and listing, those aboard decided to go ashore in rubber lifeboats. No one jumped or fell in the water, and there was no excitement," Castellucci said.

HAMILTON, Ont. (AP) — The robber introduced himself by handing the woman bank teller a check signed Jesse James.

When the teller looked up, she found herself staring at a pistol. The robber demanded all of her $5 and $50 bills.

She gave him about $5,000 and he made his getaway.

The check was made out for only $2,000.

MASS OF WRECKAGE
Key Biscayne, an island with a large residential colony across Biscayne Bay from Miami, was largely evacuated before the storm struck and high tides blocked the causeway to the mainland.

But the fate of the island remained uncertain as boiling tides continued to lash the beaches.

Collins Avenue, site of Miami Beach's famous "hotel row," was a mass of fallen neon signs, trees and window glass.

THOUSANDS IN SHELTER
Fifty windows were smashed at the Fontainebleau Hotel and 700 guests fled their rooms into the lobby. Two guests, two porters and a hotel engineer were hospitalized for treatment of cuts.

The 85-foot yacht Electromatic broke loose from its mooring and crashed into television's game d houseboat, "Surfside Six," in Indian Creek in front of the Fontainebleau.

MANY IN SHELTERS
Thousands spent the night in shelters. Fifty - five pregnant women were admitted to Mt. Sinai Hospital before the hurricane struck.

In the first gales ahead of the hurricane, two trustees working on the roof of the county jail took advantage of the confusion and fled barefooted into the storm.

Hospitals held staffs overtime to treat the injured. Many were reported injured by flying glass and other objects.

President Flies To Byrd Funeral

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson left by helicopter today for Winchester, Va., to attend funeral services for Mrs. Anne Douglas Beverley Byrd, wife of Sen. Harry F. Byrd, D-Va.

The President's helicopter left the White House grounds at 10:10 a.m. EDT.

Johnson will return to Washington immediately after the services. He will fly to Atlantic City later today to deliver a speech at the Democratic National Convention accepting his nomination.

"THE MOOD I'M IN"

Mellow is the mood I'm in . . . life is but a dream . . . and my heart is sailing on . . . an enchanted stream . . . everything is going right . . . all things seem worthwhile . . . and each one I chance to meet . . . wears a pleasant smile . . . I find myself whistling . . . as I go along . . . and from time to time I sing . . . a familiar song . . . would that I could stay this way . . . impervious to fear . . . life would be a wonderland . . . all aglow with cheer . . . but I'm sure this cannot be . . . for too soon I know . . . gone will be the mood I'm in . . . faded my rainbow.

LBJ PUT LIFE IN CONVENTION BY PHONE CALL

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Hours before the Democrats gathered to hear the nominating speeches for Lyndon Baines Johnson Wednesday, it seemed to those of us watching on television that somebody had pulled the huge cork that was bottling up the convention.

After two dreary, worried days dampened by the civil rights problems of two states, it suddenly seemed that everybody was, finally, going to be allowed some fun.

The cork-puller was the President of the United States himself who by a midafternoon telephone call to Hubert H. Humphrey, perhaps deliberately changed the entire focus of the television networks' concentration on the convention.

FAST COVERAGE

Prepared as we were for President Johnson's selection of the Minnesota senator as his running mate, convention-watching suddenly became a lively experience as the networks switched furiously back and forth between Atlantic City and Washington. And sometimes — as when the President at the Atlantic City airport praised Humphrey's qualifications — the living room audience had the official word before the delegates in the auditorium.

The coverage, by all three networks, of the fast-breaking news events of the day was superb. It started shortly after 3 p.m. outside the Humphrey hotel suite immediately after President Johnson had invited him to come to Washington.

HUMPHREY COMMENT

ABC, it seemed, was a minute or so ahead on the break, but the NBC camera caught Humphrey in telling close-up as he said, in a voice tense with excitement: "I don't know — I've just been asked to come — I'm coming — let's cut out of here!" It was some time later that the President admitted he had made his choice, but we viewers figured the senator was a shoo-in when all the network anchor teams suddenly started calling him "Hubert Horatio Humphrey."

There was infinitely more to watch, including the reception of the first lady and her attractive daughters between rain showers. Choice of the best coverage team among the three networks is rather like choosing among mayonnaise, French or thousand island dressing for a salad: it is simply a matter of personal taste. They all strove mightily and all did very well in the complicated business of covering all bases.

Thunderous

gates on a platform "on which I am proud to stand" and on their settlement of delegate seating squabbles in the Mississippi and Alabama delegations. Then the President laid low another precedent by launching into a stem-winding nominating speech for Humphrey. He said he had spent "long and prayerful hours" and had consulted with party leaders from every section of the country before deciding on "the man best qualified to assume the office of the President of the United States should that day come."

PANDEMONIUM REIGNS

Then, after holding back the name for tantalizing seconds, he came out with the name: "Senator Hubert Humphrey."

Something akin to genuine pandemonium broke out as the convention learned officially for the first time the answer to the big question which had been in every delegate's mind for days. Humphrey, accompanied by his family, marched up to the podium and Johnson, stepping aside, let his running mate have his time in the spotlights.

After the convention had adjourned for the night Johnson flew back to Washington, obviously cherishing the belief that he had the strongest possible ticket and an nearly unified party behind him.

Politically the choice of Humphrey offered the party liberals a glittering prize to offset all of the efforts the President had made to keep Southern conservatives in camp and to prevent a walkout by Southern dissidents.

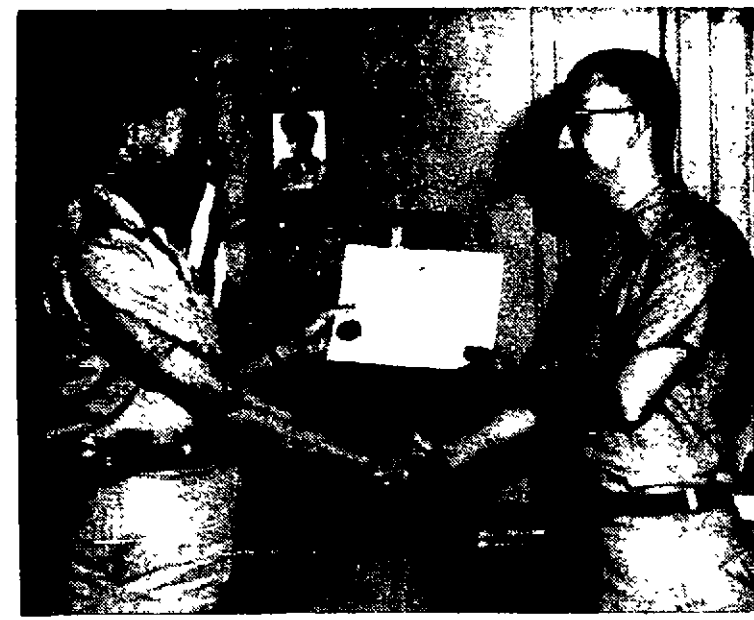

Johnson's name was formally placed in nomination by Govs. Connally and Edmund G. Brown of California.

CAR RECOVERED

State police reported today that a 1953 car owned by Leo McDermitt, Gettysburg R. 5, stolen during the early hours of Wednesday morning, was found abandoned at 6:30 Wednesday evening in Hanover. The car had not been damaged, police said.

GRASS FIRE

Biglerville firemen were summoned Wednesday afternoon to a grass fire at the Zeigler Brothers farm.

Lt. Joel M. Reaser, assigned to the U.S.A. Air Defense Center, Ft. Bliss, Tex., was promoted to 1st lieutenant on Sunday. Lt. Reaser, son of Rev. Dr. and Mrs. Paul L. SEATING FIGHT IS HIGHLIGHT OF COVERAGE

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — After two days of watching television coverage of the Democratic National Convention, one might fairly conclude that all the reporters converged on Atlantic City primarily to cover the excitement about seating the Mississippi delegations.

But that was where the action was. Again Tuesday night, speakers on the platform got short shrift from all three networks, whose attention focused constantly on the turbulent sit-in by members of the Freedom Democratic Party in the Mississippi section.

At one point the press of reporters and interested delegates in the section became so fierce that CBS floor reporter Mike Wallace looked desperately toward the cameras, crying "This is simply chaos — help!"

HORDE OF JOURNALISTS

The horde of electronic journalists kept out of each other's way — and their faces out of each other's cameras — with remarkable agility.

The long, long reading of the party platform, which practically emptied Convention Hall, put something of a strain on the three network teams in their goldfish bowls above the hall. ABC and CBS handled it with analyses of events and interviews on the floor. NBC's Chet Huntley and David Brinkley had a humorous conversation about convention literature. They put on a taped interview by Nancy Dickerson with the staff members of President Johnson's family, made days ago in Washington. Huntley did a philosophical, tongue-in-cheek monologue about the difference between Republican and Democratic women, concluding that the former were more likely to wear hats than the latter.

George Gobel, who was scheduled to do "humorous commentaries" for ABC, turned up only in the commercials. Maybe he didn't think anything was funny.

LBJ PUT LIFE IN CONVENTION BY PHONE CALL

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Hours before the Democrats gathered to hear the nominating speeches for Lyndon Baines Johnson Wednesday, it seemed to those of us watching on television that somebody had pulled the huge cork that was bottling up the convention.

After two dreary, worried days dampened by the civil rights problems of two states, it suddenly seemed that everybody was, finally, going to be allowed some fun.

The cork-puller was the President of the United States himself who by a mid-afternoon telephone call to Hubert H. Humphrey, perhaps deliberately changed the entire focus of the television networks' concentration on the convention.

FAST COVERAGE

Prepared as we were for President Johnson's selection of the Minnesota senator as his running mate, convention-watching suddenly became a lively experience as the networks switched furiously back and forth between Atlantic City and Washington. And sometimes — as when the President at the Atlantic City airport praised Humphrey's qualifications — the living room audience had the official word before the delegates in the auditorium.

The coverage, by all three networks, of the fast-breaking news events of the day was superb. It started shortly after 3 p.m. outside the Humphrey hotel suite immediately after President Johnson had invited him to come to Washington.

HUMPHREY COMMENT

ABC, it seemed, was a minute or so ahead on the break, but the NBC camera caught Humphrey in telling close-up as he said, in a voice tense with excitement: "I don't know — I've just been asked to come and I'm coming — let's cut out of here!"

It was some time later that the President admitted he had made his choice, but we viewers figured the senator was a shoo-in when all the network anchor teams suddenly started calling him "Hubert Horatio Humphrey."

There was infinitely more to watch, including the reception of the first lady and her attractive daughters between rain showers.

Choice of the best coverage team among the three networks is rather like choosing among mayonnaise, French or thousand island dressing for a salad: it is simply a matter of personal taste. They all strove mightily and all did very well in the complicated business of covering all bases.

gates on a platform "on which I am proud to stand" and on their settlement of delegate seating squabbles in the Mississippi and Alabama delegations.

Then the President laid low another precedent by launching into a stem-winding nominating speech for Humphrey. He said he had spent "long and prayerful hours" and had consulted with party leaders from every section of the country before deciding on "the man best qualified to assume the office of the President of the United States should that day come."

PANDEMONIUM REIGNS

Then, after holding back the name for tantalizing seconds, he came out with the name: "Senator Hubert Humphrey."

Something akin to genuine pandemonium broke out as the convention learned officially for the first time the answer to the big question which had been in every delegate's mind for days. Humphrey, accompanied by his family, marched up to the podium and Johnson, stepping aside, let his running mate have his time in the spotlights.

After the convention had adjourned for the night Johnson flew back to Washington, obviously cherishing the belief that he had the strongest possible ticket and an nearly unified party behind him.

Politically the choice of Humphrey offered the party liberals a glittering prize to offset all of the efforts the President had made to keep Southern conservatives in camp and to prevent a walkout by Southern dissidents.

Johnson's name was formally placed in nomination by Govs. Connally and Edmund G. Brown of California.

CAR RECOVERED

State police reported today that a 1953 car owned by Leo McDermitt, Gettysburg R. 5, stolen during the early hours of Wednesday morning, was found abandoned at 6:30 Wednesday evening in Hanover. The car had not been damaged, police said.

GRASS FIRE

Lt. Joel M. Reaser, assigned to the U.S. Air Defense Center, Ft. Bliss, Tex., was promoted to 1st lieutenant on Sunday. Lt. Reaser, son of Rev. Dr. and Mrs. Paul L. Reaser, 650 Sunset Ave., went to Ft. Bliss last August after completion of courses in Adjutant General Corps orientation and data processing systems. The picture above was taken on August 6 when Reaser was presented a Department of the Army certificate of achievement for reorganization of the AG morning report unit of which he is chief. Lt. Reaser is a 1958 graduate of Gettysburg High School and 1962 graduate of Gettysburg College.

Mr. and Mrs. Preston B. Zerbe, York Springs, were guests of honor Sunday at a dinner at the Lamp Post Tea Room, Gettysburg, in observance of their 35th wedding anniversary. Hosts were their brothers and sisters, Rev. and Mrs. R. M. Meckley, Harrisburg; Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Henkels and son, Gerald Jr., Johnstown; and Mrs. Fern Zerbe, Altoona. Mr. and Mrs. Zerbe were married August 24, 1929, in Cumberland, Md., by the Rev. Wade Johnson. Mrs. Zerbe was the former Marie Yingling, Cherry Tree, Pa. Mr. Zerbe is cafeteria manager for Pet Milk Co., Biglerville, and formerly owned and operated the cut-rate drugstore in York Springs.

Completes Radio Training Course

Pvt. Harold E. Walter, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Walter, Gardners R. 2, has completed a 12-week radio relay and carrier operation course at the Army Southeastern Signal School, Fort Gordon, Ga.

Walter was trained to operate and maintain field radio relay carriers and related equipment. He entered the Army last March and completed basic training at Fort Jackson, S. C.

He is a 1960 graduate of Carlisle High School and was employed by The Hunt Corp., before entering the Army.

First Fatality On New Expressway

WOODBURY, N.J. (AP)—The first fatality on the new Atlantic City Expressway occurred today when a sports coupe carrying four Philadelphia area youths overturned near here.

Expressway police said the victim was the driver, John Templeton, 19, of Rosemont, Pa. They said he was driving west when he apparently lost control of the auto and it veered off the superhighway and overturned.

A passenger in the auto, who was taken to Underwood Hospital here was Roger Galczenski, 18, of Villanova, Pa. He suffered broken ribs and other hurts.

Other passengers who were treated and released were William Burns, 18, of Villanova, and Richard McCunney, 18, of Philadelphia.

Out Of The Past
From the Files of the Star and Sentinel and
The Gettysburg Times
TWENTY YEARS AGO

The annual church picnic of
St. Mary's Catholic Church, Fairfield, has been postponed until after the ban of gatherings of children 16 years of age and under is lifted, Rev. Fr.
Joseph Gotwald has announced.

Pfc. Eugene Elwood Clapper,
20, only son of Toney A. Clapper, Biglerville, reported missing in action in France since July 11, now is reported to be a prisoner of the German.

The search for Tim Young, 44-year-old trusty who walked away from the Adams County jail 10 years ago, continues as Sheriff John E. Millhines said he has received "the best tip" yet on Young's whereabouts.
Young was serving a six-month minimum sentence on a charge of larceny of a bag of feed April 29.

Sgt. Orlo J. Plank, 21, son of Mr. John Settle, Seven Stars, has completed at least 50 missions and won the Air Medal with nine bronze clusters for achievement in "materially paving the way" for the Allied invasion of Europe.

Sgt. Melvin E. Zinn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Zinn, Hanover St., described life in a foxhole in France this week in a letter received by his parents.
Sgt. Zinn has been overseas for 19 months and served in the North African campaign before going to England where he trained for the invasion of France.

Firemen were called Monday to extinguish a blaze at the E. L.
McClaff sawmill on the former
Dr. E. H. Markley property northwest of Fairfield. The mill had been in operation during the day and it is believed that a spark from the engine caused the fire which started under the platform.

A mother, possibly hoping to get her young son from underfoot, received an emphatic "No" from Dr. C. G. Crist, when she asked if her son could attend a movie if "he buys an adult ticket." Sydney Poppay, local theatre manager, said today no children are being admitted to the theatre during the infantile paralysis scare.

Gunner's Mate 3-C Julius H.
Swope is spending a 17-day leave with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. Franklin Swope, Carlisle
St. He returned recently from a trip to Italy.

Five more blue stamps worth 10 points each will be valid for buying rationed processed foods beginning Sept. 1, the OPA has announced. The stamps, G5, H5, J5, K5 and L5, will be good indefinitely.

The Gettysburg Firemen will net approximately $50 from the sale of 11,000 tin cans obtained in the recent salvage scrap drive.

Today's Talk

GRASPERS

We seem to be born with the tendency to grasp things. The child wants everything its tiny fingers can grasp. The instinct to want more and more, therefore, comes naturally, but this is unfortunate, for too many want what they do not need and which — in many cases — they have no right to want.

All you have to do is to look over the map of the world and note what the graspers have done to it. There would be no "hot" or "cold" wars were it not for the fact that there are nations that organize specifically to grasp something that is owned by someone else.

Balboa, the Spanish explorer, when he reached the Pacific Ocean, was so impressed with his own importance and immensity of the ocean that he immediately proclaimed with his naked sword, that all the lands this ocean touched thenceforth should belong to Spain!

A study of history is in great part a study of the graspers of the earth. It was Alexander who once exclaimed that he was bored because there was nothing more for him to conquer, which was but a way of saying that he couldn't imagine any more of the earth that he could grasp.

Behind about all of our social ills is this thing of greed and grasp. If the great business leaders only knew it, they could well afford to be generous with those who help them to their great heights of success and wealth. Eager to grasp all that they can, often they lose all!

The new "one world" that we hear people talk about, will never be realized until this grasping spirit has been eliminated.
The significance of the word "together" must be realized, for it means cooperation for the good and happiness of all.

This is a very rich world in which we live, and there is room for all, and food for all. But the graspers have got to be eliminated and a just division of the

THE NEEDED LITTLE

A little more of giving and little less of taking;
A little more of sensing what our neighbors have to bear;
A little more of pity for the ones to sorrow waking
And we'd have more of laughter and less of bleak despair.

A little more of friendship and a little less of sneering;
A little more of trusting and a little less of doubt;
A little more of cheering and a little less of jeering
And we'd have more contentment and much less to fret about.

A little more of sharing and a little less of grasping;
A little more of loving and a little less of hate;
A little less of bickering and voices harshly rasping
And we should all be stronger when the need for strength is great.

A little more of charity and less of selfish dealing;
A little more of willingness another's need to see;
A little more of wisdom, both of knowing and of feeling And life would be the joyous thing it really ought to be.

Eastern League

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Springfield Giants committed seven errors Wednesday night as they lost an Eastern League baseball game 6-4 to the Charleston Indians.

The loss moved the Giants two games behind league leading Elmira, which was idle.
And in a struggle at the other end of the league, the York White Roses defeated the Wil-hamsport Mets 6-3 to drop the Mets into last place 25½ games away from first. York is 25 games back.

Harley Anderson spaced six hits, walked two and struck out six to win his seventh game against two defeats for York.

Dick Rusteck (0-1) was the loser.

Mike Gardner had a home run for the White Roses and Ron Swoboda had a four-bagger for the Mets.

BRAVES USE
84TH LINEUP

By DAVE O'HARA

Associated Press Sports Writer
MILWAUKEE (AP) — Milwaukee Manager Bobby Bragan is giving second guessers a field day as the Braves struggle along in the National League race. His juggling act even includes breaking up winning combinations.

Bragan's personal game of musical chairs resulted Wednesday in Milwaukee's 84th different starting line-up this season.
The strategy failed as the Braves dropped a 6-1 decision to left-hander Chris Short and the Philadelphia Phils.

The Braves piled up 19 runs with the help of 28 hits in capturing the first two games of the series with the league-leading Phils. Then Bragan decided to bench the streaking Eddie Matheus and Lee Maye to get additional right-handed batters in the line-up.

Short handcuffed the Braves on six hits in earning his 14th victory in 20 decisions. He lost his shutout bid — and had his scoreless string stopped at 24 innings — on a double by Joe Torre and a single by Denny
Menke in the ninth.

"I took a calculated risk to get right-handed punch," Bragan explained. "I took Mathews out because of a day game following a night game — and we were facing a hard-throwing left-hander. I decided to give him a rest."

NEW YORK (AP)—In the final rounds of the National AAU free style wrestling championship Wednesday night, Carmen
Molino of Ontario, N.Y., pinned
Larry Lauchle, a Marine, of Muncy, Pa., in 6.48 in the 125.5
pound division. He was the only Pennsylvanian in Wednesday night's matches.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

The annual church picnic of St. Mary's Catholic Church, Fairfield, has been postponed until after the ban of gatherings of children 16 years of age and under is lifted, Rev. Fr. Joseph Gotwald has announced.

Pfc. Eugene Elwood Clapper, 20, only son of Toney A. Clapper, Biglerville, reported missing in action in France since July 11, now is reported to be a prisoner of the Germans.

The search for Tim Young, 44-year-old trusty who walked away from the Adams County jail 10 years ago, continues as Sheriff John E. Millhimes said he has received "the best tip" yet on Young's whereabouts. Young was serving a six-month minimum sentence on a charge of larceny of a bag of feed April 29.

Sgt. Melvin E. Zinn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Zinn, Hanover St., described life in a fox-hole in France this week in a letter received by his parents. Sgt. Zinn has been overseas for 19 months and served in the North African campaign before going to England where he trained for the invasion of France.

Firemen were called Monday to extinguish a blaze at the E. L. McClellan sawmill on the former Dr. E. H. Markley property northwest of Fairfield. The mill had been in operation during the day and it is believed that a spark from the engine caused the fire which started under the platform.

A mother, possibly hoping to get her young son from underfoot, received an emphatic "No" from Dr. C. G. Crist, when she asked if her son could attend a movie if "he buys an adult ticket." Sydney Poppay, local theatre manager, said today no children are being admitted to the theatre during the infantile paralysis scare.

Gunner's Mate 3-C Julius H. Swope is spending a 17-day leave with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. Franklin Swope, Carlisle St. He returned recently from a trip to Italy.

Five more blue stamps worth 10 points each will be valid for buying rationed processed foods beginning Sept. 1, the OPA has announced. The stamps, G5, H5, J5, K5 and L5, will be good indefinitely.

The Gettysburg Firemen will net approximately $50 from the sale of 11,000 tin cans obtained in the recent salvage scrap drive.

GRASPERS

We seem to be born with the tendency to grasp things. The child wants everything its tiny fingers can grasp. The instinct to want more and more, therefore, comes naturally, but this is unfortunate, for too many want what they do not need and which — in many cases — they have no right to want.

All you have to do is to look over the map of the world and note what the graspers have done to it. There would be no 'hot' or 'cold' wars were it not for the fact that there are nations that organize specifically to grasp something that is owned by someone else.

Balboa, the Spanish explorer, when he reached the Pacific Ocean, was so impressed with his own importance and immensity of the ocean that he immediately proclaimed with his naked sword, that all the lands this ocean touched thenceforth should belong to Spain!

A study of history is in great part a study of the graspers of the earth. It was Alexander who once exclaimed that he was bored because there was nothing more for him to conquer, which was but a way of saying that he couldn't imagine any more of the earth that he could grasp.

Behind all of our social ills is this thing of greed and grasp. If the great business leaders only knew it, they could well afford to be generous with those who help them to their great heights of success and wealth. Eager to grasp all that they can, often they lose all!

The new "one world" that we hear people talk about, will never be realized until this grasping spirit has been eliminated. The significance of the word "together" must be realized, for it means cooperation for the good and happiness of all.

This is a very rich world in which we live, and there is room for all, and food for all. But the graspers have got to be eliminated and a just division of the world's natural products made to benefit the humblest and poorest.

The Ever Willing Class of St. John's Lutheran Church will conduct a food stand at the Strickhouser public sale Saturday. Those who wish to donate home-made items for the stand are asked to have them at the home of Mrs. Gladys Eyer, Boyer St., or Mrs. Hope King, W. King St., by 8:30 a.m. Saturday.

Frank E. Basehoar Jr., a sophomore at Shippensburg State College, and Philip H. Close III, a sophomore at the University of Pennsylvania, Philadelphia, are attending the Democratic national convention in Atlantic City. Plans for the youth citizen convention rally were arranged by Dr. Louis Bouchard, associate director of history at SSC. Basehoar is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Basehoar, Patrick Ave., and Close is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Philip H. Close, near town.

The first fall rehearsal of the Senior Choir of St. Paul's Lutheran Church will be held next Thursday, September 3, at 7 p.m.

Doc Williams and the Border Riders, Wheeling, W. Va., entertained at the Kingsdale Fire Company carnival on Wednesday evening. A large crowd was on the grounds and enjoyed the attractions. The 16th annual beauty contest will be held this evening when Miss Adams County Fireman will be crowned. The Bob and Dean McNett Show with Orval and Brother Bill from the WVVW World Jamboree will be featured on Friday night.

STATE JOBS OPEN

HARRISBURG—The state Civil Service Commission has announced an examination program for mechanical and electrical engineers to fill vacancies in the Departments of Property and Supplies, Highways, Public Welfare, Public Instruction and Mines and Mineral Industries. The first list will be established October 30.

John E. James, SCSC examination director, said the examination will consist of a numerical rating of candidates' education and experience. No written test is required. College graduates with major course work in engineering may apply. Applications will be accepted until September 16 for electrical engineers; from $7,407 to $12,675 for mechanical engineers.

Phils Widen Lead With Win Over Braves While Giants, Reds Lose; Mets Win Again

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

The San Francisco Giants have to be in trouble when Juan Marichal threatens to strike and Willie Mays starts moonlighting.

Mays tried to hold down two jobs for the Giants Wednesday night, shuttling between center field and third base in a 2-1 loss to the Los Angeles Dodgers that dropped San Francisco 7½ games behind National League-leading Philadelphia.

But the big labor dispute involved around Marichal, the ace right hander of the Giants' staff who hoisted his placard and said he won't pitch before he feels he's ready.

DARKS SAYS SUNDAY

"I don't want to take any chances any more," said Marichal, who has been bothered by a bad back, but made his first start since July 29 against the Dodgers Tuesday night. Marichal, who pitched five innings, said he didn't think he was ready to go, then added:

"They wanted me to pitch. I'll tell you this. If it's still the same the next time, I won't pitch."

Manager Al Dark's comment was concise.

"He'll pitch Sunday."

MAYS SHIFTS

Where Mays will play is another question.

He started in center field against the Dodgers but had to take over at third base in the second inning after Jim Ray Hart was struck in the head by a thrown ball while running from first base to second and was forced to leave the game.

Mays, who also has played first for the Giants this season, moved back to center field in the seventh inning then returned to the infield again in the ninth as Dark constantly juggled his lie up in an attempt to get the Giants moving against Don Drysdale.

SHORT GETS WIN

Drysdale, however, checked San Francisco on seven hits and came up the winner on Doug Camilli's run producing single in the ninth.

The Phillies, meanwhile, rode Chris Short's six hit pitching to a 6-1 victory over Milwaukee and built their bulge over second place Cincinnati to seven games. The Reds were beaten by the New York Mets and Tracy Stallard's 11-0 pitching 3-1.

Elsewhere, Larry Jackson Louis with a six hit, 3-1 triumph over Houston and rookie Mike Cuellar posted the first complete game of his major league career in St. Louis' 4-2 victory over Pittsburgh.

DOGGERS WIN IN 9TH

The Dodgers won it in the ninth for Frank Howard, a ground out and an intentional walk to Nate Oliver that brought up Camilli. Camilli blooped a single to center giving Drysdale a 14-13 record while tagging Bob Hendley with the loss.

Short, bringing his record to 14-6 while lowering his earned run average to 1.70, snapped the Phillies out of their first two game losing streak since July 26 with the support of four homers — two by Gus Triandos and one each by Ruben Amaro and Tony Gonzalez. Short was touched for a run in the ninth on a double by single.

Stallard, now 8-16, checked the Reds on four singles until Don Pavletich ruined his shut-out bid with a seventh inning homer. Ed Kranepool drove in two of the Mets runs off Joey Jay 9-9, with a fourth inning single and a sixth inning sacrifice fly. Ron Hunt drove in the

LOS ANGELES RAMS TO BE "IMPROVED"

ORANGE, Calif. (AP) — Fullback is the big problem with the Los Angeles Rams who are rebuilding around a solid defensive line and a fast-improving quarterback, Roman Gabriel.

"We expect to improve our quarterback, Gabriel, will have more experience," said Svare at the Rams' camp.

The Rams lost their first five games last fall. Then they turned around and won five of their next seven beating San Francisco twice and Detroit, Baltimore and Minnesota once each. The word around the National Football League was that the Rams were to be feared in 1964.

Ben Wilson's decision to pass up pro football for dentistry after a fine rookie year left a gaping hole at the fullback position.

Svare has been switching his backs around, trying to come up with a replacement for Wilson. It might turn out to be Dick Bass, the halfback who shared the heavy duty ground work with Wilson last year.

This is the third year for Gabriel, the former North Carolina State quarterback. Progress has been slow but steady. After winning the job late in 1962, he gave way to rookie Terry Baker for last year's opener but soon reclaimed the job.

TOP RECEIVERS

Carroll Dale and Jim Phillips are the top receivers.

Svare beefed up his offensive line considerably when he traded Jon Arnett, who has been hobbled by leg injuries for a couple of seasons, to the Chicago Bears.

The Rams got Roger Davis, a Bear starter at guard for four seasons, to go with Charlie Cowan, Joe Seibell and Don Chuy at that position. They also gained a third offensive center, Joe Wendryhoski, and Frank Budka, a rookie defensive back from Notre Dame.

The other centers are Ken Kirk and Art Hunter. Joe Carroll and Frank Varrichione are set at offensive tackle.

LINE IS GREAT

Many pro football experts think the Rams' defensive line of Dave Jones and Lamar Lundy at the ends, and Rosey Grier and Merlin Olsen at the tackles are the best in the league. Stan Fanning and rookie Gary Larsen back them up.

Jack Pardee, Mike Henry and the veteran Cliff Livingston are the starting linebackers with relief from Marv Harris, a good looking rookie from Stanford.

Rookie Jerry Richardson of West Texas State, No. 3 draftee, and Bobby Smith will be the corner backs on defense with Landon Crow and Ed Medard at safety. Scotti may reclaim a corner job when he is healthy.

Staten Island Is 1st Round Winner

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa. (AP) — Dan Yaccarino, who pitched Staten Island, N.Y., to a first-round victory in the Little League World Series, believes his days as a "hard-luck" hurler may be over.

Yaccarino, somewhat weakened by a bout with a virus, threw three innings of no-hit baseball against Wiesbaden, Germany, Wednesday to ice an 8-1 victory.

In another first round contest, Tachikawa City, Japan, scored a run on a bases loaded walk in the sixth and final inning to edge Valleyfield, Quebec, 1-0.

The two winners meet this afternoon in the semi-finals of the 18th annual baseball tournament for 11 and 12-year-old boys.

The other semifinal game matches Mobile, Ala., and Monterrey, Mex., which won first round victories on Tuesday.

Jimmy Piersall In Beatle Wig

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Jimmy Piersall of the Los Angeles Angels gave Kansas City a preview of the Beatles Wednesday night.

Charles Finley, the owner of the Athletics, has hired the Beatles for a performance next month, and Piersall took the opportunity in the seventh inning to go into one of his routines.

As he strolled to the plate to bat, Piersall was wearing a Beatle wig.

Plate Umpire Frank Umont then held a small conference with the Los Angeles outfielder, and Piersall batted without the hairpiece.

SEASON OPENER

MONTREAL (AP) — The Montreal Canadiens will meet the New York Rangers in their first home game of the 1964-65 season on Saturday, Oct. 17, the National Hockey League team announced today.

Ten Lettermen Among 56 Candidates Give Fine Outlook For Littlestown

A strong well-balanced backfield highlighted by two equally fine quarterbacks, protected by a solid first unit forward wall, goes into the makeup of a team to be witnessed this fall by Littlestown High School football followers.

Coach Bill Heyser, starting his third season at the Bolt helm, has 56 candidates on hand including 10 lettermen and 15 seniors. Heyser is being assisted by associate coaches Jack Bream, Maurice Bream, Dale Hamm and newcomer Ralph Dussman.

Littlestown will have a pair of good quarterbacks running the squad. Jim Blocher, 5'8", 150, is the returning letterman, but Bruce Crouse, a 5'9", 154-pound junior, has been causing quite a stir. Crouse is a strong passer but a little weak on the running end. On the other hand, Blocher is a fine runner and employs a lot of deception such as would be ideal for a well executed option play. Blocher, however, has seen little action at quarterback in the past, having won his letter as a line defensive back.

POTTORFF AT FULL

Terry Pottorff heads the list of fullbacks. He is exceptionally fast for a fullback, making him a good break-away runner. Batting the veteran Pottorff will be another senior, Larry Conover, 5'8", 156 and junior Ray Dutterer, 5'8", 152. The halfback slots are being controlled by lettermen Louie Orndorff and Greg Myers. Orndorff, 6'1", 178, relies on his speed while Myers, 5'8", 135, is a shifty runner.

Among the many freshmen and sophomore candidates who have proven themselves in preseason drills are halfbacks Jim Worley, Ron Bream and Tim Chrismer, and fullback Bernie Noble. These will give the Bolts a tremendous boost in the depth department. Chrismer and Dutterer are expected to see plenty of action throughout the year. Other underclassmen who are standing out at the present are Dan Staley and Carl Gentzler, Jim Rohrbach, guard, and Don Feeser, center.

BOLTS IN RACE

Littlestown took a fourth place in the York County League last year. Asked how the league is shaping up this season, Heyser said, "I think there will be better balance this year than a season ago. We personally feel that with a couple of breaks here and there we could move right up there with the best. I don't feel that any one team is going to dominate the league. Hanover, South Western and Susquehanna will be about the toughest."

Littlestown's entire 1964 schedule is composed of York County League games. The full card includes September 11 York Suburban, home, 19, West York away, 25, Hanover, home, October 3, Susquehanna, away, 9, South Western, home, 17, Dalstown, away, 24, Central, away, 30, Red Lion, home, November 7, Kennard Dale, away, and 13, Spring Grove, home.

BOLSTER LINE

Overall the Thunderbolts will divide their attack equally between the running game and the passing contest. The passing will be highlighted by some fine receivers among whom will be the starting ends, John Burgoon, 5'9", 170, and Jim Strevig, 5'6", 135. Strevig is small for an end but according to Heyser he can pull down anything thrown within reach. While on the subject of ends, Heyser mentioned the fact that another pleasant surprise has been the performance of Neal Leister, 5'9", 155.

Littlestown Little League

Jay Beamer carried off top honors in the home run parade during the 1964 season. Beamer outdistanced the entire league by sailing eight round trippers over the fences. That was six more than his nearest competitors.

Steve Strevig, Kevin Zumbum, Steve Dutterer, Baron Sentz and Dan Brown tied for second place with two home runs each. Steve Aiter, Joe Bucher, Mike Redding and Dave Hartlaub each pounded out one. A total of 22 home runs was hit in the league during the past season.

Auto And Cycle Races At Grove

MECHANICSBURG — There have been three men atop the point standings in the chase for the modified championship at Williams Grove Speedway this season. The leadership has changed three times and on the three occasions it was a championship race featuring double points that turned the tide.

Bobby Abel Wightsville, was the first pacesetter. He dropped off when Gene Goodling Stovers-town, won the Spring Championship in front until Dick Tobias, Lebanon slipped ahead after winning the midseason championship test in July. Tobias kept the lead until last Friday. That's when the versatile Goodling stepped back in to the picture. Goodling was the runnerup and gained 190 points in the double point Langhorne Qualifying Race. Tobias dropped out of contention early with mechanical trouble and received only 10 points.

It will be another busy week end at "the Grove" Friday, the modifieds are again on the famous half-mile with their weekly "race of champions" starting at 8:30 p.m. Sunday the motor-cycles return for their fourth and final engagement of the season. Many nationally famous riders will be on hand for the nine-event card sanctioned by the American Motorcycle Association. Post time is 2 p.m.

Orioles Lose To Indians While Chisox Win In 12 To Make AL Race Air Tight

HANK BAUER WAS CLOSE TO BANISHMENT

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Baltimore Orioles will be lucky if they can get out of the Cleveland Indians' eighth inning with the American League pennant.

The Indians edged the first-place Orioles 3-2 Wednesday night, scoring two runs in the eighth inning for the victory. The loss, coupled with Chicago's 2-1, 12-inning triumph over Minnesota, sliced Baltimore's lead to one percentage point over the second-place White Sox.

The victory, the Indians' sixth straight, increased their season edge over Baltimore to 10-5, making them the only team to hold an edge over the league leaders. More specifically, though, the Indians have won five of the last six games with Baltimore in the eighth inning.

5-RUN OUTBURST

A five-run outburst in the eighth Tuesday night brought Cleveland a 5-3 decision. Wednesday night's game was tied 1-1 going into the eighth.

Slow footed John Romano sent the tie-breaking run across with a two-out, two strike bunt single, a surprise move he pulled on his own. Vic Davalillo followed with a run scoring double.

Explaining the rare squeeze bunt, Romano said:

"I can't hit (relief pitcher Stu) Miller anyway, so I had to do something."

YANKS BLANKED

Baltimore Manager Hank Bauer, however, didn't have any explanation for the Indians' eighth-inning tactics.

Elsewhere in the AL, Washington blanked New York 2-0, Detroit defeated Boston 4-1 and Los Angeles knocked off Kansas City 5-2.

Norm Siebern slammed a homer for the Orioles in the eighth, but they couldn't do any more scoring. A walk and singles by Earl Robinson and Russ Snyder had given Baltimore a 1-1 tie in the sixth and set the stage for the eighth-inning rally.

ED FISHER WINS

Don Buford singled home Gerry McNertney with Chicago's winning run in the 12th. McNertney led off the inning by reaching second base on a wild throw to first by the Twis' Rich Rollins. McNertney went to third on a passed ball and two walks later, trotted home.

Ed Fisher pitched the last three innings, holding the Twins hitless for his sixth victory in eight decisions.

The Yankees remained four games off the pace as Buster Narum stopped them on five hits. He outpitched Mel Stottlemyre, who lost his first game after winning three. The Senators scored both runs in the fifth, Mike Brumley coming home with the first one on an infield grounder.

DEMETER HOMERS

The Tigers' Dave Wickersham recorded his 16th victory in 25 decisions, hurling a five-hitter against the Red Sox. Don Demeter started a two-run rally in the sixth with a homer while Jerry Lumpe did the same in the seventh. Demeter's homer halted Bob Heffner's scoreless-inning string at 19-13.

Dick Green and Rocky Colavito clouted solo homers for the Athletics, but they weren't enough to offset the Angels' attack. Los Angeles scored three times in the fourth, the runs coming home on singles by Lou Clinton and Jim Perry and Bob Rodgers' sacrifice fly.

YORKER WINS

BETHAYRES, Pa. (AP) — Mason Gerhart, York, Pa. defeated Dan Berger, Philadelphia, 6-0, 6-1 Wednesday in the third round of the Eastern Pennsylvania 16 and under tennis championship at the Philmont Country Club. Joe Brooker, Beaver Falls, Pa. won from Ken Kraft, Princeton, N.J., 6-0, 6-2. Larry Terrell, Haverford, Pa. scored by 6-2, 6-1 over David Savit, Baltimore.

Bonneauville At L-Town Tonight

Littlestown will be provided the opportunity of taking over first place in the South Penn Baseball League tonight when it meets Bonneauville in an 8 o'clock game under the lights at Littlestown.

At present Littlestown, Ardenstville and Taneytown are deadlocked for first place with 125 records. Bonneauville is 3-14 for the season.

All other league teams will wait until Sunday to conclude the regular league schedule.

Joan Crawford Is Replaced In Film

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Joan Crawford says she cried for nine hours straight after hearing from newsmen that she was being replaced in a movie for the first time in her career.

Producer-director Robert Aldrich replaced the ailing Miss Crawford with Olivia de Havilland as costar — with Bette Davis — in Hush, Hush, Sweet Charlotte.

"I'm used to having people look me straight in the eye — not this indirect treatment," she said from her bed in Cedars of Lebanon Hospital.

She is there for the second time with a persistent case of pneumonia. Her illness forced shutdown of the multimillion dollar movie.

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Tyronne Scott, 25, an Eastern State Correctional Institution guard, was held in $2,000 bail Wednesday for grand jury action after a teenage boy told authorities he bought marijuana cigarettes from Scott for $5. Detectives said there was no indication that the correctional institution was involved in any way.

Missiles Fly Again In Pacific "Test Pond"

BY RICHARD F. NEWCOMB
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Missiles are flying again, and soon will be across the vast reaches of the Pacific Russian missiles, that is.

Once again, for at least the third time since 1960, the Soviet Union has warned ships and planes to steer shy of certain areas. This time there are two impact points, one near Christmas Island and the other 300 miles north of Howland Island. The Russians said they would be firing into the first target zone from Aug. 4 to Nov. 1, and into the second from Oct. 1 to Dec. 30, by far the longest test period yet.

The Russians startled the world with the first test down the Pacific range, in January, 1960. At that time then missiles covered 7,760 miles, according to Western estimates. The Atlas ICBM then had a range of 6,300 miles. And the Russian accuracy was astounding. They claimed to have come within 1.24 miles of the target. The Pentagon, after some fencing, said that the first shot, at least, "apparently did fall within the impact area." That was announced as a rectangle 280 miles long and 160 miles wide.

Military writers at the time were quick to point out that the range of the Russian missiles would place almost all of the United States on target if the firing were westward rather than eastward. Since 1960 there have been other Russian firings. A series in May, 1963, was into four target areas about 1,500 miles south of Midway Island. In all cases, the Russians assert that these missiles do not carry nuclear warheads, but are tests of carrier rockets for space objects. They often append that the tests are not to be compared with the American and British atomic tests in the Pacific. The atomic tests, they say, poison the atmosphere and endanger life.

As far as is known, there have been no atomic tests in the Pacific since 1962, when the last U.S. high altitude explosions took place over Christmas and Johnston Islands. Prior to that, Bikini and Eniwetok had been used extensively, between 1946 and 1956. The British conducted nuclear tests at Christmas Island in 1957, and made rocket experiments between 1952 and 1957 at Woomera, in Australia, and the Monte Bello Islands, off the northwest coast of Australia.

But in recent years the emphasis has been on rockets. American firings from West Coast bases, principally Vandenberg Air Force Base, are frequent and spectacular, the purpose and results secret. At least some of them, presumably, fly over Kwajalein atoll, in the Marshall Islands, for test of antimissile missiles. This is to perfect methods for detecting and destroying enemy missiles. No doubt the Russians are watching, with every facility they can muster.

When the Russians fire, the United States watches, at both ends of the flight. Tracking stations in Turkey and Alaska flash the word on Soviet launchings, supplying trajectory and direction. At the other end of the line (scientists call it the "impact area"), American ships and planes crammed with electronic miracles record the performance of the Soviet missiles. Little is announced, of course, but the launching areas have been located as "in Siberia" or "near Tyuratam". That last place is close to the Aral Sea.

The location of American launching sites is public knowledge. The impact areas, however, especially in the Pacific, are rarely announced. There's a lot of water out there; let the Russians hunt.

Today In Washington

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Office of Education estimates that a record 52.9 million students will enroll in the nation's schools and colleges this fall.

This represents well over a quarter of the U.S. population and marks the 20th straight year of record enrollment. Last fall 51.6 million were enrolled.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has come up with a labor first: a seven-member board to investigate three separate disputes involving the nation's railroads and 11 nonoperating railroad unions.

Usually, such boards created under the Railway Labor Act have three members.

All 11 unions are involved in one dispute. They are demanding improved vacations, holidays and health and welfare provisions.

A second dispute, involving five of the unions, relates to stabilization of employment and wage increases. In the third dispute, six shop craft unions are demanding increased wages.

NEW FEDERAL ROAD PROGRAM NEEDED BY '68

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Traffic congestion and accident rates will reach "intolerable levels" unless the interstate highway system is completed on time and unless Congress approves a new federal roadbuilding program by 1968, an automotive executive predicted today.

Byron J. Nichols, general manager of Chrysler Corp.'s Dodge Division, made the prediction in prepared remarks for the Commanders' Luncheon of the National AMVETS convention here.

Nichols said a study made for the Automobile Manufacturers Association indicates that by 1980 the nation will need 5,600 more miles of urban freeways than are planned in the interstate system.

The greatest highway need after 1972, when the 41,000-mile interstate network is completed, "will be for new or improved arterial roads and additional freeways in and around our expanding cities," Nichols said.

The auto executive praised the modern highway system's contribution to auto safety, and added that the interstate system "is a remarkable example of constructive partnership between the federal government, the states, and private industry in meeting a critical national need."

PHILA. SEEKING BIG XMAS TREE

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Talk about doing your Christmas shopping early!

The city of Philadelphia announced Wednesday it's looking around for its annual Christmas tree, a 50-foot or taller evergreen to decorate City Hall Plaza during the Yule season.

Last year's tree was given by the Canadian government. Frederick R. Mann, city representative, said he hoped a Philadelphia resident would give a tree to the city this year. The tree won't be cut, however, until sometime in December.

"It's not too early to start looking," said Mann.

Replace Huge Old Carpet In Office

HARRISBURG (AP) — The governor's office is receiving new carpet to replace the 21,000-foot rug, only one of its kind which has lain on the floor for numerous administrations.

A state guides' publication says the old rug in the governor's reception room "is considered one of the largest in the world... weighing 11 pounds." It was made on a loom that was after destroyed to avoid duplication.

The new carpeting is donated by a Carlisle firm, an off-gold color. The firm said the old rug, worn full of holes, has not yet been determined.

PLEDGES WIN FOR TICKET IN PHILADELPHIA

By JACK LYNCH

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — Personal telephone calls from President Johnson gave top Pennsylvania Democrats the first word of his decision to select Minnesota Sen. Hubert Humphrey as his vice presidential running mate.

Former Gov. David L. Lawrence, Philadelphia Democratic chairman Francis R. Smith and Mayor Joseph Barr of Pittsburgh reported Wednesday night they were informed by the President himself shortly after he reached his long-awaited decision.

The leaders and most of the Pennsylvania delegation expressed pleasure with the Humphrey choice and immediately pledged a bigger vote than was delivered to President John F. Kennedy in 1960.

LAWRENCE TOLD EARLY

Lawrence — Pennsylvania national committee chairman, his state's convention delegation chairman and head of the President's Commission on Equal Opportunity in Housing — said Johnson told him about Humphrey at 4 p.m. during one of several phone calls Lawrence had made.

Smith said the President, whom he described as a close friend since they served together in Congress in 1940, called him about 6:30 p.m. and said "Frank, I wanted you to know I have made up my mind."

Smith added.

PROMISES MARGIN

"I learned of it before he did and I was the first to talk to the two of them," he said. The senator, president's office spokesman, said he called the phone. I told them both the good news. Smith said he had a ticket "an over-reaction" in Philadelphia to a very Democratic majority.

Asked how many votes even 330,000, Pennsylvania's largest city, could cast, he said.

Boy, 13, Drowns In Schuylkill River

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Thomas Watson, 13, drowned Wednesday when he slipped from a rock and fell into the Schuylkill River in Lower Merion Township, police reported.

Police said they were summoned to the scene by Watson's two friends, Kenneth Arnold, 15, and Joseph Middleton, 12.

The Philadelphia Harbor Police brought the boy's body to the surface about three hours later.

CHILD DROWNS

YORK, Pa. (AP) — Anthony Wayne Buntin, 3, of Spring Grove R. 2, drowned Wednesday after falling into a farm pond near his home. The victim was playing with four other children, including his brother, Robert, 4, when the accident occurred. The body was recovered.

Smith added.

PROMISES MARGIN

"I learned of it before Hubert did and I was the first one to talk to the two of them together. The senator entered the president's office while I was on the phone. I told them: 'God bless the both of you.'"

Smith said he promised the ticket "an overwhelming victory in Philadelphia," which has a very Democratic registration majority.

Asked if he would produce even more than Philadelphia's 330,000-vote margin which put Pennsylvania in the Kennedy column in 1960, Smith said: "There is no doubt we will exceed it."

Tom Hudspeth, Tulsa '52, is putting in his first season as football coach at Brigham Young University in Provo, Utah.

Joan Crawford Is Replaced In Film

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Joan Crawford says she cried for nine hours straight after hearing from newsmen that she was being replaced in a movie for the first time in her career.

Producer-director Robert Aldrich replaced the ailing Miss Crawford with Olivia de Havilland as costar — with Bette Davis — in "Hush, Hush, Sweet Charlotte."

"I'm used to having people look me straight in the eye — not this indirect treatment," she said from her bed in Cedars of Lebanon Hospital.

She is there for the second time with a persistent case of pneumonia. Her illness forced shutdown of the multimillion-dollar movie.

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Tyronne Scott, 25, an Eastern State Correctional Institution guard, was held in $2,500 bail Wednesday for grand jury action after a teenage boy told authorities he bought marijuana cigarettes from Scott for $5. Detectives said there was no indication that the correctional institution was involved in any way.

Missiles Fly Again In Pacific "Test Pond"

BY RICHARD F. NEWCOMB
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Missiles are flying again, or soon will be, across the vast reaches of the Pacific. Russian missiles, that is.

Once again, for at least the third time since 1960, the Soviet Union has warned ships and planes to steer shy of certain areas. This time there are two impact points, one near Christmas Island and the other 300 miles north of Howland Island. The Russians said they would be firing into the first target zone from Aug. 4 to Nov. 1, and into the second from Oct. 1 to Dec. 30, by far the longest test period yet.

The Russians startled the world with the first test down the Pacific range, in January, 1960. At that time their missiles covered 7,760 miles, according to Western estimates. The Atlas ICBM then had a range of 6,300 miles. And the Russian accuracy was astounding. They claimed to have come within 1.24 miles of the target. The Pentagon, after some fencing, said that the first shot, at least, "apparently did fall within the impact area." That was announced as a rectangle 280 miles long and 160 miles wide.

Military writers at the time were quick to point out that the range of the Russian missiles would place almost all of the United States on target if the firing were westward, rather than eastward. Since 1960 there have been other Russian firings. A series in May, 1963, was into four target areas about 1,500 miles south of Midway Island. In all cases, the Russians assert that these missiles do not carry nuclear warheads, but are tests of carrier rockets for space objects. They often append that the tests are not to be compared with the American and British atomic tests in the Pacific. The atomic tests, they say, poison the atmosphere and endanger life.

As far as is known, there have been no atomic tests in the Pacific since 1962, when the last U.S. high altitude explosions took place over Christmas and Johnston Islands. Prior to that, Bikini and Eniwetok had been used extensively, between 1946 and 1956. The British conducted nuclear tests at Christmas Island in 1957, and made rocket experiments between 1952 and 1957 at Woomera, in Australia, and the Monte Bello Islands, off the northwest coast of Australia.

But in recent years the emphasis has been on rockets. American firings from West Coast bases, principally Vandenberg Air Force Base, are frequent and spectacular, the purpose and results secret. At least some of them, presumably, fly over Kwajalein atoll, in the Marshall Islands, for test of antimissile missiles. This is to perfect methods for detecting and destroying enemy missiles. No doubt the Russians are watching, with every facility they can muster.

When the Russians fire, the United States watches, at both ends of the flight. Tracking stations in Turkey and Alaska flash the word on Soviet launchings, supplying trajectory and direction. At the other end of the line (scientists call it the "impact area"), American ships and planes crammed with electronic miracles record the performance of the Soviet missiles. Little is announced, of course, but the launching areas have been located as "in Siberia" or "near Tyuratam." That last place is close to the Aral Sea.

The location of American launching sites is public knowledge. The impact areas, however, especially in the Pacific, are rarely announced. There's a lot of water out there; let the Russians hunt.

Boy, 13, Drowns In Schuylkill River

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Thomas Watson, 13, drowned Wednesday when he slipped from a rock and fell into the Schuylkill River in Lower Merion Township, police reported.

Police said they were summoned to the scene by Watson's two friends, Kenneth Arnold, 15, and Joseph Middleton, 12.

The Philadelphia Harbor Police brought the boy's body to the surface about three hours later.

CHILD DROWNS

YORK, Pa. (AP) — Anthony Wayne Buntin, 3, of Spring Grove R. 2, drowned Wednesday after falling into a farm pond near his home. The victim was playing with four other children, including his brother, Robert, 4, when the accident occurred. The body was recovered.

Today In Washington

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Office of Education estimates that a record 52.9 million students will enroll in the nation's schools and colleges this fall.

This represents well over a quarter of the U.S. population and marks the 20th straight year of record enrollment. Last fall 51.6 million were enrolled.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has come up with a labor first: a seven-member board to investigate three separate disputes involving the nation's railroads and 11 nonoperating railroad unions.

Usually, such boards created under the Railway Labor Act have three members.

All 11 unions are involved in one dispute. They are demanding improved vacations, holidays and health and welfare provisions.

A second dispute, involving five of the unions, relates to stabilization of employment and wage increases. In the third dispute, six shop craft unions are demanding increased wages.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Abbott Laboratories of Chicago has telegraphed doctors, clinics and hospitals throughout the country to warn of a label mix-up on some of its intravenous solutions.

This was reported Tuesday by the Food and Drug Administration. An FDA spokesman said there have been no reports of any adverse effects on any individuals.

PHILA. SEEKING BIG XMAS TREE

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Talk about doing your Christmas shopping early!

The city of Philadelphia announced Wednesday it's looking around for its annual Christmas tree, a 50-foot or taller evergreen to decorate City Hall Plaza during the Yule season.

Last year's tree was given by the Canadian government. Frederick R. Mann, city representative, said he hoped a Philadelphia resident would give a tree to the city this year. The tree won't be cut, however, until sometime in December.

"It's not too early to start looking," said Mann.

NEW FEDERAL ROAD PROGRAM NEEDED BY '68

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Traffic congestion and accident rates will reach "intolerable levels" unless the interstate highway system is completed on time and unless Congress approves a new federal roadbuilding program by 1968, an automotive executive predicted today.

Byron J. Nichols, general manager of Chrysler Corp.'s Dodge Division, made the prediction in prepared remarks for the Commanders' Luncheon of the National AMVETS convention here.

Nichols said a study made for the Automobile Manufacturers Association indicates that by 1980 the nation will need 5,600 more miles of urban freeways than are planned in the interstate system.

NEEDS OF FUTURE

The greatest highway need after 1972, when the 41,000-mile interstate network is completed, "will be for new or improved arterial roads and additional freeways in and around our expanding cities," Nichols said.

The auto executive praised the modern highway system's contribution to auto safety, and added that the interstate system "is a remarkable example of constructive partnership between the federal government, the states, and private industry in meeting a critical national need."

Replace Huge Old Carpet In Office

HARRISBURG (AP) — The governor's office is receiving a new carpet to replace the 12x60-foot rug, only one of its kind, which has lain on the floor for numerous administrations.

A state guides' publication says the old rug in the governor's reception room "is considered one of the largest in the world... weighing 1,200 pounds." It was made on a special loom that was afterward destroyed to avoid duplication.

The new carpeting, to be donated by a Carlisle firm, will be an off-gold color. The future of the old rug, worn full of holes, has not yet been determined.

PLEDGES WIN FOR TICKET IN PHILADELPHIA

By JACK LYNCH
Associated Press Writer
ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — Personal telephone calls from President Johnson gave top Pennsylvania Democrats the first word of his decision to select Minnesota Sen. Hubert Humphrey as his vice presidential running mate.

Former Gov. David L. Lawrence, Philadelphia Democratic chairman Francis R. Smith and Mayor Joseph Barr of Pittsburgh reported Wednesday night they were informed by the President himself shortly after he reached his long-awaited decision.

The leaders and most of the Pennsylvania delegation expressed pleasure with the Humphrey choice and immediately pledged a bigger vote than was delivered to President John F. Kennedy in 1960.

LAWRENCE TOLD EARLY

Lawrence — Pennsylvania national committee chairman, his state's convention delegation chairman and head of the President's Commission on Equal Opportunity in Housing — said Johnson told him about Humphrey at 4 p.m. during one of several phone calls Lawrence had made.

Smith said the President, whom he described as a close friend since they served together in Congress in 1940, called him about 6:30 p.m. and said: "Frank, I wanted you to know I have made up my mind."

PROMISES MARGIN

"I learned of it before Hubert did and I was the first one to talk to the two of them together. The senator entered the president's office while I was on the phone. I told them: 'God bless the both of you.'"

Smith said he promised the ticket "an overwhelming victory in Philadelphia," which has a very Democratic registration majority.

Asked if he would produce even more than Philadelphia's 330,000-vote margin which put Pennsylvania in the Kennedy column in 1960, Smith said: "There is no doubt we will exceed it."

Johnson Will Seek Role Of "People's Candidate"

By FRANK CORMIER

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—Lyndon B. Johnson, who often refers to himself as "president of all the people," now wants to be candidate of all the people.

Any attempt to assess the campaign tactics of the just-nominated Democratic standard bearer is apt to founder unless weighed against Johnson's aim to claim the broad middle ground on the political battlefield and appeal to just about everyone.

In his contest with Sen. Barry Goldwater, Johnson will try to picture the Republican presidential nominee as being far removed from the mainstream of American political thought.

As Senate Democratic leader and during nine months as president, he has sought to represent a broad consensus of attitudes on key issues. He made it his stated policy nearly three months ago.

GOALS OF AMERICANS

Addressing the graduating class at the University of Texas, Johnson said the American people share the same deep desires—for peace, justice and a better life.

"This is the real voice of America," he asserted. "And it is one of the great tasks of political leadership to make our people aware of this voice, aware that they share a fundamental unity of interest and purpose and belief."

PREPARE SPEECH

This was a prepared-in-advance speech, which added something to the significance of his next words:

"I am going to try and do this. And on the basis of this unity, I intend to try and achieve a broad national consensus which can end obstruction and paralysis, and can liberate the energies of the nation for the work of the future."

However, lest anyone get the idea from this that Johnson plans a nonpartisan campaign, it is well to recall his off-the-cuff remarks at a Democratic fund-raising dinner in Minneapolis, Minn., on June 27.

WORLD BUSINESS

From the moment he became president last Nov. 22 upon the assassination of John F. Kennedy, Johnson has energetically sought the backing of all segments of the populace.

More than any Democrat in recent decades, Johnson has achieved a signal success in wooing influential business leaders. Henry Ford II is a notable example. This auto magnate never before backed a Democrat for the presidency, but he's backing Johnson.

Any attempt to build a consensus inevitably involves a delicate balancing act — something at which Johnson is an old hand.

HAS LOST FRIENDS

But if Johnson now has friends that would have seemed unlikely nine months ago, he also has lost friends.

Although his steadfast support for the civil rights cause has cost him some support, he is counting on his personal assessment that the ideal of racial justice is supported by the great majority of voters. And he rarely fails to appeal directly to those who resist the idea.

Racial justice is a key goal of Johnson's Great Society which, he says, would bring "abundance and liberty for all."

The Great Society also represents the better life—"a place where every family has a roof over its head, a rug on the floor, a picture on the wall and a little music in the house."

ANTIPOVERTY PLAN

And he is deeply committed to his antipoverty program which Goldwater has labeled a vote-getting scheme. There are other Great Society proposals, too, that surely will be debated during the campaign: health insurance for the aged, aid to education, expanded minimum wage coverage; in fact, a broad gamut of social measures. And the Republicans have made it clear that they will be talking about foreign policy.

Greater stress on economy in government is one of the personal touches that Johnson has added to the program he inherited from Kennedy. The poverty program also was fashioned under his direction.

RAIL STRIKE ISSUE

He undertook at least one other major initiative in the domestic field: his efforts, successful against great odds, to avert the threat of a national rail strike last winter.

Yet Johnson has expended most of his energy in behalf of inherited measures: the biggest tax cut in history, the broadest civil rights law in a century and a variety of lesser items.

For the early enactment of these, Johnson can claim much of the credit.

In foreign affairs, Johnson swung into 1964 promising an "unrelenting peace offensive." This has yet to bear significant fruit. At midyear, he spent a lot of time trying to avert war over Cyprus between Greece and Turkey.

And, throughout the year, he wrestled with other crises — and more ominous ones — in Laos and Viet Nam, as well as flare-ups in Panama and Cuba.

SIGNS OF CHANGE

Have nine months in the White House changed Lyndon B. Johnson? There are small signs of change.

Johnson's oft-repeated rallying cry during the early months — "I need your help" — has been muted of late. Whether this reflects a more sure-footed Johnson or simply the passing of a time of national crisis isn't entirely clear.

In one respect, Johnson almost surely has changed. He seems less sensitive to press criticism than was the case earlier in the year.

Johnson's progress has been on and off since he first went to Washington in 1931 as secretary to a Texas House member.

FAMILY SUCCESS

And success has followed him in his private life. He and his family have managed to amass a fortune listed at $3,484,000. The figure comes from a report drawn up at his direction by an accounting firm. Published estimates of the Johnson family fortune have ranged as high as $14 million.

Some Republican campaigners are focusing on these figures. And some of them have been hearkening to Johnson's ties with Bobby Baker, his old friend and onetime protégé whose financial dealings have been castigated by Senate investigators.

MODEST START

Johnson was not born to wealth. And he likes to remind audiences of his modest beginnings. He talks often about being the son of a tenant farmer, usually failing to mention that his father also was a school teacher and five-term member of the Texas Legislature.

Johnson sees himself as a man of the people who understands their needs and wants and who can lead them into the Promised Land of the Great Society.

Roll out baking powder biscuit dough thin; cut into rounds. Spread surface with melted butter and fold over; press together the edges. Bake as usual and serve with butter.

A Lovelier You

By MARY SUE MILLER

ing traits that you just naturally respond to her. She's irresistible!

Aside from a winsome expression, a smile requires the backdrop of sparkling clean teeth. It is interesting to note that even prehistoric people sensed the need for cleanliness, and fashioned crude brushes of twigs and leaves. How astonished they would be at our automatic brushes, with attachments for gum massage and stain removal.

Modern dental science surely has brought us closer to gleaming teeth, with fewer cavities and gum problems. If, that is, we follow the prescribed home-care.

For the prevention of cavities and gum recession, the teeth must be brushed after meals whenever possible. For brushing removes the food particles that harbor bacteria and tartar, the respective cause of cavities and gum irritations.

Identifices with antibacterial or tooth-decay formulas provide additional protection. The correct way to brush is from gum margins to biting edge and then across the biting surface. Haphazard motions are ineffective and can be injurious to the gum tissues.

Another rule for the maintenance of healthy teeth and gums is a balanced diet. Teeth are most intolerant of calcium or vitamin B and C deficiencies. Regular visits to your dentist, of course, are the best safeguards for your smile.

Prison Escapee Is Held On New Count

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP)—Thomas B. Goodman, a 25-year-old escapee from the Bucks County, Pa. jail, was ordered held Wednesday for grand jury action on a charge of raping a 14-year-old girl.

City police arrested Goodman, also known as James Robert Goodman of Doylestown, Pa., Aug. 23 after the girl said she was attacked while walking along a city street.

Goodman escaped from the Pennsylvania jail July 14. The 1963 airline payload was 2,836,432 passengers — a feat that the Mayflower, remaining constantly under sail, would have needed 5,056 years to accomplish.

Weary Negro Seamstress, Too Tired To Move, Sparked Montgomery Bus Boycott

By A. F. MAHAN

DETROIT (AP)—In the rash of headlines over passage of the Civil Rights Act, over deaths in Mississippi and riots in Harlem, over sit-ins and stall-ins and the white backlash, perhaps few people today, white or Negro, remember a December evening on a Montgomery bus.

And yet the American Negro may have traveled farther and faster that night in Alabama than he did on the long road up from slavery or on the short dramatic march down Pennsylvania and Constitution Avenues in Washington, D.C., last summer.

Even today, nine years later, the details of that evening are so lacking in drama and emotion content as to seem hardly the stuff of which history is made.

SEAMSTRESS HEADS HOME

It was shortly after 5:30 p.m. and getting dark when seamstress Rosa Parks put aside a pile of new suits waiting alterations at her work bench in the Montgomery Fair department store and walked a weary half-block to the bus stop on Court Square.

She boarded the bus and took a seat about halfway down in the first seat behind the forward section reserved for white people. As was the prevailing custom and law at the time, Negroes yielded their seats and moved progressively toward the rear as more seats were needed to accommodate white patrons.

Rosa Parks paid no attention that particular evening to the other passengers. The white section wasn't full yet and her thoughts were of home, 15 minutes away, where her husband, Raymond, a barber, was busy getting together dinner.

WHITES BOARD BUS

The first stop brought an influx of passengers who dutifully sorted themselves out in the bus, the Negroes crowding into the cluster of standees at the rear and the whites filling in the last seats in the section marked reserved for them.

Rosa Parks' thoughts were still miles from that crowded bus aisle when a white man came aboard at the next stop and stood behind the driver. The next thing she can remember is the heavy-set driver twisting around and addressing her and the other three Negroes in the first seats of the colored section: "Let me have those front seats."

For a moment, no one moved. Maybe, like her, the others weren't listening too attentively. "You better make it light on yourselves and get up," the driver advised.

FAILED TO MOVE

Then two Negroes across the aisle retreated to the rear, and the Negro at the window seat next to Rosa Parks stood up and she let him go by.

Even today, Mrs. Parks doesn't know exactly why she didn't move, why she kept her seat and set off the Montgomery bus strike that, in reality, launched the activist civil rights movement.

"I simply didn't think I should have to get up and stand in the back after I was there already," she said. She recalled the incident with a lingering trace of awe, as if it had happened to someone else. "It was one of those things that grow on you. They were killing people and burning churches, same as now."

LIVES IN DETROIT

A slender woman with grey-flecked hair, Mrs. Parks lives in Detroit now, many miles away from Montgomery, Ala., but not so many days distant from that Dec. 1, 1955, evening when she refused to move to the back of the bus.

From her defiant stand sprung the Montgomery bus boycott, the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr.'s famed "walk to freedom" and a whole series of nonviolent demonstrations that swept northward and westward across the nation.

Two years after that incident on the Montgomery bus, Mrs. Parks moved to Detroit to be with her mother, Leona McCauley, and her brother, who works in an automobile factory. The decision, she said, had nothing to do with the Montgomery boycott. Soon after she arrived her husband found a job as a barber. She did sewing and alteration work at home for a time, but recently found a dressmaking job in a small factory.

"I don't feel a great deal of difference here, personally," she said in an interview. "Housing segregation is just as bad, and it seems more noticeable in the large cities. There is so much gradualism, I'm in favor of any move to show that we are dissatisfied and still haven't received our rights as citizens."

Mrs. Parks, 51, has not given up the fight. She is vice president of her block club, which is dedicated to cultural and neighborhood improvements and planning a youth program that includes recreation and job guidance.

Looking back now, at that December evening in the bus and her subsequent arrest, on how the Negro ministers flocked behind Dr. King and rallied the Negro community with thousands of pamphlets, on how the majority of Montgomery's Negroes walked to work for 831 days until the bus segregation system collapsed. On the $10 fine and court costs that she never paid, Rosa Parks had no regret whatsoever.

"It brought change," she said, "and any change is better than none at all."

BOYLE'S Grab Bag

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—It is a truism of our times that the sexes are getting more alike in America.

As a matter of fact, it is getting harder and harder to tell them apart.

In the Middle Ages there was no such problem. If a creature had long hair and wore a long dress, it was a woman. If it had on a suit of metal and clanked when it walked, it was a man. Each could tell the sex of the other on sight.

MORE PUZZLING

But since knighthood no longer is in flower, the identity of the sexes has become more puzzling. The spread of the equal rights movement and the rise of the togetherness cult have so intermingled the historic roles of men and women that both have become somewhat confused.

Women and men now work at the same jobs. They play the same sports. They dress alike, particularly in their youthful years, and they talk about the same things.

As an inevitable result, they look more alike. As a matter of fact, teen-agers now look so much alike that only their own parents can tell which is son, which is daughter.

HARD TO TELL

But it is almost as hard to tell Pop from Mom when both put on slacks to go golfing, or Grandpa from Grandma when they dress up in old clothes to go fishing.

What we need is a kind of Baedeker of Sex to tell the genders apart. Here are a few ways it still can be done:

If it smiles when you address it as "Ma'am," it is feminine. If it grunts and growls, it is masculine.

If it strikes a kitchen match on the seat of its trousers, it's a him. If it waits coyly for you to light its cigarette, it's a her. If it takes off its shoes at the

OLD MOSQUES CRUMBLE, USED AS POOL HALLS

By JOHN BEST

CANADIAN Press Correspondent TASHKENT, U.S.S.R. (AP)—The crumbling or converted mosque is a symbol in Uzbekistan, which with 10 million people is the most populous of the four Soviet republics of Central Asia.

Women were in the background in Moslem times. Now they represent a vital component of Uzbekistan's labor force.

The official Communist Party line is that most people have abandoned religion because of social and economic progress, plus expansion of public education.

"But a certain section of the population continues to profess Islam and freely performs all religious rites," says official literature.

CONVERT BUILDINGS

The laws of the republic ostensibly provide for freedom of religion and freedom of antireligious propaganda. But it is to see which has had the most powerful impact. You find decaying mosques, it's a woman. If it gets down on its hands and knees and starts looking for the shoes, it's a man.

OTHER SIGNS

Does it do its fair share of pushing while going through a revolving door? It's a gentleman for sure. Does it leap in front of you and grab the taxi you just flagged down? It's a lady — every time.

If it brags about the steaks it cooked in the backyard, it's a man. If it dimples when you praise the roast it cooks indoors, it's a woman.

If it wears a red ribbon in its hair, it's a lass. If it combs its hair like the north end of a duck going south, it's a lad.

WRITERS AND READERS

If you go to the supermarket, the one that pushes the loaded cart is the mister. The missus is the one that holds up the line at the checkout counter as she fumbles through the wilderness of her purse.

If you open the door to it and it tries to sell you a box of cookies, it's a Girl Scout. If it helps old ladies across a street, it's a Boy Scout.

Does it bring its paycheck home in its mouth? It's a man. Does it think money grows on trees? It's a woman.

If it writes newspaper columns such as this, it's a him. If it reads columns such as this and loses its temper, it's a her.

Church Prexy Warns About Worshipping "Small" God

COLLEGEVILLE, Pa. (AP)—The president of the United Church Board for World Ministries has warned church members against worshipping an "all Caucasian, Anglo-Saxon, middle class Protestant God" who is "conservative politically and isolationist internationally."

The Rev. Dr. William C. Nelson, head of the board and minister of Trinity United Church of Christ, Akron, Ohio, made the comment Wednesday at the opening session of a five-day conference on developments and needs in overseas missions.

He told 45 missionaries from five continents that "there is much tragic evidence that many who are frightened and unable to cope with the human situation of today are being captured and lulled into a false sense of security by what is superficial, cynical, self-centered, spectacular, crude and emotion-charged."

"MINISTRY OF DEPTH"

He warned that although the power for good is now at its all-time peak, "forces for diabolical cruelty and inhuman treatment of one's fellow man have never been more intricately and adequately developed than now."

Dr. Nelson said it is at this point that the Christian faith can provide "a ministry of depth to meet the needs of people who desperately seek something more satisfying than this mixed-up world can give."

He said people seeking a sign before turning to the church will be disappointed, adding: "No sign can make a man believe when he does not recognize the evidence before his eyes—changed lives, a provident nature the dedication of a nurse in the hovels of Calcutta or a teacher in an illiterate Turkish village."

He called the human situation depressing but added there are still signs of hope.

"Through history it has always been the small minority who gladly suffer and witness for His sake who become the instruments of God to save the world," he said.

TO ESTABLISH PALATE CLINIC

WASHINGTON (AP)—The nation's largest clinical research center for study of cleft lip and palate will be established at the Lancaster Cleft Palate clinic in Lancaster, Pa., it was announced today.

Surgeon Gen. Luther L. Terry of the Public Health Service said the center will be established under a grant from the National Institute of Dental Health of $428,642 for the first year of a projected 7-year study.

Dr. Herbert K. Cooper, founder and director of the clinic, will conduct the comprehensive research program, studying both origin and treatment of the oral birth defect.

Cooper will head a scientific team which will probe factors that may cause cleft palate and cleft lip, evaluate various procedures to correct the deformity and improve speech, and test the psychological effects on patients and their families.

Once in every 800 births, a facial cleft occurs. In this common birth abnormality, all or part of the solid surface of the roof of the mouth is lacking. Eating, breathing, and talking become difficult, and dental development and hearing are usually affected.

One of the top basketball teams in Baltimore's Cloverdale League is the Maryland Penitentiary team. Their star is Ed Butler who never played the game before, reports the National Basketball Association.

Johnson Will Seek Role Of "People's Candidate"

By FRANK CORMIER
ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—Lyndon B. Johnson, who often refers to himself as "president of all the people," now wants to be candidate of all the people.

Any attempt to assess the campaign tactics of the just-nominated Democratic standard bearer is apt to founder unless weighed against Johnson's aim to claim the broad middle ground on the political battlefield and appeal to just about everyone.

In his contest with Sen. Barry Goldwater, Johnson will try to picture the Republican presidential nominee as being far removed from the mainstream of American political thought.

As Senate Democratic leader and during nine months as president, he has sought to represent a broad consensus of attitudes on the issues. He made it his stated policy nearly three months ago.

GOALS OF AMERICANS
Addressing the graduating class at the University of Texas, Johnson said the American people share the same deep desires—for peace, justice and a better life.

"This is the real voice of America," he asserted. "And it is one of the great tasks of political leadership to make our people aware of this voice, aware that they share a fundamental unity of interest and purpose and belief."

PREPARE SPEECH
This was a prepared-in-advance speech, which added something to the significance of his next words:

"I am going to try and do this. And on the basis of this unity, I intend to try and achieve a broad national consensus which can end obstruction and paralysis, and can liberate the energies of the nation for the work of the future."

However, lest anyone get the idea from this that Johnson plans a nonpartisan campaign, it is well to recall his off-the-cuff remarks at a Democratic fund-raising dinner in Minneapolis, Minn., on June 27.

WORLD BUSINESS
From the moment he became president last Nov. 22 upon the assassination of John F. Kennedy, Johnson has energetically sought the backing of all segments of the populace.

More than any Democrat in recent decades, Johnson has achieved a signal success in wooing influential business leaders. Henry Ford II is a notable example. This auto magnate never before backed a Democrat for the presidency, but he's backing Johnson.

Any attempt to build a consensus inevitably involves a delicate balancing act — something at which Johnson is an old hand.

HAS LOST FRIENDS
But if Johnson now has friends that would have seemed unlikely nine months ago, he also has lost friends.

Although his steadfast support for the civil rights cause has cost him some support, he is counting on his personal assessment that the ideal of racial justice is supported by the great majority of voters. And he rarely fails to appeal directly to those who resist the idea.

Racial justice is a key goal of Johnson's Great Society which, he says, would bring "abundance and liberty for all."

The Great Society also represents the better life—"a place where every family has a roof over its head, a rug on the floor, a picture on the wall and a little music in the house."

ANTIPOVERTY PLAN
And he is deeply committed to his antipoverty program which Goldwater has labeled a vote-getting scheme. There are other Great Society proposals, too, that surely will be debated during the campaign: health insurance for the aged, aid to education, expanded minimum wage coverage; in fact, a broad gamut of social measures. And the Republicans have made it clear that they will be talking about foreign policy.

Greater stress on economy in government is one of the personal touches that Johnson has added to the program he inherited from Kennedy. The poverty program also was fashioned under his direction.

RAIL STRIKE ISSUE
He undertook at least one other major initiative in the domestic field: his efforts, successful against great odds, to avert the threat of a national rail strike last winter.

Yet Johnson has expended most of his energy in behalf of inherited measures: the biggest tax cut in history, the broadest civil rights law in a century and a variety of lesser items.

For the early enactment of these, Johnson can claim much of the credit.

In foreign affairs, Johnson swung into 1964 promising an "unrelenting peace offensive." This has yet to bear significant fruit. At midyear, he spent a lot of time trying to avert war over Cyprus between Greece and Turkey.

And, throughout the year, he wrestled with other crises — in Laos and Viet Nam, as well as flare-ups in Panama and Cuba.

SIGNS OF CHANGE
Have nine months in the White House changed Lyndon Baines Johnson? There are small signs of change.

Johnson's oft-repeated rallying cry during the early months — "I need your help" — has been muted of late. Whether this reflects a more sure-footed Johnson or simply the passing of a time of national crisis isn't entirely clear.

In one respect, Johnson almost surely has changed. He seems less sensitive to press criticism than was the case earlier in the year.

Johnson's progress has been onward and upward since he first went to Washington in 1931 as secretary to a Texas House member.

FAMILY SUCCESS
And success has followed him in his private life. He and his family have managed to amass a fortune listed at $3,484,000. The figure comes from a report drawn up at his direction by an accounting firm. Published estimates of the Johnson family fortune have ranged as high as $14 million.

Some Republican campaigners are focusing on these figures. And some of them have been hearkening to Johnson's ties with Bobby Baker, his old friend and onetime protégé whose financial dealings have been castigated by Senate investigators.

MODEST START
Johnson was not born to wealth. And he likes to remind audiences of his modest beginnings. He talks often about being the son of a tenant farmer, usually failing to mention that his father also was a school-teacher and five-term member of the Texas Legislature.

Johnson sees himself as a man of the people who understands their needs and wants and who can lead them into the Promised Land of the Great Society.

A Lovelier You

By MARY SUE MILLER

ing traits that you just naturally respond to her. She's irresistible!

Aside from a winsome expression, a smile requires the backdrop of sparkling clean teeth. It is interesting to note that even prehistoric people sensed the need for cleanliness, and fashioned crude brushes of twigs and leaves. How astonished they would be at our automatic brushes, with attachments for gum massage and stain removal.

Modern dental science surely has brought us closer to gleaming teeth, with fewer cavities and gum problems. If, that is, we follow the prescribed home-care.

Dentifrices with antibacterial or tooth-decay formulas provide additional protection. The correct way to brush is from gum margins to biting edge and then across the biting surface. Haphazard motions are ineffective and can be injurious to the gum tissues.

Another rule for the maintenance of healthy teeth and gums is a balanced diet. Teeth are most intolerant of calcium or vitamin B and C deficiencies. Regular visits to your dentist, of course, are the best safeguards for your smile.

Prison Escapee Is Held On New Count

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP) — Thomas B. Goodman, a 25-year-old escapee from the Bucks County, Pa. jail, was ordered held Wednesday for grand jury action on a charge of raping a 14-year-old girl.

City police arrested Goodman, also known as James Robert Goodwin of Doylestown, Pa., Aug. 23 after the girl said she was attacked while walking along a city street.

Goodman escaped from the Pennsylvania jail July 14.

The 1963 airline payload was 2,836,432 passengers — a feat that the Mayflower, remaining constantly under sail, would have needed 5,056 years to accomplish.

Weary Negro Seamstress, Too Tired To Move, Sparked Montgomery Bus Boycott

By A. F. MAHAN
DETROIT (AP) — In the rash of headlines over passage of the Civil Rights Act, over deaths in Mississippi and riots in Harlem, over sit-ins and stall-ins and the white backlash, perhaps few people today, white or Negro, remember a December evening on a Montgomery bus.

And yet the American Negro may have traveled farther and faster that night in Alabama than he did on the long road up from slavery or on the short dramatic march down Pennsylvania and Constitution Avenues in Washington, D.C., last summer.

Even today, nine years later, the details of that evening are so lacking in drama and emotion content as to seem hardly the stuff of which history is made.

SEAMSTRESS HEADS HOME
It was shortly after 5:30 p.m. and getting dark when seamstress Rosa Parks put aside a pile of new suits waiting alterations at her work bench in the Montgomery Fair department store and walked a weary half-block to the bus stop on Court Square.

She boarded the bus and took a seat about halfway down in the first seat behind the forward section reserved for white people. As was the prevailing custom and law at the time, Negroes yielded their seats and moved progressively toward the rear as more seats were needed to accommodate white patrons.

Rosa Parks paid no attention that particular evening to the other passengers. The white section wasn't full yet and her thoughts were of home, 15 minutes away, where her husband, Raymond, a barber, was busy getting together dinner.

WHITES BOARD BUS

The first stop brought an influx of passengers who dutifully sorted themselves out in the bus, the Negroes crowding into the cluster of standees at the rear and the whites filling in the last seats in the section marked reserved for them.

Rosa Park's thoughts were still miles from that crowded bus aisle when a white man came aboard at the next stop and stood behind the driver. The next thing she can remember is the heavy-set driver twisting around and addressing her and the other three Negroes in the first seats of the colored section: "Let me have those front seats."

For a moment, no one moved. Maybe, like her, the others weren't listening too attentively.

"You better make it light on yourselves and get up," the driver advised.

FAILED TO MOVE

Then two Negroes across the aisle retreated to the rear, and the Negro at the window seat next to Rosa Parks stood up and she let him go by.

Even today, Mrs. Parks doesn't know exactly why she didn't move, why she kept her seat and set off the Montgomery bus strike that, in reality, launched the activist civil rights movement.

"I simply didn't think I should have to get up and stand in the back after I was there already," she said. She recalled the incident with a lingering trace of awe, as if it had happened to someone else. "It was one of those things that grow on you. They were killing people and burning churches, same as now."

LIVES IN DETROIT

A slender woman with grey-flecked hair, Mrs. Parks lives in Detroit now, many miles away from Montgomery, Ala., but not so many days distant from that Dec. 1, 1955, evening when she refused to move to the back of the bus.

From her defiant stand sprung the Montgomery bus boycott, the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr.'s famed "walk to free-

OLD MOSQUES CRUMBLE, USED AS POOL HALLS

By JOHN BEST
Canadian Press Correspondent
TASHKENT, U.S.S.R. (AP) — The crumbling or converted mosque is a symbol in Uzbekistan, which with 10 million people is the most populous of the four Soviet republics of Central Asia.

Women were in the background in Moslem times. Now they represent a vital component of Uzbekistan's labor force.

The official Communist Party line is that most people have abandoned religion because of social and economic progress, plus expansion of public education.

"But a certain section of the population continues to profess Islam and freely performs all religious rites," says official literature.

CONVERT BUILDINGS

The laws of the republic ostensibly provide for freedom of religion and freedom of antireligious propaganda. But it's easy to see which has had the most powerful impact. You find decaying and locked-up mosques. Others have been converted into apartment houses, libraries, shopping centers, movies and public monuments.

The term "monument" is sometimes a euphemism. One mosque in Bukhara, described as a monument by the local guide, turns out to be a pool hall.

The authorities say 250 mosques operate in Soviet Central Asia. However, some are only makeshift or part-time ones.

20 MILLION MOSLEMS

While there is no authoritative figure on the number of practicing Moslems in Uzbekistan, one is told there are some 20 million in the U.S.S.R.

Periodically new editions of the koran are published here. In 1956 there was a printing of 4,000 copies and in 1960 one of 5,000.

While most of Uzbekistan's religious training schools have been closed or converted into museums, one still operates, in Bukhara. It has 35 to 40 students.

Vice Premier Sarvar Azimov of Uzbekistan says that when a mosque is closed it is usually at the request of the congregation.

Church Prexy Warns About Worshipping "Small" God

COLLEGEVILLE, Pa. (AP) — The president of the United Church Board for World Ministries has warned church members against worshipping an "all Caucasian, Anglo-Saxon, middle class Protestant God" who is "conservative politically and isolationist internationally."

The Rev. Dr. William C. Nelson, head of the board and minister of Trinity United Church of Christ, Akron, Ohio, made the comment Wednesday at the opening session of a five-day conference on developments and needs in overseas missions.

He told 45 missionaries from five continents that "there is much tragic evidence that many who are frightened and unable to cope with the human situation of today are being captivated and lulled into a false sense of security by what is superficial, cynical, self-centered, spectacular, crude and emotion-charged."

"MINISTRY OF DEPTH"

He warned that although the power for good is now at its all-time peak, "forces for diabolical cruelty and inhuman treatment of one's fellow man have never been more intricately and adequately developed than now."

Dr. Nelson said it is at this point that the Christian faith can provide "a ministry of depth to meet the needs of people who desperately seek something more satisfying than this mixed-up world can give."

He said people seeking a sign before turning to the church will be disappointed, adding:

MINORITY SERVES

"No sign can make a man believe when he does not recognize the evidence before his eyes—changed lives, a provident nature the dedication of a nurse in the hovels of Calcutta or a teacher in an illiterate Turkish village."

He called the human situation depressing but added there are still signs of hope.

"Through history it has always been the small minority who gladly suffer and witness for His sake who become the instruments of God to save the world," he said.

TO ESTABLISH PALATE CLINIC

WASHINGTON (AP)—The nation's largest clinical research center for study of cleft lip and palate will be established at the Lancaster Cleft Palate Clinic in Lancaster, Pa., it was announced today.

Surgeon Gen. Luther L. Terry of the Public Health Service said the center will be established under a grant from the National Institute of Dental Health of $428,642 for the first year of a projected 7-year study.

Dr. Herbert K. Cooper, founder and director of the clinic, will conduct the comprehensive research program, studying both origin and treatment of the oral birth defect.

Cooper will head a scientific team which will probe factors that may cause cleft palate and cleft lip, evaluate various procedures to correct the deformity and improve speech, and test the psychological effects on patients and their families.

Once in every 800 births, a facial cleft occurs. In this common birth abnormality, all or part of the solid surface of the roof of the mouth is lacking. Eating, breathing, and talking become difficult, and dental development and hearing are usually affected.

BOYLE'S
Grab Bag

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — It is a truism of our times that the sexes are getting more alike in America.

As a matter of fact, it is getting harder and harder to tell them apart.

In the Middle Ages there was no such problem. If a creature had long hair and wore a long dress, it was a woman. If it had on a suit of metal and clanked when it walked, it was a man. Each could tell the sex of the other on sight.

MORE PUZZLING

But since knighthood no longer is in flower, the identity of the sexes has become more puzzling. The spread of the equal rights movement and the rise of the togetherness cult have so intermingled the historic roles of men and women that both have become somewhat confused.

Women and men now work at the same jobs. They play the same sports. They dress alike, particularly in their youthful years, and they talk about the same things.

As an inevitable result, they look more alike. As a matter of fact, teen-agers now look so much alike that only their own parents can tell which is son, which is daughter.

HARD TO TELL

But it is almost as hard to tell Pop from Mom when both put on slacks to go golfing, or Grandpa from Grandma when they dress up in old clothes to go fishing.

What we need is a kind of Baedeker of Sex to tell the genders apart. Here are a few ways it still can be done:

If it smiles when you address it as "Ma'am," it is feminine. If it grunts and growls, it is masculine.

If it takes off its shoes at the Pioneer Penologist Leaves Prison Work After 37 Yrs.

By JOSEPH E. MOHBAAT
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Forty-five years of government service and this week for James V. Bennett, renowned penologist and director of the bureau of prisons—a post he has held since 1937.

The gentle, blue-eyed reformer who changed the shape of the American prison system while he strove to change the hearts of its inmates retired Friday on his 70th birthday.

He takes with him the gratitude of hundreds of convicts who found in Bennett more a humanitarian than a custodian.

He saw the danger of idle hands and gave them useful jobs to do.

INSTITUTED REFORMS

He reminded them that they were still human beings by replacing lock-step mess hall lines and bucket feedings with informal table arrangements.

He befriended many and became an easy mark for some who, out of prison, needed a small loan for a grubstake.

"I think I can say modestly that I'm leaving the federal prison system in as good condition as it's ever been," Bennett told a visitor to his pleasant office, with its picture-window view up Capitol Hill to the Taft carillon and the Capitol dome.

"We've overcome a lot of problems. We've got a good program. Every prisoner who wants a job has a job. We're running economically, and the federal prison industries is turning out a good profit. Our personnel are well-trained and improving."

WILL OFFER AID

Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy has said Bennett will continue to be a consultant to the bureau of prisons under his new director, Myrl E. Alexander, a former assistant director.

Why didn't he seek a waiver of the compulsory retirement age, such as President Johnson extended to FBI director J. Edgar Hoover?

"I believe a fellow ought to move on and give his juniors a chance," Bennett said. "You can't hang on indefinitely. This is a hard administrative job; every day there's a crisis. I think perhaps it will be most useful if I take my experiences and make them available to others."

WRITING BOOK

To this end, Bennett is working on a book "dealing with the kinds of prisoners I've known, and their problems, and the general problems of trying to deal fairly with a defendant."

Given enough free time, Bennett added, "I'm still a lawyer, and I might take on a case or two to help put across my point of view."

That point of view, which appears time and again in Bennett's prolific writings on the subject, is that prisons must not stop at being jails. They must strive to their utmost to reconstruct the individuals who are incarcerated and to see to it that these men and women, once turned loose again in society, don't return.

SON OF MINISTER

He speaks with the authority of long years of service in the field. The son of a minister, he was born Aug. 28, 1894, in Silver Creek, N.Y., and was graduated from Brown University in 1918.

The following year he entered government service as an assistant investigator of government efficiency. He progressed through a number of posts including, from 1926 to 1928, that of an investigator of employment policies in federal prisons.

DRAFTED REFORM ACT

Working with a congressional investigation of federal prisons in 1929, he drafted the reform legislation which set up the bureau of prisons as a branch of the Justice Department. He was named assistant director when the bureau was established in 1930.

Since that time, the federal prison system has grown from five installations to 31 with a 22,000 population, 6,000 employees and an annual budget of $70 million.

DIRECTED INDUSTRIES

He instituted Federal Prison Industries, Inc., an inmate-staffed organization which yielded sales of $40 million last year alone. He was in charge of that until he became director of the bureau of prisons in 1937.

Recently Bennett established prerelease guidance centers—known as halfway houses—where youthful offenders serve the last few months of their sentences while working at regular jobs and undergoing counseling to prepare them for a return to society.

"No man is ever really satisfied with the job he's done," Bennett said. "There are always new things to do. But I leave with no regrets."

SOCIAL JUSTICE

It is Bennett's view that prisoners, as much as other Americans, are entitled to society's full measure of justice.

Bennett pushed hard in 1958 for legislation which would authorize federal judges to turn convicted persons over to the prison system for a few months for testing, counseling and examination, before finally deciding on a sentence.

From the moment a prisoner enters the gates, Bennett believes, the prison must begin to prepare him for his return to society.

SCORES INEQUITIES

Tolerant of and kind to his prisoners, Bennett speaks out harshly about inequitable sentencing; the lack of interstate cooperation to build modern, regional prisons; the lack of cooperation between the courts, police and prisons; and the lack of training facilities for those entering prison work.

The men and women now in our prisons are individuals with hearts, lungs and emotions like anyone else," Bennett wrote recently. "To say this is to invite reproach for 'coddling' criminals. . . . But there is a bitter irony in the accusation, for, in fact, the criminal in America is dealt with harshly indeed."

REHABILITATION NEED

"Our criminal laws are the most severe in the world, and our legislative bodies are still at work making them more severe."

"Our prison system will not succeed in permanently 'reforming' larger numbers of their graduates until communities are ready to play a much larger part in the rehabilitation process. And I wish that this problem would attract more serious attention and public discussion than, for example, the perennial emotional debate about capital punishment."

Bennett, by the way, believes the death penalty should be kept on the books for the most heinous crimes, such as acts of high treason, kidnapping of children, airplane and church-school bombings, and murder for hire.

He ranks among his most rewarding accomplishments the shutting down last year of Alcatraz, the maximum security prison on the windswept, bleak island in San Francisco Bay. Not only was it falling apart, he recalls, "but it was time to modify the philosophy under which it was originally established—that the prisoners there had to be the most recalcitrant, serious, incorrigible offenders. There have been some spectacular reformations, by the way, among the men of Alcatraz."

Among his chief satisfactions are the scores of letters and Christmas cards he receives from prisoners and ex-prison-

He points with pride, too, to the declining prison population—at the moment, down 1,359 from a year ago.

"This is partially because of our better relationship with the courts, as far as sentencing is concerned," Bennett said. "And it's also because we're training these fellows to do something with their lives when they get out."

Musical Set New Totem Pole Mark

Rodgers and Hammerstein's "The Sound of Music" set a new record for attendance and gross last week at the Totem Pole Playhouse in Caledonia State Park. The previous record high was held by "Oklahoma," presented in 1962, and was topped earlier this season by "My Fair Lady," but soon after "Fair Lady" opened it was apparent that the R and H musical of the Trapp Family Singers was headed to top that record. During the two-week run, a record crowd of 6,159 people attended the production, or an average of 107 per cent of capacity.

REPEAT FARCE AT ALLENBERRY

In order to compete with the Democratic Convention, the Labor Day weekend and the preparations for the opening of the schools, Richard North Gage, director of the Allenberry Playhouse at Boiling Springs, decided to present this week and next week a very successful farce which he has done before, "Ladies' Night in a Turkish Bath" is literally a "howling" success wherever presented and the audience is still laughing as it leaves the theater.

An excellent cast sparkles in the antics which go on when the men visit the Pagan Revel Club to spite their wives and upon being raided they escape over the roof into the cosmetarium in which ladies in various stages of undress are being made beautiful. David Brubaker and Reginald Rowland Jr., two of the husbands, and Don Draper as the woman-hating Prof. Matthews form the comedy trio. Attractive Yolanda Bartoli and Mary Sullivan play the wives and Robin Nolan, a popular member of the junior staff, plays the lovely young Dottie who is in love with the spider-collecting professor.

Virginia Donaldson as the well dressed mother of the girls has clever lines in her part. Margaret Janney, who has served as assistant to Mr. Gage, and usually plays quiet, dignified roles, surprises the audience with an excellent interpretation of the role of Miss LaBouche, a strip tease artist, in the last act. The actors take it in their stride when the message table suddenly folds up when two of the "visitors" try to hide on it and when the professor inadvertently pulls a strategic tassel from the costume of Miss LaBouche. Those with minor roles join in this loud, fast-moving ridiculous chain of events to make it one of the funniest things Gage has done this year. ETB

New Driver Hits Man On Motorcycle

McSHERRYSTOWN — An accident occurred in front of the Walter pool Wednesday evening at 7:30 p.m. when a motorcycle driven by Brian E. Livelsberger, 17, Hanover R. 4, traveling south on legislative route 5510, and a sedan driven by Charles A. Arigo, 16, Hanover R. 4, traveling north on Second St., met head-on as the Arigo car made a left-hand turn into the path of the motorcycle. Livelsberger was taken to the office of Dr. Anthony Tananis, where he was treated for lacerations of the hands and bruises of the head and body.

Conecago Township Policeman Thomas G. Carbaugh said that damage to the Arigo car was $75 and $150 to the motorcycle. Arigo was issued a driver's license earlier in the day.

Alaska has seven peaks higher than the highest in Europe.

Pioneer Penologist Leaves Prison Work After 37 Yrs.

By JOSEPH E. MOHABAT
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Forty-five years of government service end this week for James V. Bennett, renowned penologist and director of the bureau of prisons—a post he has held since 1937.

The gentle, blue-eyed reformer who changed the shape of the American prison system while he strove to change the hearts of its inmates retires Friday on his 70th birthday.

He takes with him the gratitude of hundreds of convicts who found in Bennett more a humanitarian than a custodian.

He saw the danger of idle hands and gave them useful jobs to do.

INSTITUTED REFORMS

He reminded them that they were still human beings by replacing lock-step mess hall lines and bucket feedings with informal table arrangements.

He befriended many and became an easy mark for some who, out of prison, needed a small loan for a grubstake.

"I think I can say modestly that I'm leaving the federal prison system in as good condition as it's ever been," Bennett told a visitor to his pleasant office, with its picture-window view up Capitol Hill to the Taft carillon and the Capitol dome.

"We've overcome a lot of problems. We've got a good program. Every prisoner who wants a job has a job. We're running economically, and the federal prison industries is turning out a good profit. Our personnel are well-trained and improving."

WILL OFFER AID

Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy has said Bennett will continue to be a consultant to the bureau of prisons under its new director, Myrl E. Alexander, a former assistant director.

Why didn't he seek a waiver of the compulsory retirement age, such as President Johnson extended to FBI director J. Edgar Hoover?

"I believe a fellow ought to move on and give his juniors a chance," Bennett said. "You can't hang on indefinitely. This is a hard administrative job; every day there's a crisis. I think perhaps it will be most useful if I take my experiences and make them available to others."

WRITING BOOK

To this end, Bennett is working on a book "dealing with the kinds of prisoners I've known, and their problems, and the general problems of trying to deal fairly with a defendant."

Given enough free time, Bennett added, "I'm still a lawyer, and I might take on a case or two to help put across my point of view."

That point of view, which appears in time and again in Bennett's prolific writings on the subject, is that prisons must not stop at being jails. They must strive to their utmost to reconstruct the individuals who are incarcerated and to see to it that these men and women, once turned loose again in society, don't return.

SON OF MINISTER

He speaks with the authority of long years of service in the field. The son of a minister, he was born Aug. 28, 1894, in Silver Creek, N.Y., and was graduated from Brown University in 1918.

The following year he entered government service as an assistant investigator of government efficiency. He progressed through a number of posts including, from 1926 to 1928, that of an investigator of employment policies in federal prisons.

DRAFTED REFORM ACT

Working with a congressional investigation of federal prisons in 1929, he drafted the reform legislation which set up the bureau of prisons as a branch of the Justice Department. He was named assistant director when the bureau was established in 1930.

Since that time, the federal prison system has grown from five installations to 31 with a 22,000 population, 6,000 employees and an annual budget of $70 million.

DIRECTED INDUSTRIES

He instituted Federal Prison Industries, Inc., an inmate-staffed organization which yielded sales of $40 million last year alone. He was in charge of that until he became director of the bureau of prisons in 1937.

Recently Bennett established prerelease guidance centers—known as halfway houses—where youthful offenders serve the last few months of their sentences while working at regular jobs and undergoing counseling to prepare them for a return to society.

"No man is ever really satisfied with the job he's done," Bennett said. "There are always new things to do. But I leave with no regrets."

SOCIAL JUSTICE

It is Bennett's view that prisoners, as much as other Americans, are entitled to society's full measure of justice.

Bennett pushed hard in 1958 for legislation which would authorize federal judges to turn convicted persons over to the prison system for a few months for testing, counseling and examination, before finally deciding on a sentence.

From the moment a prisoner enters the gates, Bennett believes, the prison must begin to prepare him for his return to society.

SCORES INEQUITIES

Tolerant of and kind to his prisoners, Bennett speaks out harshly about inequitable sentencing; the lack of interstate cooperation to build modern, regional prisons; the lack of cooperation between the courts, police and prisons, and the lack of training facilities for those entering prison work.

The men and women now in our prisons are individuals with hearts, lungs and emotions like anyone else," Bennett wrote recently. "To say this is to invite reproach for 'coddling' criminals. But there is a bitter irony in the accusation, for, in fact, the criminal in America is dealt with harshly indeed."

REHABILITATION NEED

"Our criminal laws are the most severe in the world, and our legislative bodies are still at work making them more severe."

"Our prison system will not succeed in permanently 'reforming' larger numbers of their graduates until communities are ready to play a much larger part in the rehabilitation process. And I wish that this problem would attract more serious attention and public discussion than, for example, the perennial emotional debate about capital punishment."

Bennett, by the way, believes the death penalty should be kept on the books for the most heinous crimes, such as acts of high treason, kidnapping of children, airplane and church-school bombings, and murder for hire.

He ranks among his most rewarding accomplishments the shutting down last year of Alcatraz, the maximum security prison on the windswept, bleak island in San Francisco Bay. Not only was it falling apart, he recalls, "but it was time to modify the philosophy under which it was originally established—that the prisoners there had to be the most recalcitrant, serious, incorrigible offenders. There have been some spectacular reformations, by the way, among the men of Alcatraz."

Among his chief satisfactions are the scores of letters and Christmas cards he receives from prisoners and ex-prison-

WEDNESDAY'S STARS

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

PITCHING — Buster Narum, Senators, shut out the New York Yankees 2-0 on five hits and now has hurled the only two shutouts by Washington pitchers this season.

BATTING — Gus Triandos, Phillies, slammed two homers as National League leading Philadelphia belted Milwaukee 6-1.

Of late, these letters have expressed regret at his forthcoming retirement.

He points with pride, too, to the declining prison population—at the moment, down 1,359 from a year ago.

"This is partially because of our better relationship with the courts, as far as sentencing is concerned," Bennett said. "And it's also because we're training these fellows to do something with their lives when they get out."

Musical Set New Totem Pole Mark

Rodgers and Hammerstein's "The Sound of Music" set a new record for attendance and gross last week at the Totem Pole Playhouse in Caledonia State Park. The previous record high was held by "Oklahoma," presented in 1962, and was topped earlier this season by "My Fair Lady," but soon after "Fair Lady" opened it was apparent that the R and H musical of the Trapp Family Singers was headed to top that record. During the two-week run, a record crowd of 6,159 people attended the production, or an average of 107 per cent of capacity.

REPEAT FARCE AT ALLENBERRY

In order to compete with the Democratic Convention, the Labor Day weekend and the preparations for the opening of the schools, Richard North Gage, director of the Allenberry Playhouse at Boiling Springs, decided to present this week and next week a very successful farce which he has done before. "Ladies' Night in a Turkish Bath" is literally a "howling" success wherever presented and the audience is still laughing as it leaves the theater.

An excellent cast sparkles in the antics which go on when the men visit the Pagan Revel Club to spite their wives and upon being raided they escape over the roof into the cosmetarium in which ladies in various stages of undress are being made beautiful. David Brubaker and Reginald Rowland Jr., two of the husbands, and Don Draper as the woman-hating Prof. Matthews form the comedy trio. Attractive Yolanda Bartoli and Mary Sullivan play the wives and Robin Nolan, a popular member of the junior staff, plays the lovely young Dottie who is in love with the spider-collecting professor.

Virginia Donaldson as the well dressed mother of the girls has clever lines in her part. Margaret Janney, who has served as assistant to Mr. Gage, and usually plays quiet, dignified roles, surprises the audience with an excellent interpretation of the role of Miss LaBouche, a strip tease artist, in the last act. The actors take it in their stride when the massage table suddenly folds up when two of the "visitors" try to hide on it and when the professor inadvertently pulls a strategic tassel from the costume of Miss LaBouche. Those with minor roles join in this loud, fast-moving ridiculous chain of events to make it one of the funniest things Gage has done this year. ETB

Miss., Alabama Delegates Balk At Signing Pledge

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — Mississippi's delegation is boycotting the Democratic National Convention, declaring it "did not leave the party — it left us."

The Alabama contingent is staying on, despite a ruling it can't participate without signing a party loyalty pledge. Although it got to its feet with other delegations Tuesday night when those who support the party were asked to rise, National Chairman John M. Bailey said as far as he was concerned the Alabama delegates still were not official participants.

As developments involving the two Southern delegations ticked off Tuesday night, hundreds of supporters of the predominantly Negro Mississippi Freedom Democratic Party demonstrated at the Convention Hall after only five of its delegates had gained entrance.

30 FREEDOM DEMOCRATS

By the time the session recessed, some 30 of the Freedom Democrats were in seats in the section reserved for the Mississippi delegation, although only two of the contesting group were entitled to be on the floor.

What happened was this: The credentials committee recommended — and the convention approved — a compromise proposal in the Mississippi contest which would have seated the regular Mississippi delegates, provided they signed a loyalty pledge, and which also would have seated as at-large delegates two of the Negro group.

The regulars balked. In an angry statement drafted in a two-hour caucus, the Mississippi all-white group said that never before had a legally constituted delegation been required to sign such a loyalty pledge.

PROTEST PROPOSAL

They also protested that the proposal would seat an outside pressure group with no legal claim to delegate status.

Three of the regulars — Doug Wynn, Fred Berger and Randy Halladay — signed the loyalty pledge and, after being given credentials, sat down in the Mississippi section.

However, after the first group of five Negroes arrived, the three regulars arose and departed.

Actually, only two of the group — Aaron Henry of Clarksdale and the Rev. Edwin King of Tougaloo — were entitled to seats under the convention decision.

DECISION TO WITHDRAW

The Mississippi decision to withdraw was announced by Jack Pittman of Hattiesburg. "The Mississippi Democratic delegation did not leave the party — it left us," he said.

One delegate, who declined to give his name, said he intends to return to Mississippi and support Sen. Barry Goldwater, the Republican presidential nominee.

GOV. JOHNSON

Gov. Paul Johnson said in Jackson, Miss., that under no circumstance now will he support President Johnson.

The Freedom Democrats, in contesting for the seats, contended that the regulars intended to reconvene the state Democratic convention on Sept. 9 and endorse Goldwater.

The regulars charged that the Freedom party was a rump group, an outside pressure group and had absolutely no legal right to represent the state party.

AUTO WORKERS PLAN TO STRIKE AT CHRYSLER

DETROIT (AP) — The United Auto Workers Union has singled out Chrysler Corp. as its No. 1 strike target in efforts to secure new contracts for the nation's half-million auto plant workers.

UAW President Walter Reuther told newsmen Wednesday night that the walkout at Chrysler would begin at 10 a.m. Sept. 9 if no settlement is forthcoming by that time.

Reuther said Chrysler, General Motors and Ford — the auto industry's Big Three — all had adopted a "narrow, selfish attitude" in negotiations and are denying workers their fair share of record-breaking profits.

LABOR DAY DEADLINE

The union's contracts with all three firms expire Monday, but Reuther said the strike deadline was set beyond Labor Day to allow several extra days at the bargaining table in efforts to avoid a walkout.

President Johnson is expected to open his campaign in Detroit's Cadillac Square on Labor Day.

Observers have pointed out that with a auto strike in progress, the President might have found such an appearance before a labor rally to be embarrassing.

Reuther visited President Johnson in the White House Wednesday, but he denied that the President's Labor Day plans had any influence on the decision to set Sept. 9 — two days after the holiday — as the strike date.

Pointing out that Chrysler is the nation's seventh largest corporation, Reuther said the firm was selected because it had what he termed "a economic and moral obligation" to repay the UAW for 1961 contract concessions.

At that time, he contended, Chrysler was in deep financial trouble and there was a question of whether the company was going to survive.

Chrysler is now the second most profitable company in the auto industry, Reuther said, earning $114.4 million after taxes during the first six months of this year. This, he said, was a 26 per cent return on its investment.

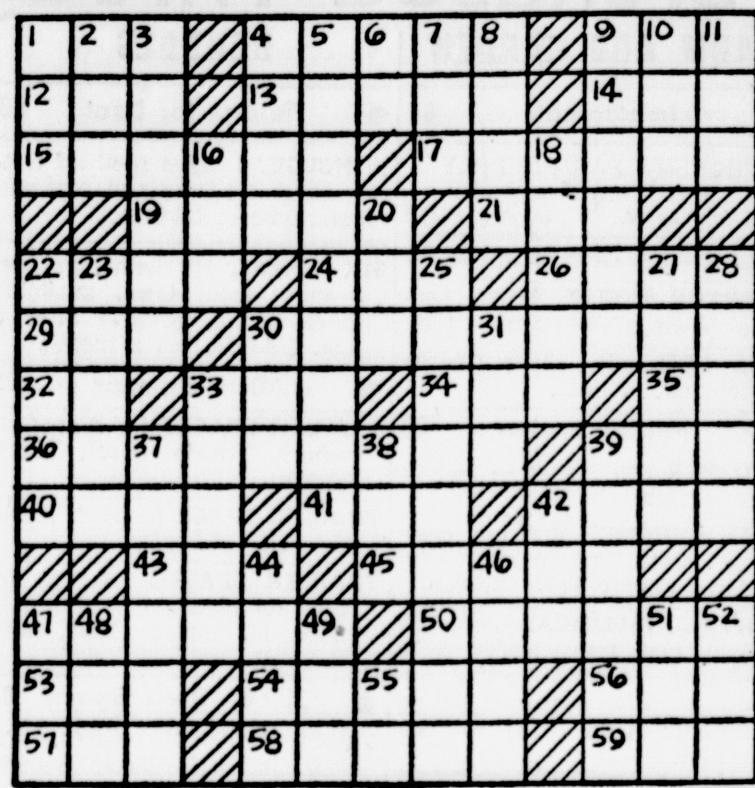

'HEALTHY' MAN MAY BE VICTIM OF MANY ILLS

BURLINGTON, Vt. (AP) — The man who goes to a doctor and finds out that there's nothing wrong with him, that "it's all in your mind" is liable to be in real trouble. He may be tangled up "in the nutcracker syndrome."

Dr. Joseph B. Wolfe, director of the Valley Forge Medical Center and Heart Hospital, Norristown, Pa., told scientists and doctors Wednesday the nutcracker syndrome is a term coined to describe a group of diseases resulting from inseparable conflicting interests.

Dr. Wolfe said the man who

MUSMANNO DID NOT TAKE JOB AS ALTERNATE

ATLANTIC CITY (AP) — Justice Michael A. Musmanno of the Pennsylvania Supreme Court has disclosed that he did not accept selection as an alternate to the Democratic National Convention.

Musmanno pulled a newsman aside Wednesday night and said he returned the alternate's credentials, with a letter of withdrawal, to state chairman Otis B. Morse on Monday.

The delegation had agreed at its Sunday night caucus to select Musmanno to fill one of several vacancies.

KEPT TICKETS

Musmanno said he explained in the letter to Morse that he had no desire to be an alternate delegate, that all he wanted was tickets to attend the convention as an observer.

The jurist said he kept the guest tickets accompanying the credentials, but did not take a seat in the alternate delegate section.

Musmanno said he wanted to set the record straight because of a newspaper editorial critical of his becoming a delegate to a political convention while sitting on the bench.

HAD FEW SIGNS

John R. Torquato, Cambria County Democratic chairman, and Paul McGinty of Silver Spring, Md., and formerly of Olyphant, joined in waving Pennsylvania's identification standard during the tumultuous demonstration for President Johnson.

However, most of the Pennsylvania delegates had to be content with cheering and hand-clapping. The delegation's section had only a dozen hastily produced signs. None were provided for the Pennsylvanians, while other state delegates waved numerous and elaborate banners.

A delegation official said there were no signs because of an oversight. He promised there would be some for tonight's concluding session.

Simon Kelly, a delegate from goes to his doctor and, because he does not reveal his troubled life in a brief interview, is told his illness is psychosomatic is out on a limb.

He added: "In the absence of laboratory findings denoting organic diseases the condition is diagnosed as psychosomatic. In informing the family to that effect, insult is added to injury. The patient is left in the precarious position of having found out what is not wrong with him. Where does he go from here?"

Bethlehem, apparently was overcome with exhaustion during one demonstration. He became unconscious and was taken to Atlantic City Hospital, but doctors said they could find nothing wrong with him. He was described as in good condition early today, after being admitted for observation.

POLICE PROBE YOUTH'S DEATH

CLAYTON, N. J. (AP) — Local police pressed the investigation today into a threatened gang fight at Lake Wilson, a resort, which led to the death of a 16-year-old youth.

Clayton patrolman Jack Rudolph said the victim was Louis Tarantelli of Lake Gilman, N.J., who apparently was hit by two or more autos. Rudolph said Tarantelli's body was dragged by an auto more than 350 feet from the lake entrance.

Rudolph said about 50 boys from throughout Gloucester County, N.J., and Philadelphia area communities gathered Wednesday night at the lake, apparently to continue a fight that broke out the night before at a dance in Mullica Hill.

Police were called and broke it up before fighting began. Local police units throughout the county stopped various vehicles, and about 20 boys were picked up for questioning.

Rudolph said one driver, Lyle Bray, 18, of Sewell, N.J., said he accidentally hit Tarantelli, who apparently had already been hit and was lying in a road. Rudolph said Bray said he had not been involved in the threatened fight.

No other injuries were reported.

Miss., Alabama Delegates Balk At Signing Pledge

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—Mississippi's delegation is boycotting the Democratic National Convention, declaring it "did not leave the party — it left us."

The Alabama contingent is staying on, despite a ruling it can't participate without signing a party loyalty pledge. Although it got to its feet with other delegations Tuesday night when those who support the party were asked to rise, National Chairman John M. Bailey said as far as he was concerned the Alabama still were not official participants.

As developments involving the two Southern delegations ticked off Tuesday night, hundreds of supporters of the predominantly Negro Mississippi Freedom Democratic Party demonstrated at the Convention Hall after only five of its delegates had gained entrance.

30 FREEDOM DEMOCRATS

By the time the session recessed, some 30 of the Freedom Democrats were in seats in the section reserved for the Mississippi delegation, although only two of the contesting group were entitled to be on the floor.

What happened was this: The credentials committee recommended — and the convention approved — a compromise proposal in the Mississippi contest which would have seated the regular Mississippi delegates, provided they signed a loyalty pledge, and which also would have seated as at-large delegates two of the Negro group.

The regulars balked. In an angry statement drafted in a two-hour caucus, the Mississippi all-white group said that never before had a legally constituted delegation been required to sign such a loyalty pledge.

PROTEST PROPOSAL

They also protested that the proposal would seat an outside pressure group with no legal claim to delegate status.

Three of the regulars — Doug Wynn, Fred Berger and Randy Halladay — signed the loyalty pledge and, after being given credentials, sat down in the Mississippi section.

DECISION TO WITHDRAW

The Mississippi decision to withdraw was announced by Jack Pittman of Hattiesburg. "The Mississippi Democratic delegation did not leave the party — it left us," he said.

GOV. JOHNSON

Gov. Paul Johnson said in Jackson, Miss., that under no circumstance now will he support President Johnson.

The Freedom Democrats, in contesting for the seats, contended that the regulars intended to reconvene the state Democratic convention on Sept. 9 and to endorse Goldwater.

The regulars charged that the Freedom party was a rump group, an outside pressure group and had absolutely no legal right to represent the state party.

AUTO WORKERS PLAN TO STRIKE AT CHRYSLER

DETROIT (AP)—The United Auto Workers Union has singled out Chrysler Corp. as its No. 1 strike target in efforts to secure new contracts for the nation's half-million auto plant workers.

UAW President Walter Reuther told newsmen Wednesday night that the walkout at Chrysler would begin at 10 a.m. Sept. 9 if no settlement is forthcoming by that time.

Reuther said Chrysler, General Motors and Ford — the auto industry's Big Three — all had adopted a "narrow, selfish attitude" in negotiations and are denying workers their fair share of record-breaking profits.

LABOR DAY DEADLINE

The union's contracts with all three firms expire Monday, but Reuther said the strike deadline was set beyond Labor Day to allow several extra days at the bargaining table in efforts to avoid a walkout.

President Johnson is expected to open his campaign in Detroit's Cadillac Square on Labor Day.

Observers have pointed out that with a auto strike in progress, the President might have found such an appearance before a labor rally to be embarrassing.

Reuther visited President Johnson in the White House Wednesday, but he denied that the President's Labor Day plans had any influence on the decision to set Sept. 9 — two days after the holiday — as the strike date.

Pointing out that Chrysler is the nation's seventh largest corporation, Reuther said the firm was selected because it had what he termed "a economic and moral obligation" to repay the UAW for 1961 contract concessions.

At that time, he contended, Chrysler was in deep financial trouble and there was a question of whether the company was going to survive.

Chrysler is now the second most profitable company in the auto industry, Reuther said, earning $114.4 million after taxes during the first six months of this year. This, he said, was a 26 per cent return on its investment.

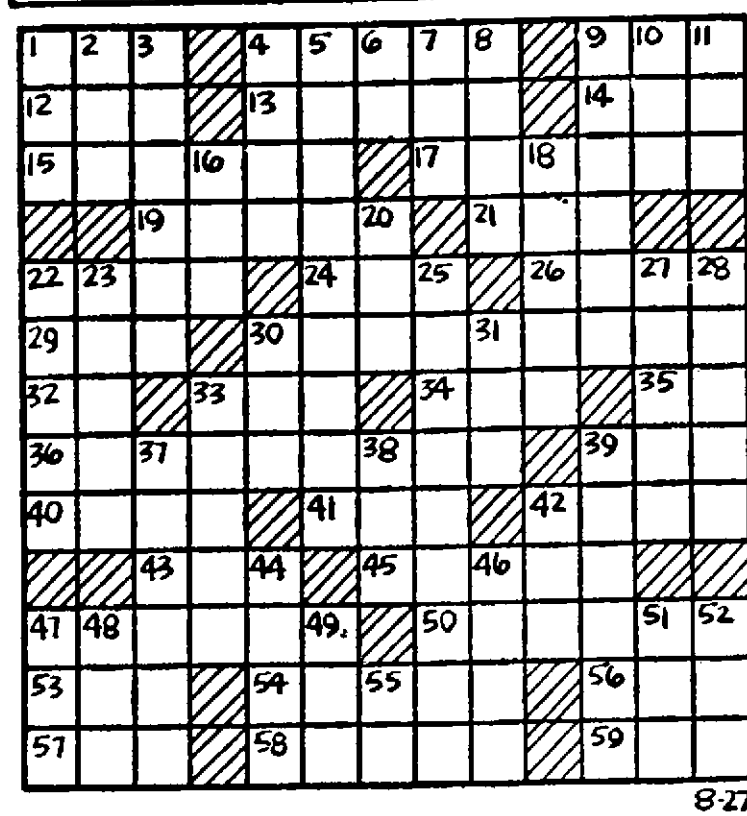

'HEALTHY' MAN MAY BE VICTIM OF MANY ILLS

BURLINGTON, Vt. (AP)—The man who goes to a doctor and finds out that there's nothing wrong with him, that "it's all in your mind" is liable to be in real trouble. He may be tangled up "in the nutcracker syndrome."

Dr. Joseph B. Wolfe, director of the Valley Forge Medical Center and Heart Hospital, Norristown, Pa., told scientists and doctors Wednesday the nutcracker syndrome is a term coined to describe a group of diseases resulting from inseparable conflicting interests.

Dr. Wolfe said the man who

MUSMANNO DID NOT TAKE JOB AS ALTERNATE

ATLANTIC CITY (AP)—Justice Michael A. Musmanno of the Pennsylvania Supreme Court has disclosed that he did not accept selection as an alternate to the Democratic National Convention.

KEPT TICKETS

Musmanno pulled a newsman aside Wednesday night and said he returned the alternate's credentials, with a letter of withdrawal, to state chairman Otis B. Morse on Monday.

The delegation had agreed at its Sunday night caucus to select Musmanno to fill one of several vacancies.

Musmanno said he explained in the letter to Morse that he had no desire to be an alternate delegate, that all he wanted was tickets to attend the convention as an observer.

The jurist said he kept the guest tickets accompanying the credentials, but did not take a seat in the alternate delegate section.

Musmanno said he wanted to set the record straight because of a newspaper editorial critical of his becoming a delegate to a political convention while sitting on the bench.

HAD FEW SIGNS

John R. Torquato, Cambria County Democratic chairman, and Paul McGinty of Silver Spring, Md., and formerly of Olyphant, joined in waving Pennsylvania's identification standard during the tumultuous demonstration for President Johnson.

However, most of the Pennsylvania delegates had to be content with cheering and hand-clapping. The delegation's section had only a dozen hastily produced signs. None were provided for the Pennsylvanians, while other state delegates waved numerous and elaborate banners.

A delegation official said there were no signs because of an oversight. He promised there would be some for tonight's concluding session.

POLICE PROBE YOUTH'S DEATH

CLAYTON, N. J. (AP)—Local police pressed the investigation today into a threatened gang fight at Lake Wilson, a resort, which led to the death of a 16-year-old youth.

Rudolph said about 50 boys from throughout Gloucester County, N.J., and Philadelphia area communities gathered Wednesday night at the lake, apparently to continue a fight that broke out the night before at a dance in Mullica Hill.

Police were called and broke it up before fighting began. Local police units throughout the county stopped various vehicles, and about 20 boys were picked up for questioning.

Rudolph said one driver, Lyle Bray, 18, of Sewell, N.J., said he accidentally hit Tarantelli, who apparently had already been hit and was lying in a road. Rudolph said Bray said he had not been involved in the threatened fight.

No other injuries were reported.

GAO REPORTS WASTEFULNESS IN DEFENSE

By BEM PRICE

WASHINGTON (AP) — You brag in this town at your own peril.

Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara held a news conference July 7 to announce his cost reduction program has saved $2.5 billion last year.

Since then there have been 28 reports — little noticed for the most part — by the General Accounting Office pointing out where it said the Defense Department should have saved even more.

SLOPPY SUPERVISION

The GAO accountants also produced three additional reports pointing out where what they called sloppy supervision on the part of commanders had reduced the combat efficiency of four spot-checked units, including an anti-aircraft missile base.

After examining 66 armored personnel carriers and cargo trucks belonging to the 30th Infantry Regiment in Germany, the GAO found 216 major defects and 2,300 less serious ones.

The GAO checked out the maintenance on the reconnaissance and liaison aircraft of the 1st and 2nd Armored Divisions at Ft. Hood, Tex., and found it so poor that "the combat readiness of these divisions was impaired."

SCORES MAINTENANCE

Poor maintenance, said the GAO, was the primary factor in the crash and total loss of a $200,000 aircraft.

At an unidentified anti-aircraft missile base somewhere overseas, the GAO reported the management of spare parts was so inefficient that $30 million worth of missile gear was inoperable.

As for the other GAO reports, they include such findings as these:

—The Army wasted $1.3 million buying utility caps which cost $1.08 each and required special laundering, whereas the Marines and Seabees were buying 57-cent utility caps which could be washed under any circumstances.

—At the U.S. Army Engineer depot just outside Seoul, Korea, was $376,900 worth of unneeded spare parts and the depot was in the process of ordering $101,000 more stock it didn't need.

—Further, the Korean depot

Weddings

MRS. AIRING

Miss Barbara Ann Rinehart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert B. Rinehart, Littlestown R. 1, became the bride of Richard Eugene Airing, son of Mr. and Mrs. William F. Airing, Taneytown, Friday evening at 7 o'clock at Grace United Church of Christ, Taneytown. The double-ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. William F. Wiley, assisted by the Rev. Warren M. Eshbach.

The church was decorated for the candle light service with pew candleholders, candelabra, palms, gladioli and pompons. Mrs. Robert Flickinger, the organist, gave a recital before the ceremony and Mrs. Warren Eshbach sang several solos.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length gown of peau de soie with fitted bodice featuring a scooped neckline and long tapered sleeves. The modified sheath skirt was accented with a self band around the midriff with fabric roses in the back. The bodice and skirt front were trimmed with seed pearls and sequins. The gown had a carriage back ending in a chapel train. The bouffant veil of pure silk illusion fell from a pearl-trimmed taffeta rose. She carried a cascade bouquet of white orchids, white daisy pompons and Stephanotis.

Vehicle Planned To Tour Moon Surface

SEATTLE (AP)—Plans for a six-wheeled vehicle capable of taking two astronauts for a 14-day, 250-mile jaunt on the surface of the moon were disclosed Tuesday by the Boeing Co.

Boeing, which is heading a nine-month study for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration on payloads for the Apollo logistics support system, calls the moon vehicle Molab, short for mobile laboratory.

The vehicle would be sent to the moon aboard an Apollo spacecraft. If radio signals showed it landed safely, the astronauts would follow in another Apollo.

The wheels of the vehicle would be five or six feet in diameter, wire-wrapped and covered with steel mesh to cope with jagged rubble on the moon's surface.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride after which the couple went on a weekend wedding trip to New York. They are residing at R. 4.

The bride graduated from New Oxford High School in the class of 1963 and is employed by Blough Wagner Mfg. Co. of New Oxford. The groom attended Biglerville High School and is employed as a truck driver by J. F. Rohrbaugh Lumber Co.

DEMS STATE "FRONTLASH" IS GREATER

ATLANTIC CITY N.J. (AP) — Almost all Democratic leaders say they harbor no fears about any white voter "backlash" in the November presidential election.

Instead, they confidently say they hear what they call the much larger crack of a moderate Republican "frontlash" against Barry Goldwater on Nov. 3.

These views came in an Associated Press survey of the party leaders at the Democratic National Convention. They were asked whether they thought there is a backlash, and, if so, how the Democrats should meet it.

IN DISAGREEMENT
Most did not agree on how to handle it. At the same time, they did not seem disturbed about their disagreement. The backlash, in their view, was not so great as some people supposed.

In the whip imagery that has become a cliché of the 1964 election, the white backlash signifies votes by white Democrats and independents against Lyndon B. Johnson because of their resentment over the Civil Rights Act and Negro demonstrations; the Republican frontlash signifies votes by moderate Republicans against Goldwater because of his conservative views.

SHARP DISSENT
There were some sharp dissents from the prevailing views in the survey. Gov. Albert S. Harrison of Virginia, for example, said, "People are getting fed up with the sit-ins, wade-ins, kneel-ins, and what have you. I think unless the situation abates it will be very harmful for Democratic chances."

But most leaders agreed with the presidential candidate of 1952 and 1956, U.N. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson. "If we respect the law, if we don't tolerate violence and disorder, if we practice what we preach about equality, if the strong help the weak and the rich the poor, there won't be any lashing," Stevenson said.

DECLARE WAR ON MOSQUITO AT HOUSTON

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Houstonians by the thousands battled the encephalitis-carrying mosquito and its breeding places today as the number of suspected cases of the sleeping sickness rose to 216.

Free insecticide was doled out and carried out in the Senate.

by the city and residents armed themselves for the war with the female culex mosquito, now blamed for 18 deaths the past 30 days.

Residents in this city of one million flocked to fire stations for the spray chemical they hoped would protect them from the mosquitoes, which carry the disease, commonly called sleep-sickness rose.

SPRAY BAYOUS
Firemen at 55 fire stations mixed the insecticide and citizens patiently waited for it carrying pickle jars, jugs, buckets, plastic bottles and even empty paint cans.

Many parents said they refused to let their children play outside after dark and stayed home evenings.

A helicopter and 40 trucks were spraying and fogging ditches and bayous — prime mosquito breeding places.

Dr. C. A. Pigford, city health director, said the epidemic — first recognized as such last Thursday — is probably at its peak.

He warned, however, recent rains could increase the swarms of mosquitoes and cause an upsurge in cases a week or 10 days from now.

CALL FOR BIBLE
PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Pennsylvania State Camp of the Patriotic Order Sons of America has passed a resolution advocating use of the Bible as part of regular literature courses in public schools. The resolution was introduced Tuesday at the group's 98th annual convention.

The only way a justice of the Supreme Court of the United States can be removed from office is by impeachment. Proceedings must be initiated by the House of Representatives.

Sometimes we have to say no

Occasionally a customer asks us for some medication he's read about. And we must refuse him. The reason is that the particular medicine must be taken under a physician's supervision, and is available only on prescription. This is a safeguard to your health. As your pharmacist, we suggest you see a physician if you feel you need potent medication. We'll be happy to fill his prescription. Till then, perhaps our greatest service is saying "No."

GAO REPORTS WASTEFULNESS IN DEFENSE

By BEM PRICE
WASHINGTON (AP) — You brag in this town at your own peril.

Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara held a news conference July 7 to announce his cost reduction program has saved $2.5 billion last year.

Since then there have been 28 reports — little noticed for the most part — by the General Accounting Office pointing out where it said the Defense Department should have saved even more.

SLOPPY SUPERVISION

The GAO accountants also produced three additional reports pointing out where what they called sloppy supervision on the part of commanders had reduced the combat efficiency of four spot-checked units, including an anti-aircraft missile base.

After examining 66 armored personnel carriers and cargo trucks belonging to the 30th Infantry Regiment in Germany, the GAO found 216 major defects and 2,300 less serious ones.

The GAO checked out the maintenance on the reconnaissance and liaison aircraft of the 1st and 2nd Armored divisions at Ft. Hood, Tex., and found it so poor that the combat readiness of these divisions was impaired.

SCORES MAINTENANCE

Poor maintenance, said the GAO, was the primary factor in the crash and total loss of a $200,000 aircraft.

At an unidentified anti-aircraft missile base somewhere overseas, the GAO reported the management of spare parts was so inefficient that $30 million worth of missile gear was inoperable.

As for the other GAO reports, they include such findings as these:

—The Army wasted $1.3 million buying utility caps which cost $1.03 each and required special laundering, whereas the Marines and Seabees were buying 57-cent utility caps which could be washed under any circumstances.

—At the U.S. Army Engineer depot just outside Seoul, Korea, was $376,000 worth of unneeded spare parts and the depot was in the process of ordering $101,000 more stock it didn't need.

—Further, the Korean depot

Weddings

MRS. AIRING

Miss Barbara Ann Rinehart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert B. Rinehart, Littlestown R. 1, became the bride of Richard Eugene Airing, son of Mr. and Mrs. William F. Airing, Taneytown, Friday evening at 7 o'clock at Grace United Church of Christ, Taneytown. The double-ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. William F. Wiley, assisted by the Rev. Warren M. Eshbach.

The church was decorated for the candle light service with pew candelabras, candelabra, palms, gladioli and pompons. Mrs. Robert Fickinger, the organist, gave a recital before the ceremony and Mrs. Warren Eshbach sang several solos.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length gown of peau de soie with fitted bodice featuring a scooped neckline and long tapered sleeves. The modified sheath skirt was accented with a self band around the midriff with fabric roses in the back. The bodice and skirt front were trimmed with seed pearls and sequins. The gown had a carriage back ending in a chapel train. The bouffant veil of pure silk illusion fell from a pearl-trimmed taffeta rose. She carried a cascade bouquet of white orchids, white daisy pompons and stephanotis.

BRIDAL ATTENDANTS

The maid of honor, Miss Wilma Livingston, Johnstown, college roommate of the bride, wore an aqua floor-length gown of silk faced organza. The fitted bodice featured a scooped neckline and elbow-length sleeves. The controlled skirt was accented with a wide taffeta band around the midriff ending in flowering back panels. She wore a matching fabric rose headpiece with chin veil and carried a garland cascade bouquet of aqua cushion pompons and white daisy pompons.

The bridal attendants were Miss Carol Ann McDaniel, Milton, Del., cousin of the bride and college classmate; Mrs. Terry Crouse, Littlestown, cousin of the bride, and Mrs. Donald Favorite, Taneytown, Md. They wore gowns and flowers similar to that of the maid of honor.

Donald Airing, Taneytown, cousin of the bride, served as best man and the ushers were John W. Rinehart, brother of the bride; Wayne Fair and Roger Eyer, Taneytown.

RECEPTION HELD

Kevin Utz, Westminster, Md., cousin of the bride, was the ring bearer. The flower girl, Miss Susan A. Tracey, Fort Lauderdale, Fla., cousin of the bride, wore a white floor-length gown of silk organza over taffeta with band and back bow of aqua, styled similar to those of the bridal attendants. She carried a miniature basket of aqua and white matching flowers.

Following a reception held in the church social room the couple left on a wedding trip to an unannounced destination. For traveling the bride chose a two-piece apricot knit suit with black accessories and the orchid corsage lifted from her bridal bouquet. Upon their return they will reside at Littlestown R. 1.

The bride graduated from Taneytown High School and Bridgewater College and is employed as a teacher by the Carroll County Board of Education. The groom graduated from the same high school and has completed three years of service in the U.S. Navy. He is presently employed by 3M National Advertising Co., Westminster, Md.

Eshelman—Daubert

Miss Ella Margaret Daubert, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Martin L. Daubert, Pine Grove R. 2, and Joseph Kraybill Eshelman, son of Doctor and Mrs. Joseph L. Eshelman, East Berlin, were married August 1 in First Church of the Brethren, York. The Rev. Dr. M. Guy West performed the ceremony.

Mary Ellen Eshelman, the bridegroom's sister, was vocalist, and Donna Myers and Gerald Mummert served as organists.

Linda Marie Daubert, the bride's sister, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Martha Jane Eshelman, the bridegroom's sister, and a cousin, Jackie Eshelman, Annapolis. Denise Staller, Pittsburgh, the bride's cousin, was flower girl.

Robert Wittlinger, New Providence, was best man. Ushers were James and John Eshelman, the bridegroom's brothers; James Balmer, Manheim, and James Oberholtzer, Elizabethtown. Dennis Daubert, the bride's cousin, was the ring bearer.

The couple will live in Philadelphia.

The bride was graduated from Pine Grove Area High School and Elizabethtown College. She plans to complete her studies at the University of Pennsylvania.

The bridegroom was graduated from Elizabethtown College this year and is a student at the Philadelphia College of Osteopathy.

Dubs—Smith

Miss Joyce Ann Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Otis Smith, New Oxford R. 2, became the bride of Clarence Woodrow Dubs, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Levi

Dubs, Hampstead R. 2, Saturday morning at 11 o'clock at the Church of the Immaculate Conception, New Oxford. The Rev. Fr. Alexis F. Arnoldin performed the double-ring ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a light blue street-length dress of chiffon over taffeta with a jacket of blue lace. Her nylon net veil hung from a crown of seed pearls. She wore a corsage of white carnations with blue ribbons.

The matron of honor, Mrs. Margaret Young, 2 Stoner Ave., Hanover, sister of the bride, wore a mint green gown of taffeta covered with lace and a corsage of white carnations with green ribbons.

Pfc. Jay Allen Smith, 606th Ord. Co. (AMMO), Fort Dix, N.J., brother of the bride, served as best man.

A reception at the bride's home followed the ceremony with approximately 75 guests in attendance.

The bride attended Delone Catholic High School. The groom attended North Carroll High School and is employed by Hanover Bronze and Aluminum Foundry, Inc., Hanover.

Fleagle—Valentine

Miss Judith Kay Valentine and Terrence Lee Fleagle were married August 15 at 2 p.m. in Tom's Creek Methodist Church.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Valentine, Emmitsburg. The groom is the son of Mrs. James Cantwell, Taneytown, and Roland Fleagle, Muskegon, Mich.

Rev. Martin Case officiated at the double-ring ceremony.

The bride was given in marriage by her father.

Mrs. Richard Toms, sister of the bride, Emmitsburg, was the matron of honor.

Attendants were Mrs. Dennis McGlaughlin, Taneytown, and Miss Tina Fleagle, sister of the groom, also of Taneytown.

Misses Cherie and Tracey Toms, nieces of the bride, were flower girls.

William Nail, Taneytown, served as best man. Ushers were Brent Fleagle, Emmitsburg, and Richard Toms, brother-in-law of the bride, also of Emmitsburg.

Rodney Boston, cousin of the bride, served as ring bearer.

Allen Clark was acolyte.

For the ceremony, Miss Martha Baumgardner offered traditional wedding selections on the organ. Robert Baumgardner sang.

Following the wedding, a reception was held in the church social hall. Mrs. Murry Valentine, aunt of the bride, was in charge of the reception. Mrs. Oliver Leakins, cousin of the bride, served at the punch bowl, and Mrs. Richard Valentine, aunt of the bride, cut the wedding cake.

After a wedding trip to an undisclosed destination, the couple returned to their home near Taneytown.

The bride is a 1961 graduate of Emmitsburg High School and of the Waynesboro Beauty School. She is presently employed at Lolly's Town and Country Beauty Shop in Thurmont.

The groom, a 1961 graduate of Emmitsburg High School, is employed at Crouse's Garage in Taneytown.

Anderson—Smith

Miss Martha Agnes Smith, daughter of Mrs. Anna B. Smith, New Oxford R. 2, and the late Walter Smith, and Charles William Anderson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Anderson, Aspers R. 1, were married August 14 at 3:30 p.m. at St. Mary's Church, New Oxford. The Rev. Fr. Alexis F. Arnoldin performed the double-ring ceremony.

Mrs. Emmert E. Hartzell, Hampton, was the matron of honor and Alfred E. Smith, New

Vehicle Planned To Tour Moon Surface

SEATTLE (AP)—Plans for a six-wheeled vehicle capable of taking two astronauts for a 14-day, 250-mile jaunt on the surface of the moon were disclosed Tuesday by the Boeing Co.

Boeing, which is heading a nine-month study for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration on payloads for the Apollo logistics support system, calls the moon vehicle Mo-lab, short for mobile laboratory.

The vehicle would be sent to the moon aboard an Apollo spacecraft. If radio signals showed it landed safely, the astronauts would follow in another Apollo.

The wheels of the vehicle would be five or six feet in diameter, wire-wrapped and covered with steel mesh to cope with jagged rubble on the moon's surface.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride after which the couple went on a weekend wedding trip to New York. They are residing at R. 4.

The bride graduated from New Oxford High School in the class of 1963 and is employed by Blough Wagner Mfg. Co. of New Oxford. The groom attended Biglerville High School and is employed as a truck driver by J. F. Rohrbaugh Lumber Co.

KILBRIDE SAYS DOING NOTHING IS EASY TO DO

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "What do I do? I do nothing," says Percy Kilbride. "I'm more or less a — well, you might call me a bum."

That's not likely. Kilbride is a spry, crickety, tweed-suited gentleman of 77 years. He is the only Boulevard regular who is recognized by the present generation of movie fans.

"Hey — you're Pa Kettle!" tourists shout at the trim-frigured, hawk-nosed man. He gives them a half smile and a cock of the head, then hurries on his way. He spent a half century as an actor and finds that the public remembers him only as the hayseed Pa of the Kettle family series, which he recalls with distaste.

STARTED IN 1905

His career started in 1905 in his native San Francisco and nearly ended the next year in the earthquake. He survived but his theater didn't, and he began years of traveling with stock companies, playing a different melodrama weekly. He later made it to Broadway as a popular character man and came to films in the role he created on the stage in "George Washington Slept Here."

Kilbride enjoyed steady employment in films, often as a taxi driver, even though he didn't drive. Then fate was to cast him and Marjorie Main as the rambunctious Kettles in "The Egg and I."

The follow-up series was highly successful. But Kilbride was distressed at playing the same bucolic character, and the sight-gag stunts were too violent for his delicate constitution.

NEW REGIME

"After my contract was up, I told the studio I wouldn't do any more," he said. "But then a new regime took over Universal. They offered me a limousine to and from work and an amazing amount of money."

"Well, I agreed to do one more. But I made them put in the contract that no one at the studio could even mention the possibility that I might do another one."

Kilbride limped through "Ma and Pa Kettle at Home" the seventh of the series. He was so ill and distressed by the end of it that he decided to close out his career.

RETIREMENT SITS WELL

That was 11 years ago, and he now appears as hale as in his prime as Pa Kettle. He admits

Driver Loses Case But Makes Point

CHAMBERSBURG, Pa. (AP) — It's the principle of the thing with Angelo C. Femia of Mount Union — not the money involved.

Femia was in court Tuesday buzzing down the road in his Cadillac without yielding half the highway to other motorists. Femia insisted from the witness stand he didn't do any such thing.

Nevertheless, Judge Chancener M. Deputy of Franklin County Court convicted him of the charge. The defendant's attorneys filed notice of an appeal.

Femia went to the clerk's office to post bond. There, while Deputy Clerk George B. Heefner and Deputy Sheriff Edgar S. Morganthall watched in open-mouthed amazement, Femia fished two five-dollar bills from his wallet and tore them into shreds.

Then, as the irretrievable bits of green lettuce fluttered to the floor, Femia stalked out.

DEM LADIES ENJOY A DAY AT THE RACES

By HUGH A. MULLIGAN
ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — Frowning over their form sheets like Lyndon B. Johnson trying to pick a vice president, the ladies of the Democratic National Convention spent a day at the races.

"I can't remember whether my husband told me to put two dollars on No. 8 in the fourth race or four dollars on No. 2 in the eighth race," mused a lady from Utah in a big L.B.J. hat. She compromised by putting five dollars on No. 7, Champion Lady, in the third race.

The big brown filly cut out from the field in the back stretch, just beyond where a sign on the infield grass said "Welcome Democrats," and romped on home. She could have made it the rest of the way led that retirement sits well with him.

"I live very quietly," he remarked. "I see some friends now and then. Mostly, I walk. I walk four miles a day or more — down to Wilshire Boulevard or over to Griffith Park. I like to walk."

"At night I stay in my apartment and read. Don't watch television. Don't do much of anything. Don't miss doing anything. It's pretty easy to do, you know, if you set your mind to it. I think it comes easy to actors. We spend a great deal of our lives doing nothing."

D. LAWRENCE ADDS TO HIS REPUTATION

ATLANTIC CITY (AP) — Former Gov. David L. Lawrence of Pennsylvania has further enhanced his reputation for smooth handling of political crises.

His role in the solution of the Mississippi and Alabama credentials fights was as difficult and hot as any he has handled in a 50-year political career, particularly because of the civil rights overtones and the national interest.

But Lawrence, who as mayor of Pittsburgh and his state's chief executive successfully mediated labor as well as political disputes, reacted in characteristic fashion.

He refused to rate the problem as more or less difficult than any other after the convention Tuesday night adopted the credentials compromise and he had joined the Pennsylvania delegation on the floor for the first time.

WORKED OUT SOLUTION

in snow shoes, and the lady from Utah pocketed $18.75.

MORE OF THE SAME

It went pretty much like that the rest of the afternoon.

The ladies at the convention had a choice between attending the races and touring a china factory famous for making the White House dinnerware for Presidents Wilson, Truman and Franklin Roosevelt. Twice as many ladies showed up to inspect the two-dollar platters running at the Atlantic City course as turned out to view the presidential crockery.

"I bet one dollar at Monte Carlo last year and one dollar at Las Vegas and here I'm in for two dollars already," exclaimed Alice Narducci of Lambertville, N.J.

HIT IT BIG

The Arkansas delegation hit it big early as a result of one of those hairpin turns of feminine logic that leave veteran horse players talking to themselves long after the lights have gone out on the tote board.

Inez Jones, a delegate and the wife of the state auditor, didn't like Lady Optimist in the first race, but Louise Porter, a delegate and president of the Arkansas Democratic Women's Club, did, because she regards herself as a lady optimist. So Mrs. Jones bought a ticket on Lady Optimist for Mrs. Porter because it was Mrs. Porter's birthday. Get it?

Mrs. Porter did anyway, along with $19.20.

irritable after four days' work as chairman of the credentials committee, Lawrence said of the assignment:

"It was tough, but I didn't mind. Because a problem is difficult, it shouldn't deter anybody."

The committee agreed to the seating of Mississippi's all-white "regular" delegates if they signed party loyalty pledges and added two of the rival Negro Freedom Party's representatives to the list of voting delegates.

Lawrence flared as some reporters asked, in several ways, whether the White House played a part in the committee's decision.

CONVENTION CHEERS

"I haven't even talked to the President in two weeks," he snapped. "These are some of the silliest questions I've heard in all my years in politics."

Pennsylvania delegates, who had had that left out feeling in the convention's early stages, cheered loudly as the convention adopted the committee report.

COMPLETES 36 MILE SWIM IN 24 HOURS

WATKINS GLEN, N. Y. (AP) — Mathematics teacher Russell Chaffee doesn't have to practice swimming for 36 days.

Russell, who swims a mile a day for practice, Tuesday completed a swim that breached Seneca Lake from Geneva State Park to nearby Salt Point—36 miles.

Authorities believe the 37-year-old high school teacher is the first person to swim Seneca lake from north to south.

3 STUDENTS FOLLOW

Three of his students in a canoe paddled by his side for the entire journey.

"I'm in pretty good shape except that I'm cold," said the Sayre, Pa., resident when he walked ashore one mile off his course.

His wife, Phyllis, reached in Sayre Tuesday, said Chaffee took up swimming as a child to strengthen an injured back. Chaffee, an accomplished long-distance swimmer, swam several other Finger Lakes and the Adirondack River in Quebec, Canada.

DEMS STATE "FRONTLASH" IS GREATER

ATLANTIC CITY N.J. (AP) — Almost all Democratic leaders say they harbor no fears about any white voter "backlash" in the November presidential election.

Instead, they confidently say they hear what they call the much larger crack of a moderate Republican "frontlash" against Barry Goldwater on Nov. 3.

These views came in an Associated Press survey of the party leaders at the Democratic National Convention. They were asked whether they thought there is a backlash, and, if so, how the Democrats should meet it.

IN DISAGREEMENT

Most did not agree on how to handle it. At the same time, they did not seem disturbed about their disagreement. The backlash, in their view, was not so great as some people supposed.

In the whip imagery that has become a cliché of the 1964 election, the white backlash signifies votes by white Democrats and independents against Lyndon B. Johnson because of their resentment over the Civil Rights Act and Negro demonstrations; the Republican frontlash signifies votes by moderate Republicans against Goldwater because of his conservative views.

SHARP DISSENT'S

There were some sharp dissents from the prevailing views in the survey. Gov. Albert S. Harrison of Virginia, for example, said, "People are getting fed up with the sit-ins, wade-ins, kneel-ins, and what have you. I think unless the situation abates it will be very harmful for Democratic chances."

But most leaders agreed with the presidential candidate of 1952 and 1956, U.N. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson.

"If we respect the law, if we don't tolerate violence and disorder, if we practice what we preach about equality, if the strong help the weak and the rich the poor, there won't be any lashing," Stevenson said.

DECLARE WAR ON MOSQUITO AT HOUSTON

By ED STAATS
HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Houstonians by the thousands battled the encephalitis-carrying mosquito and its breeding places today as the number of suspected cases of the sleeping sickness rose to 216.

Free insecticide was doled out and carried out in the Senate.

by the city and residents armed themselves for the war with the female culex mosquito, now blamed for 18 deaths the past 30 days.

Residents in this city of one million flocked to fire stations for the spray chemical they hoped would protect them from the mosquitoes, which carry the disease, commonly called sleeping sickness rose.

SPRAY BAYOUS

Firemen at 55 fire stations mixed the insecticide and citizens patiently waited for it carrying pickle jars, jugs, buckets, plastic bottles and even empty paint cans.

Many parents said they refused to let their children play outside after dark and stayed home evenings.

A helicopter and 40 trucks were spraying and fogging ditches and bayous — prime mosquito breeding places.

Dr. C. A. Pigford, city health director, said the epidemic — first recognized as such last Thursday — is probably at its peak.

He warned, however, recent rains could increase the swarms of mosquitoes and cause an upsurge in cases a week or 10 days from now.

CALL FOR BIBLE

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Pennsylvania State Camp of the Patriotic Order Sons of America has passed a resolution advocating use of the Bible as part of regular literature courses in public schools. The resolution was introduced Tuesday at the group's 98th annual convention.

The only way a justice of the Supreme Court of the United States can be removed from office is by impeachment. Proceedings must be initiated by the House of Representatives.

Sometimes we have to say no

Occasionally a customer asks us for some medication he's read about. And we must refuse him. The reason is that the particular medicine must be taken under a physician's supervision, and is available only on prescription. This is a safeguard to your health. As your pharmacist, we suggest you see a physician if you feel you need potent medication. We'll be happy to fill his prescription. Till then, perhaps our greatest service is saying "No."

POPE CAUTIONS WORLD TO HEED PEACE EFFORT

CASTEL GANDOLFO, Italy (AP) — Pope Paul VI warned Wednesday that "some of those basic principles on which peace must be founded" are crumbling. In an impassioned appeal against an arms race, the Pontiff begged men to remember what caused two devastating world wars, and deplored what he called a return to the "illusory concept that peace can only be based on the terrifying power of extremely homicidal weapons."

Pope Paul said the world is seeing a rebirth of perilous concepts, that the "concept of the sacred and inviolable character of human life" has been obscured.

"Men of good will, listen to our humble words," the Pontiff implored.

WEEKLY AUDIENCE

The Pope spoke to his weekly general audience at his summer residence south of Rome.

Pope Paul decried "subversive propaganda and revolutionary disorders," and said that even pacifist statements are misused to promote social and political contrasts. This may have been a reference to pro-Communist "peace movements."

Pope Paul said his thoughts were stirred by the current anniversary commemorations of the start of World Wars I and II. He expressed concern at the "acute disagreements, already stained with blood and pregnant with menacing omens existing today between various countries."

Fulton Farmers Fight Fruit Growers, Arrest Rain Maker

McCONNELLSBURG, Pa. (AP) — A new dispute is brewing in Fulton County over attempts to control the weather artificially.

David Fulk, 25, of Martinsburg, W. Va., employed by a firm engaged in the weather effort, was arrested last weekend in Ayr Twp. and charged with violating a new law which prohibits the installation of devices to control or modify the weather.

He was fined $100 and $9 in costs Monday by Justice of the Peace Lewis Strait in Knobsville.

Fulk is a truck driver for W. E. Howell Associates, Inc., of Bedford, Mass. He was tending a ground generator at the time of his arrest Saturday.

The Howell firm was engaged by the Blue Ridge Weather Modification Association to engage in cloud-seeding to prevent or to minimize damage to fruit crops by hail storms.

HIRED BY ORCHARDISTS

The association is composed of commercial apple and peach orchardists of a four-state fruit growing area in Pennsylvania, Maryland, Virginia, and West Virginia.

The Howell firm uses silver iodide crystals to seed thunderclouds and prevent the formation of hailstones which would damage the fruit trees. The seeding is carried out with the use of planes and ground generators.

The efforts have caused bitter controversy in the area, with farmers and certain noncommercial orchardists opposing the program. Spokesmen for the opponents maintain that the efforts to eliminate hail in reality cause drought conditions. The Howell firm denies this.

COOL WEATHER SLOWS CROPS

HARRISBURG (AP) — The Federal-State Crop Reporting service says cool weather continued to retard crop development on Pennsylvania farms last week.

Low temperatures slowed the ripening of peaches and tomatoes and the growth of corn, the service said in its weekly survey issued Tuesday.

Showers brought little relief to extremely dry eastern counties where corn was making poor progress and hay fields and pastures were short. In the driest of these areas "some fields of late corn are beyond help," the service said.

Potato growers in eastern counties were irrigating their crops to maintain growth and sizing.

At the same time, growers in Erie County—where there has been an abundance of rain—reported over sizing a problem in some early varieties. They anticipate a yield of 300 to 400 bushels an acre.

KILBRIDE SAYS DOING NOTHING IS EASY TO DO

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "What do I do? I do nothing," says Percy Kilbride. "I'm more or less a — well, you might call me a bum."

That's not likely. Kilbride is a spry, crickety, tweed-suited gentleman of 77 years. He is the only Boulevard regular who is recognized by the present generation of movie fans.

"Hey — you're Pa Kettle!" tourists shout at the trim-figured, hawk-nosed man. He gives them a half smile and a cock of the head, then hurries on his way. He spent a half century as an actor and finds that the public remembers him only as the hayseed Pa of the Kettle family series, which he recalls with distaste.

STARTED IN 1905

His career started in 1905 in his native San Francisco and nearly ended the next year in the earthquake. He survived but his theater didn't, and he began years of traveling with stock companies, playing a different melodrama weekly. He later made it to Broadway as a popular character man and came to films in the role he created on the stage in "George Washington Slept Here."

Kilbride enjoyed steady employment in films, often as a taxi driver, even though he didn't drive. Then fate was to cast him and Marjorie Main as the rambunctious Kettles in "The Egg and I."

The follow-up series was highly successful. But Kilbride was distressed at playing the same bucolic character, and the sight-gag stunts were too violent for his delicate constitution.

NEW REGIME

"After my contract was up, I told the studio I wouldn't do any more," he said. "But then a new regime took over Universal. They offered me a limousine to and from work and an amazing amount of money."

"Well, I agreed to do one more. But I made them put in the contract that no one at the studio could even mention the possibility that I might do another one."

Kilbride limped through "Ma and Pa Kettle at Home" the seventh of the series. He was so ill and distressed by the end of it that he decided to close out his career.

RETIREMENT SITS WELL

That was 11 years ago, and he now appears as hale as in his prime as Pa Kettle. He admits

Driver Loses Case But Makes Point

CHAMBERSBURG, Pa. (AP) — It's the principle of the thing with Angelo C. Femia of Mount Union — not the money involved.

Femia was in court Tuesday buzzing down the road in his Cadillac without yielding half the highway to other motorists. Femia insisted from the witness stand he didn't do any such thing.

Nevertheless, Judge Chanence M. Depuy of Franklin County Court convicted him of the charge. The defendant's attorneys filed notice of an appeal.

Femia went to the clerk's office to post bond. There, while Deputy Clerk George B. Heefner and Deputy Sheriff Edgar S. Morganthall watched in open-mouthed amazement, Femia fished two five-dollar bills from his wallet and tore them into shreds.

Then, as the irretrievable bits of green lettuce fluttered to the floor, Femia stalked out.

DEM LADIES ENJOY A DAY AT THE RACES

By HUGH A. MULLIGAN
ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — Frowning over their form sheets like Lyndon B. Johnson trying to pick a vice president, the ladies of the Democratic National Convention spent a day at the races.

"I can't remember whether my husband told me to put two dollars on No. 8 in the fourth race or four dollars on No. 2 in the eighth race," mused a lady from Utah in a big L.B.J. hat. She compromised by putting five dollars on No. 7, Champion Lady, in the third race.

The big brown filly cut out from the field in the back stretch, just beyond where a sign on the infield grass said "Welcome Democrats," and romped on home. She could have made it the rest of the way ted that retirement suits well with him.

"I live very quietly," he remarked. "I see some friends now and then. Mostly, I walk. I walk four miles a day or more — down to Wilshire Boulevard or over to Griffith Park. I like to walk."

"At night I stay in my apartment and read. Don't watch television. Don't do much of anything. Don't miss doing anything. It's pretty easy to do, you know, if you set your mind to it. I think it comes easy to actors. We spend a great deal of our lives doing nothing."

D. LAWRENCE ADDS TO HIS REPUTATION

ATLANTIC CITY (AP) — Former Gov. David L. Lawrence of Pennsylvania has further enhanced his reputation for smooth handling of political crises.

His role in the solution of the Mississippi and Alabama credentials fights was as difficult and hot as any he has handled in a 50-year political career, particularly because of the civil rights overtones and the national interest.

But Lawrence, who as mayor of Pittsburgh and his state's chief executive successfully mediated labor as well as political disputes, reacted in characteristic fashion.

He refused to rate the problem as more or less difficult than any other after the convention Tuesday night adopted the credentials compromise and he had joined the Pennsylvania delegation on the floor for the first time.

WORKED OUT SOLUTION

Slightly, but understandably

in snow shoes, and the lady from Utah pocketed $18.75.

MORE OF THE SAME

It went pretty much like that the rest of the afternoon.

The ladies at the convention had a choice between attending the races and touring a china factory famous for making the White House dinnerware for Presidents Wilson, Truman and Franklin Roosevelt. Twice as many ladies showed up to inspect the two-dollar platters running at the Atlantic City course as turned out to view the presidential crockery.

"I bet one dollar at Monte Carlo last year and one dollar at Las Vegas and here I'm in for two dollars already," exclaimed Alice Narducci of Lambertville, N.J.

HIT IT BIG

The Arkansas delegation hit it big early as a result of one of those harpin turns of feminine logic that leave veteran horse players talking to themselves long after the lights have gone out on the tote board.

Inez Jones, a delegate and the wife of the state auditor, didn't like Lady Optimist in the first race, but Louise Porter, a delegate and president of the Arkansas Democratic Women's Club, did, because she regards herself as a lady optimist. So Mrs. Jones bought a ticket on Lady Optimist for Mrs. Porter because it was Mrs. Porter's birthday. Get it?

Mrs. Porter did anyway, along with $19.20.

irritable after four days' work as chairman of the credentials committee, Lawrence said of the assignment:

"It was tough, but I didn't mind. Because a problem is difficult. It shouldn't deter anybody."

The committee agreed to the seating of Mississippi's all-white "regular" delegates if they signed party loyalty pledges and added two of the rival Negro Freedom Party's representatives to the list of voting delegates.

Lawrence flared as some reporters asked, in several ways, whether the White House played a part in the committee's decision.

CONVENTION CHEERS

"I haven't even talked to the President in two weeks," he snapped. "These are some of the silliest questions I've heard in all my years in politics."

Pennsylvania delegates, who had had that left out feeling in the convention's early stages, cheered loudly as the convention adopted the committee report.

COMPLETES 36 MILE SWIM IN 24 HOURS

WATKINS GLEN, N. Y. (AP) — Mathematics teacher Russell Chaffee doesn't have to practice swimming for 36 days.

Russell, who swims a mile a day for practice, Tuesday completed a swim that breached Seneca Lake from Geneva State Park to nearby Salt Point — 36 miles.

Authorities believe the 37-year-old high school teacher is the first person to swim Seneca lake from north to south.

3 STUDENTS FOLLOW

Three of his students in a canoe paddled by his side for the entire journey.

"I'm in pretty good shape except that I'm cold," said Sayre, Pa., resident when he walked ashore one mile off his course.

His wife, Phyllis, reached in Sayre Tuesday, said Chaffee took up swimming as a child to strengthen an injured back.

Chaffee, an accomplished long-distance swimmer, swam several other Finger Lakes and the aquenay River in Quebec, Canada.

PA. DEMOCRATS SEE UPSTATE VOTES FOR LBJ

By JACK LYNCH
Associated Press Writer
ATLANTIC CITY (AP)—Pennsylvania's top Democratic leaders are, as former Gov. David L. Lawrence put it today, "very bullish" about President Johnson's chances of capturing the Keystone State in the November election.

Lawrence said Johnson will do even better than the late President Kennedy, who won in 1960 by slightly under 100,000 votes, because "he will get votes upstate that Kennedy didn't get."

Francis R. Smith, chairman of the Philadelphia Democratic organization that pushed Pennsylvania into the Kennedy column was equally optimistic.

EXPECTS TO FIGHT

He refused an outright prediction on figures, but said with a wink: "We'll be in there fighting."

Smith added: "As of now the registration drive is the clearest barometer of what will happen in November. We already have 68,000 new Democratic registrations to 21,000 for the Republicans. There is no question that come Sept. 14 (when the voter books close), the Democratic party will have enrolled 100,000 more new voters and they (Republicans) will have no more than 30,000 new ones."

Philadelphia Democrats had a 630,000 to 270,000 lead over Republicans for last April's primary election.

PITTSBURGH GAINS

Mayor Joseph Barr of Pittsburgh said Democrats will record large registration gains in his area as well.

"In addition," Barr said, "We're getting enormous support from business and corporation people which we never had before in a presidential year."

Otis B. Morse, state Democratic chairman, said the party will increase the slim 20,000 vote margin it had in statewide registration last April.

Lawrence seemed to enjoy in discussing the subject of state politics after four pressure-filled days as chairman of the Credentials Committee at the nominating convention.

He scoffed at any suggestion that the so-called white backlash would throw many votes to Sen. Barry Goldwater, the Republican presidential candidate.

BACKLASH OVERSTATED

"This has been overstated," he said. "The people will not pass on the election of a president in a serious period like this on a question like that. The election will be decided on the Kennedy-Johnson record."

Lawrence said he doesn't see any obstacles for Johnson to overcome in Pennsylvania.

"If I did, I wouldn't point them out anyhow."

Smith agreed with Lawrence on the "backlash" question, in claiming Johnson will do as well in Philadelphia's all-white areas as he will in Negro wards.

VICTORY ON RECORDS

"People will vote thinking, not emotionally," he said. "Backlash is probably the least important issue."

Barr called the "backlash" question "a cliché, that will have little or no effect."

Morse also said he foresees no major hurdles for Johnson.

"My county leaders are almost extravagant at the moment. Most of them feel Johnson is ahead of Kennedy at the same stage and that he will get much stronger."

Morse said he feels "many voters are frightened of Goldwater," but said the campaign would be won more on Democratic achievements than on personalities.

People In The News

INDEPENDENCE, Mo. (AP) — "I am having to budget my time very carefully in what time may yet be available to me to do the many things that still remain to be done."

Thus did Harry S. Truman explain why he isn't attending the Democratic National Convention this year.

Asked at a news conference how he felt, the 80-year-old former president replied, "Oh, very well. I'm just getting old. That's all."

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — Joan Kennedy says she has mixed emotions about her membership in the Massachusetts delegation to the Democratic National Convention.

"I am very honored to be part of the delegation," she said upon her arrival at Atlantic City Tuesday, "but I wish my husband, Ted, were with me."

Mrs. Kennedy's husband, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, is hospitalized with a broken back, suffered in a plane crash last June.

MYRTLE BEACH, S.C. (AP) — President Johnson's brother, Sam Houston Johnson, is in a hospital at this resort, suffering from pneumonia and a kidney infection.

Dr. R. L. Jackson said Tuesday that Johnson, an Austin, Tex., attorney, is responding well to treatment and will be discharged in a few days.

Johnson was vacationing when he became ill about 10 days ago.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Kathryn O'Hay Granahan, treasurer of the United States, underwent surgery Tuesday to make certain that bones in an injured elbow knit properly.

Mrs. Granahan fractured the elbow and a knee when she fell in a radio studio last week.

A Treasury official said she probably will be in the hospital six to eight weeks.

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Singer Anna Maria Alberghetti says she and director Claudio Guzman will be married Sept. 12 at Los Angeles.

Actor James Garner is confined to his room at a Honolulu hotel with a virus.

Allen Funt, host of the CBS television show, "Candid Camera," was divorced in Reno, Nev., by his wife of 18 years, Evelyn. The property settlement and agreement on custody of their three children was sealed by the court.

Actress Jayne Mansfield filed suit in Santa Monica, Calif., to have a 1963 Mexican divorce from Mickey Hargitay declared valid. The couple reconciled after Jayne obtained the divorce, but friends say they have separated again.

HEARING ON RIGHTS ACT SET OCT. 5

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court agreed Wednesday to hear on Oct. 5 an appeal questioning constitutionality of the public accommodations sections of the new Civil Rights Act.

The court's action was announced by its clerk, John F. Davis. The tribunal is now in summer adjournment.

Davis said the argument will concern only the Heart of Atlanta Motel Corp. The Pickrick Restaurant, also of Atlanta, Ga., was involved in preliminary steps in the case but will not be concerned directly in the Oct. 5 argument.

PRINCIPLES IN DECISION

The motel and restaurant were principals in the decision by a special three-judge federal tribunal in Atlanta. The special court upheld validity of the public accommodations section. The case was the first in which a ruling was given under the new Civil Rights Act.

Oct. 5 is the first day of the Supreme Court's new fall term, and ordinarily the tribunal does not hear arguments or transact other than routine business on that day.

The average American makes 426 telephone calls a year.

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP) — Chile has requested Britain's Queen Elizabeth II to arbitrate a frontier dispute with Argentina involving a frontier area covering 96,000 acres of good land. Each country gives a different interpretation to the general treaty of arbitration of May 28, 1902, in which the British crown also was involved.

BERRYVILLE, Va. (AP) — Mrs. Anne Douglas Beverly Byrd, 77, wife of Sen. Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., died Tuesday. Mrs. Byrd had been ill for many years with a heart ailment. She was an active behind-the-scenes supporter of her politician husband but had remained totally out of the public eye.

POPE CAUTIONS WORLD TO HEED PEACE EFFORT

CASTEL GANDOLFO, Italy (AP) — Pope Paul VI warned Wednesday that "some of those basic principles on which peace must be founded" are crumbling. In an impassioned appeal against an arms race, the Pontiff begged men to remember what caused two devastating world wars, and deplored what he called a return to the "illusory concept that peace can only be based on the terrifying power of extremely homicidal weapons."

Pope Paul said the world is seeing a rebirth of perilous concepts, that the "concept of the sacred and inviolable character of human life" has been obscured.

"Men of good will, listen to our humble words," the Pontiff implored.

WEEKLY AUDIENCE

The Pope spoke to his weekly general audience at his summer residence south of Rome.

Pope Paul decried "subversive propaganda and revolutionary disorders," and said that even pacifist statements are misused to promote social and political contrasts. This may have been a reference to pro-Communist "peace movements."

Pope Paul said his thoughts were stirred by the current anniversary commemorations of the start of World Wars I and II. He expressed concern at the "acute disagreements, already stained with blood and pregnant with menacing omens existing today between various countries."

Fulton Farmers Fight Fruit Growers, Arrest RainMaker

McCONNELLSBURG, Pa. (AP) — A new dispute is brewing in Fulton County over attempts to control the weather artificially.

David Fulk, 25, of Martinsburg, W. Va., employed by a firm engaged in the weather effort, was arrested last weekend in Ayer Twp. and charged with violating a new law which prohibits the installation of devices to control or modify the weather.

He was fined $100 and $9 in costs Monday by Justice of the Peace Lewis Strait in Knobsville.

WILL APPEAL FINE

Fulk's attorney, Robert L. Frantz, of Pittsburgh, said he would appeal the fine to the county court. Frantz posted $200 bond for the defendant.

Fulk is a truck driver for W. E. Howell Associates, Inc., of Emmitsburg, Md. Bedford, Mass. He was tending a ground generator at the time of his arrest Saturday.

The Howell firm was engaged by the Blue Ridge Weather modification Association to engage in cloud-seeding to prevent or to minimize damage to fruit crops by hail storms.

The association is composed of commercial apple and peach orchardists of a four-state fruit growing area in Pennsylvania, Maryland, Virginia, and West Virginia.

The Howell firm uses silver iodide crystals to seed thunderclouds and prevent the formation of hailstones which would damage the fruit trees. The seeding is carried out with the use of planes and ground generators.

COOL WEATHER SLOWS CROPS

HARRISBURG (AP) — The Federal-State Crop Reporting service says cool weather continued to retard crop development on Pennsylvania farms last week.

Low temperatures slowed the ripening of peaches and tomatoes and the growth of corn, the service said in its weekly survey issued Tuesday.

Showers brought little relief to extremely dry eastern counties where corn was making poor progress and hay fields and pastures were short. In the driest of these areas "some fields of late corn are beyond help," the service said.

Potato growers in eastern counties were irrigating their crops to maintain growth and sizing.

At the same time, growers in Erie County—where there has been an abundance of rain—reported over sizing a problem in some early varieties. They anticipate a yield of 300 to 400 bushels an acre.

Rainfall during the week was heaviest in the western half of the state with Franklin in Venango County recording 3.72 inches.

MOSCOW (AP) — A flying instructor recently crashed with a student pilot aboard while stunt-flying over his fiancée's house near Minsk, the newspaper Sovetsky Patriot said today.

The report said both the instructor and his student were killed.

Handy Guide Presented On Convention Terminology

By JIM BECKER

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — The layman is often confused by the terms used at a political convention.

Actually, they all are quite simple when you understand them. Here are some of the terms heard frequently this week around the Democratic convention and their simple explanations:

Delegation — This is a group of 132 people who come to the convention to cast 12 votes. Included are all persons in the state who contributed more than $1,000 to the party in the last year, and all persons in the state who know what happened to the contributions. There are also three men who are able to breathe in smoke-filled rooms.

DELEGATE

Delegate — A member of a delegation. Each delegate casts about 1-15th of a vote — less in some states — whenever he is asked, which is seldom.

Caucus — A meeting of a delegation called to cast votes and decide important questions. All members of the delegations attend except the officers, who are busy at a meeting of party leaders casting votes and deciding important questions.

Informal caucus — Same thing, only drinks are served.

STARTING TIME

Starting time — A mythical figure selected at random from a spilled type case at the print shop. It is listed in the official program, but bears no relation to the time the program actually starts.

Prime time — The hours on the television schedule between the kiddie cartoons and the late show, during which the commercials are played more often and cost more.

FAVORITE SONS

Favorite son candidate — A fellow, usually a senator or a governor, who is boosted for of-

How long does it take Beatles John and Paul to write their songs?

"It depends. Sometimes an hour, sometimes as long as two days. 'A Hard Day's Night' was written overnight because the producer said he wanted a title tune in a hurry."

DON'T KNOW HER
Do they ever worry about their safety?

"No, because the fans have never gotten to us. We won't be concerned until they trample us to the floor. The only time we really worry is when protection is inadequate, as in New Zealand, where there were three policemen to handle a crowd of 8,000."

What about reports they were crazy about Ann-Margret?

"None of us know her. None of us, including Ringo, has even talked to her on the telephone. It must have been the work of her press agent."

Is Beatle John writing another book?

"Yes."

What is the nicest place they've ever played?

"Liverpool."

The conference ended with the announcement of presentations on the platform: "George will accept the gold records, John and Paul will take the trophies from the fan clubs, and Ringo will receive the key to California."

On the way out my assistant noticed an ecstatic young girl clutching a glass of soft drink to her bosom. "It was Paul's," she murmured.

PRESS MEETS BEATLES IN HOLLYWOOD

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The news conference was scheduled for 7:15 p.m., and at precisely 7:15 the Beatles walked through the door.

A couple hundred newsmen crowded onto the floor of the Cinnamon Cider, a San Fernando Valley night club for teen-agers, while a hundred or more young girls stood atop platforms and booths on the periphery. One of these was a close relative, blonde and 16, posing as my assistant.

The Beatles, smoking cigarettes and looking world-weary, disappeared in a mass of photographers.

SONG AN HOUR
"George has the prettiest hair," observed my assistant.

After minutes of shooting, the photographers were admonished to sit down so the news conference could start. It was more minutes before this was accomplished. Then the questions began.

REPORT SOME INCREASES IN MEAT PRICES

By KENNETH HOPPING

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — Scattered reports of increases in consumer meat prices dotted the picture Wednesday in the National Farmers Organization livestock market boycott.

The NFO drive to withhold animals from market in an effort to get higher prices from processors was in its seventh full day.

Wholesale and retail outlets in cities of the Midwest and the East say they are feeling the effect and have raised prices.

CHOICE CUTS
Choice cuts of beef were raised four or five cents a pound in parts of Ohio and at Louisville, Ky.

A meat packer at Baltimore predicted that housewives will be paying 12 to 15 cents more a pound for meat this weekend or early next week.

Stores at Boston and Portland, Maine, said they expect a boost in prices later in the week.

NFO headquarters at Corning, Iowa, claimed that increasing retail prices is unwarranted and that some dealers "are taking advantage of the situation."

Supplies of hogs going through the Chicago Terminal Market bounded upward Tuesday and forced a drop of 50 cents per hundredweight from Monday's high of $20 a hundred.

Chicago listed receipts of 10,000 hogs, highest since Jan. 6. Receipts also were up at other major markets.

On the retail side, one store at Columbus, Ohio, jumped the cost of a pound of bacon from 39 to 70 cents a pound. But at Chicago, the Jewel, National and Kroger chains said they had not raised meat prices.

guests Sunday at the home of Mrs. Reifsnider's mother, Mrs. George Ashbaugh. The occasion was the birthday of Wayne Reifsnider.

All you have to do is harvest half-pound ears from 21,000 plants per acre. That's the formula for 150-bushel yields. So why don't you do it? Probably for the same reason you can't match all those top yield claims you hear about. Top efficient yield on your farm might be 120 bushels, or less.

Instead of trying to break records that P-A-G can shout about, we'd rather you'd try for top profits. That's why we talk about Selective Planting. This is simply selecting seed for a planned harvest, for resistance to disease and insect damage, for standability, for drying characteristics, and for easy harvest using your harvest methods.

P-A-G offers 37 Four-Way Crosses and 12 Special Crosses. All have special characteristics spelled out so you can select varieties with the right combination of factors to make you the most profit. We have single crosses we recommend for populations up to 24,000 (some of our customers plant them at 30,000) and we recommend you load on the fertilizer because they'll take it and give you those extra high yields. And then we have some Four-Way Crosses that do best at around 12,000 population. So take your pick... high, low, or anything in-between. The important thing is, plant for profit... not for prizes.

Your P-A-G dealer can tell you which varieties will match your need... your conditions... your end-use requirements. Call him today!

PA. DEMOCRATS SEE UPSTATE VOTES FOR LBJ

By JACK LYNCH
Associated Press Writer
ATLANTIC CITY (AP)—Pennsylvania's top Democratic leaders are, as former Gov. David L. Lawrence put it today, "very bullish" about President Johnson's chances of capturing the Keystone State in the November election.

Lawrence said Johnson will do even better than the late President Kennedy, who won in 1960 by slightly under 100,000 votes, because "he will get votes upstate that Kennedy didn't get."

Francis R. Smith, chairman of the Philadelphia Democratic organization that pushed Pennsylvania into the Kennedy column was equally optimistic.

EXPECTS TO FIGHT

Smith added:

"As of now the registration drive is the clearest barometer of what will happen in November. We already have 68,000 new Democratic registrations to 21,000 for the Republicans. There is no question that come Sept. 14 (when the voter books close), the Democratic party will have enrolled 100,000 more new voters and they (Republicans) will have no more than 30,000 new ones."

Philadelphia Democrats had a 630,000 to 270,000 lead over Republicans for last April's primary election.

PITTSBURGH GAINS

Mayor Joseph Barr of Pittsburgh said Democrats will record large registration gains in his area as well.

"In addition," Barr said, "We're getting enormous support from business and corporation people which we never had before in a presidential year."

Otis B. Morse, state Democratic chairman, said the party will increase the slim 20,000 vote margin it had in statewide registration last April.

Lawrence seemed to enjoy in discussing the subject of state politics after four pressure-filled days as chairman of the Credentials Committee at the nominating convention.

He scoffed at any suggestion that the so-called white backlash would throw many votes to Sen. Barry Goldwater, the Republican presidential candidate.

BACKLASH OVERSTATED

"This has been overstated," he said. "The people will not pass on the election of a president in a serious period like this on a question like that. The election will be decided on the Kennedy-Johnson record."

Lawrence said he doesn't see any obstacles for Johnson to overcome in Pennsylvania.

"If I did, I wouldn't point them out anyhow."

Smith agreed with Lawrence on the "backlash" question, in claiming Johnson will do as well in Philadelphia's all-white areas as he will in Negro wards.

VICTORY ON RECORDS

"People will vote thinkingly, not emotionally," he said. "Backlash is probably the least important issue."

Barr called the "backlash" question "a cliché, that will have little or no effect."

Morse also said he foresees no major hurdles for Johnson.

"My county leaders are almost extravagant at the moment. Most of them feel Johnson is ahead of Kennedy at the same stage and that he will get much stronger."

Morse said he feels "many voters are frightened of Goldwater," but said the campaign would be won more on Democratic achievements than on personalities.

People In The News

INDEPENDENCE, Mo. (AP) — "I am having to budget my time very carefully in what time may yet be available to me to do the many things that still remain to be done."

Thus did Harry S. Truman explain why he isn't attending the Democratic National Convention this year.

Asked at a news conference how he felt, the 80-year-old former president replied, "Oh, very well. I'm just getting old. That's all."

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — Joan Kennedy says she has mixed emotions about her membership in the Massachusetts delegation to the Democratic National Convention.

"I am very honored to be part of the delegation," she said upon her arrival at Atlantic City Tuesday, "but I wish my husband, Ted, were with me."

Mrs. Kennedy's husband, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, is hospitalized with a broken back, suffered in a plane crash last June.

MYRTLE BEACH, S.C. (AP) — President Johnson's brother, Sam Houston Johnson, is in a hospital at this resort, suffering from pneumonia and a kidney infection.

Dr. R. L. Jackson said Tuesday that Johnson, an Austin, Tex., attorney, is responding well to treatment and will be discharged in a few days.

Johnson was vacationing when he became ill about 10 days ago.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Kathryn O'Hay Granahan, treasurer of the United States, underwent surgery Tuesday to make certain that bones in an injured elbow knit properly.

Mrs. Granahan fractured the elbow and a knee when she fell in a radio studio last week.

A Treasury official said she probably will be in the hospital six to eight weeks.

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Singer Anna Maria Alberghetti says she and director Claudio Guzman will be married Sept. 12 at Los Angeles.

Actor James Garner is confined to his room at a Honolulu hotel with a virus.

Allen Funt, host of the CBS television show, "Candid Camera," was divorced in Reno, Nev., by his wife of 18 years, Evelyn. The property settlement and agreement on custody of their three children was sealed by the court.

Actress Jayne Mansfield filed suit in Santa Monica, Calif., to have a 1963 Mexican divorce from Mickey Hargitay declared valid. The couple reconciled after Jayne obtained the divorce, but friends say they have separated again.

HEARING ON RIGHTS ACT SET OCT. 5

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court agreed Wednesday to hear on Oct. 5 an appeal questioning constitutionality of the public accommodations sections of the new Civil Rights Act.

The court's action was announced by its clerk, John F. Davis. The tribunal is now in summer adjournment.

Davis said the argument will concern only the Heart of Atlanta Motel Corp. The Pickrick Restaurant, also of Atlanta, Ga., was involved in preliminary steps in the case but will not be concerned directly in the Oct. 5 argument.

PRINCIPLES IN DECISION

The motel and restaurant were principals in the decision by a special three-judge federal tribunal in Atlanta. The special court upheld validity of the public accommodations section. The case was the first in which a ruling was given under the New Civil Rights Act.

Oct. 5 is the first day of the Supreme Court's new fall term, and ordinarily the tribunal does not hear arguments or transact other than routine business on that day.

The average American makes 426 telephone calls a year.

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP) — Chile has requested Britain's Queen Elizabeth II to arbitrate a frontier dispute with Argentina involving a frontier area covering 96,000 acres of good land. Each country gives a different interpretation to the general treaty of arbitration of May 28, 1902, in which the British crown also was involved.

BERRYVILLE, Va. (AP) — Mrs. Anne Douglas Beverly Byrd, 77, wife of Sen. Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., died Tuesday. Mrs. Byrd had been ill for many years with a heart ailment. She was an active behind-the-scenes supporter of her politician husband but had remained totally out of the public eye.
